50 YEARS ON

By Tara Nash

Veterans will be honoured in a Macclesfield service next weekend to commemorate the 50th anniversary of Australia's involvement in the end of the Vietnam War.

Macclesfield RSL Sub-Branch will host the service at the Macclesfield ANZAC Memorial Garden next Saturday and acknowledge the service, and sacrifice of those who served.

Australia was involved in the Vietnam War from 1962 to 1973, and had 60,000 people serve, 523 pay the ultimate sacrifice and about 3,000 wounded.

The conflict was between the communist government of North Vietnam and its allies in South Vietnam against the South Vietnam Government and its principal ally, the United States, and Australia's support was to help stop the spread of communism in Europe and Asia.

Christmas is just around the corner

By Tara Nash

Mark this one in the calendar: in just four months' time – or 127 days – local residents will come together and line Strathalbyn streets for the town's much-loved Christmas event.

Organisers behind Christmas Where the Angas Flows are now asking for expressions of interest in being involved in the popular community event's pageant or market.

Thousands of people will celebrate the start of school holidays and turn out for the much-loved community event on December 15, with a pageant through the town, family-friendly activities, a market and concert.

Pageant and market organiser, Norma Keily recommended any businesses, schools, organisations and individuals sign up for the pageant to be part of the community festive spirit.

Strathalbyn Tourism Association is organising the long-running community event this year, and excitement is building among volunteers of its sub-group, Gilbert's Motor Museum, to escort Santa himself down the streets of Strathalbyn.

Mrs Keily recommended entries that are "innovative, inclusive and colourful" for a chance of winning the $200 prize, and many will remember the giant and colourful serpent by 1st Strathalbyn Scout Group members which won last year.

The market will be bigger this year and among all the action on Albyn Terrace, and sellers of Christmas gifts are encouraged to apply.

Strathalbyn businesses will be approached in the lead up to the event for donations.

For further information on how to apply, visit (strathalbyntourismassoc.org.au) or (www.facebook.com/StrathalbynTourism).

Cabaret at the Chapel opens Friday

Cabaret at the Chapel is returning for a third year, with music, poetry and dance by a variety of performers from tomorrow night.

Robbie Andrew will MC the Strathalbyn Players' event at Chapel Theatre, on 14 Commercial Road, on August 11 and 12, with doors opening at 7pm.

Mr Andrew is a seasoned performer who loves writing "deep and inspiring songs" such as I'm a Giraffe, I Can't Sleep Without my Fan, and Koala You're Very Cute but You Have Got Chlamydia.

Other performers across the two nights are Mary Laselt, Elly & Caity Music and Amber Grove, Akeyla Prusa, Zebulon (Morgan Taubert), Andrew McNicol and poets, Olenka Toroshenko (Friday Night) and Avalanche (Ivan Rehorek - Saturday Night).

Bleasdale Vineyards named Australia's best

Langhorne Creek's Bleasdale Vineyards has earned Australia's most prestigious title of Halliday Wine Companion's 2024 Winery of the Year, bringing the accolade back into South Australian hands for the first time in three years.

The annual Halliday Wine Companion Awards was founded by James Halliday and eight other judges select the best from the nation's top wines, winemakers, viticulturalists and wineries.

More than 1,200 wineries submitted samples for this year's competition, with winners announced at an awards night at Melbourne's Stokehouse in St Kilda last Wednesday.

Taking out the night's top honour was Bleasdale Vineyards with 2024 Winery of the Year, with the judges calling it a "quality juggernaut" whose bread and butter is special value wines.

"There's an argument to say the Bleasdale winery, both historically and most certainly at the hand of winemaker Paul Hotker, should be regarded as every Australian wine lover's best friend," the judges wrote.

"It's probably best known as a value producer thanks to the fact – as James Halliday so aptly puts it –there's 'value across the board', but it's become abundantly apparent in recent years that Bleasdale is a whole lot more than that.

"Bleasdale is our Winery of the Year because at our annual (blind) judging, it won two major awards, (and) quite remarkably, has 22 wines ranked at 90 or higher in this guide, including no less than 16 at 95 points or higher.

"(Bleasdale's head winemaker, Paul Hotker) and his team are relentless in their determination to work magic, and we will never tire of celebrating it."

Mr Hotker said the win was a testament to the dedication the team pours into grape growing and wine making each year.

"Winning Winery of the Year feels like we've made it," he said.

"We make the best wine we can every year by embracing and adapting to each vintage, rather than trying to stick to a rigid style.

"I believe this accolade recognises the consistency of wine quality we've been producing at Bleasdale for a number of years.

"We're already well-known for our great value wines, but this shows we can compete amongst the best of the best."

In addition to Winery of the Year, Bleasdale Vineyards took out a back-to-back win – the first for any winery – in the Cabernet Sauvignon of the Year category with its 2021 The Iron Duke and had another win on the board with its 2021 Wellington Road in Best Shiraz Cabernet Blend of the Year.

For Bleasdale Vineyards Brand Ambassador, Robbie Potts, the wins are particularly significant.

After working at the winery for more than four decades, he thanked the team for their contribution to the awards.

"I've always known the quality of wine coming out of Bleasdale and Langhorne Creek generally is a cut above the rest, but this award makes it official," Mr Potts said.

"We've been working for generations out here to make this wine some of the best in the world, and I can't thank our team enough for elevating us to this point.

"Everyone from Sarah Keough, our viticulturalist through to Paul and Mat our winemakers, and the rest of the team here at Bleasdale who ensure our wine gets into the hands of the right people. They all deserve recognition for this honour – it's been a huge team effort.

"I hope it now paves the way for this region to finally be recognised in the same way the Barossa and McLaren Vale are – as a global leader in wine quality."

Bleasdale Vineyards and its wine will feature in the annual Halliday Wine Companion Guide.

Supermarket delayed again

Strathalbyn's IGA appears to be delayed again, as a small temporary building was removed last week. Photo: Tara Nash Strathalbyn's second supermarket appears to be delayed again from a previous earmarked mid-year opening.

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, the IGA was set to open on the corner of Dawson Street and Albyn Terrace in early 2022, but has faced several delays, including tradespeople contracting COVID or being close-contacts, and a cost-blow out when uncovering problems of asbestos and structural issues.

Local residents have shown recent interest in its progress, as works appear to have halted and a truck removed a small building structure from the carpark last week.

Sajal Gupta, of Strathalbyn Supermarket Properties Pty Ltd, failed to provide a comment by deadline.

Macclesfield service to commemorate 50-year anniversary

Macclesfield veteran, Rob McNamara, and Vice-President of the Macclesfield RSL Sub-Branch, served in the Army in Vietnam for more than one year – and the tale of how he got there was nothing but chance.

While in the National Service, he was approached by a Corporal with a clipboard.

“He said ‘righto, listen in – the following people are to go to Canungra on Monday morning’, and once you went to Canungra, it was virtually the first step to Vietnam,” Mr McNamara explained.

“He read out the names in alphabetical order.”

He will never forget the affect names can have on your life, as the list was read and the final two names began with ‘J’ and ‘K’, finishing just short of his name ‘M’.

However, those final two had a car accident just before they were scheduled to leave, which meant the next two on the list were chosen to take their spots – which included Mr McNamara.

“That changed my whole life,” he said.

“It just goes to show you how little things that you never think about can change your life.”

The day after he arrived in Vietnam was his mother’s birthday, and months later, he turned 21.

“The whole thing was particularly hard on her for the simple reason that dad was in the Middle East for two-and-a-half years,” Mr McNamara said.

“Mum waited for him to come home from there... then he went to New Guinea for 10 months.

“I went to Vietnam for 12 months – that was tough on mum because she didn’t deserve all that – that’s just the way it was.”

Letter correspondence was important for overseas veterans, with Macclesfield RSL Sub-Branch President, Dennis Oldenhove, describing receiving a letter as an “absolute treat” for veterans and their families.

Mr McNamara would write letters to his wife and mum, and the Postmaster at the time would often contact his mum and alert her to a letter waiting.

“With letter writing, it was a bit of the same old, same old, because you didn’t really want to tell them what you were doing,” he said.

“You mightn’t have been doing anything particularly dangerous, but perhaps they could read into things.

“When you’re overseas, you might be in a tight spot, but in two hours it could all be over, so you’ve only got to worry about those two hours.

“But the people at home – they worry about you all the time because they don’t know whether you’re safe or not.”

Mr Oldenhove found living through war time as 95 per cent with boredom and five per cent in fear.

“It’s so intense for short periods of time that you are fearing for your life... then once that situation is over with, it’s relatively mundane,” he said.

“But then you never know when that five per cent of crapping your pants is going to come – that’s always hanging over your head – but that’s the nature of conflict.”

The loved ones left behind at home are also acknowledged as those who have served by the Macclesfield RSL Sub-Branch.

“The wives, the mothers, the kids, the parents, the daughters, the girlfriends – everybody who is left behind – is serving as well,” Mr Oldenhove said.

“They sacrifice and they give up time with their loved ones, and the stressors they go through during someone’s military service is significant.”

Some people left behind in Australia opposed the Vietnam War and conscriptions, and protests occurred throughout the country.

“Apart from World War II), it was the first time that some people – through no choice of their own – were made to go to war, whereas every conflict previously had all been volunteers,” Mr Oldenhove said.

“We were now compelling young men... if their name was pulled out, they were forced to serve and go to war.

“There was resentment towards that, and that’s particularly from families who had their sons conscripted and were told they were going to a conflict.”

Mr Oldenhove said many Australians also disagreed with being involved the war, as previously there was a threat to Australia, whereas Vietnam posed a perceived threat of what could happen.

Further to that, Vietnam was the first televised war.

“A lot of the protest and ill feelings toward the conflict came about because it was presented to people in their lounge rooms, whereas previous conflicts would be censored articles that came in newspapers two to three months after events had already occurred,” Mr Oldenhove said.

“There was a lot of different feelings towards the conflict and that was reflective of the times.”

However, Mr McNamara found being from a country town of Macclesfield was a different experience to Australian cities.

“We were very well-received by the local community when we came home, but the big cities copped a lot of flak,” he said.

“I think the country towns were more tolerant because in small country towns, people actually knew the people who had gone, whereas in the city, you were just another face.”

Australian troops returned home 50 years ago in 1973, and the local upcoming service falls the day after the annual Vietnam Veteran’s Day, which coincides with the Battle of Long Tan – “one of the costliest battles during that conflict”.

As part of the service, a new memorial in the Macclesfield ANZAC Memorial Garden will be unveiled, dedicated to those who were part of National Service who will be acknowledged.

Australia had two National Service schemes – during the Vietnam War and during the 1950s – which is when Macclesfield RSL Sub-Branch Vice-President, Neil Wright served.

“With the establishment of a full-time force following World War II, they needed more troops and it was a way to boost the service scheme then,” Mr Oldenhove said.

“Many thousands of Australians enlisted there, and they served in Strathalbyn, Woodside and local areas around here.

“Those who did National Service may or may not have been deployed, but were called upon as part of the conscription system to serve their country.

“We make sure it’s a very holistic look at commemoration, we’ve got to make sure that it all gets looked at.”

Mr Wright joined the National Service in the 1950s for four years.

He filled up the Army Reserves during the Korean War, served three months full-time in Woodside, went on to join Strathalbyn Citizen Military Forces (CMF), and attended a fortnightly camp in Port Augusta.

Mr Wright made the rank of Corporal for two-and-a-half years, and his dad was among the founding members of the Macclesfield RSL Sub-Branch.

Mr Wright will be among veterans and families acknowledged and reflected upon at next Saturday’s service.

All Veterans’ groups, RSLs, and community members are invited to the upcoming service and to spend time in the Macclesfield ANZAC Memorial Garden, where catering will be available.

Deadline dilemma for Murray-Darling Basin Plan

A local MP is 'frustrated, but not surprised' by the news the full implementation of the Murray-Darling Basin Plan is now unachievable by its due date.

Advice from the Murray-Darling Basin Authority has revealed the $13 million plan is estimated to return 750 gigalitres (GL) less than the overall 3,200 water target to the environment by the June 30, 2024 deadline.

Member for Mayo, Rebekha Sharkie raised concerns during Question Time last month about the delivery of water under the plan – which was acknowledged by Federal Water Minister, Tanya Plibersek – given the importance of environmental water return for the Murray Darling system's health, and the threat of El Nino.

She said failure of the plan was less than ideal and should never have been allowed to occur.

"This is a setback for South Australia, as the Murray-Darling Basin Plan will not deliver the return of environmental water within the statutory timeframe," Ms Sharkie said.

"With only two per cent of the 450GL delivered by May last year, I recognise the government was starting from a low base and a short timeframe to deliver.

"Our community has every right to feel disappointed that such an important plan to recover water will not be delivered within the Murray-Darling Basin Plan deadlines."

Member for Hammond, Adrian Pederick believed more focus should be put on the Murray-Darling Basin Plan.

"The River Murray is the lifeblood of much of my electorate, and the fact that Tanya Plibersek and Susan Close have only now realised the plan will not be delivered shows how removed they are from the realities of life in the Basin," he said.

Murray-Darling Basin Authority Chair, Angus Houston in discussions with Federal Water Minister, Tanya Plibersek about the plan in July.

"Susan Close needs to work with her federal counterpart on mapping a pathway forward for the Murray-Darling Basin Plan, so Basin communities can get the certainty they deserve."

However, Ms Sharkie noted Ms Plibersek was committed to working with basin ministers to obtain agreement to extend deadlines and deliver the plan in full.

"We cannot be complacent about returning water to the system, so I'm grateful the minister has sought to extend the deadline and not walk away," she added.

"It is incumbent on us to be prepared for the next drought, and this is why it is so important we return water pursuant to the Basin Plan.

"I urge all state ministers to work collaboratively with Minister Plibersek, extend the deadline, and secure the return of water to the river system once and for all."

Community views sought on water policies

Community input is being sought on Hills Fleurieu Landscape Board (HFLB) water policies to set the direction for an amendment process next year.

The Eastern and Western Mount Lofty Ranges Water Allocation Plans (WAPs) have been in place for a decade, and their effectiveness is now being reviewed.

This year, the HFLB will be sharing information about how its water resources are tracking and some of the key challenges ahead, and want to hear the perspective of water users, licence holders, community members, and industry representatives to understand their experiences and views on the current water policies, particularly what has worked well and where future efforts should be focused.

These conversations will set the direction for the amendment process HFLB will start next year.

During the process, new policies will be tested and explored, which local communities and industries will play a key role in.

Anyone interested in being involved in the evaluations this year is encouraged to attend one of the six drop-in sessions the board is holding around the region between August 21 and September 8.

Better for life®

SA road toll exceeds 2022 total

South Australia’s road toll has officially surpassed last year’s total, prompting renewed pleas from police to take care while driving.

Seventy-four lives have been lost on South Australian roads so far this year – more than the total for 2022 – and 504 serious injuries occurred.

More than half of the deaths this year have been on country roads, with 13 of the fatalities being motorcyclists, five vehicle passengers, 11 pedestrians, and five cyclists.

“Unfortunately, many lives lost and serious injuries on our roads can be avoided,” Officer in Charge of the Traffic Services Branch, Superintendent Darren Fielke, said.

“Distraction of drivers has led to 18 lives lost, with 20 as a result of dangerous driving, 23 due to speed, and another 20 where alcohol or drug driving was a factor.

“In some instances, there was more than one contributing factor.”

To coincide with safety pleas, Operation Stop Drink/Drug Driving was launched state-wide last Friday, with police undertaking mobile and static driver screening tests.

As of July 31, 2364 drivers have been detected drink driving and 2,753 drug driving this year.

“South Australia Police is committed to road safety, and conduct a range of operations throughout the year to target behaviour associated with the ‘Fatal Five,’” Superintendent Fielke said.

“In the last five years, drink/drug driving has been a contributing factor in 26 per cent of (fatal) and 20 per cent of serious injury collisions.

“Every driver detected and removed from the road has the potential to save lives.”

Two-car collision at Goolwa

By Giorgina McKay

Four people, including two young children, were taken to hospital with minor injuries after two cars collided at Goolwa last Friday.

At about 8.40am on August 4 Country Fire Service and State Emergency Service crews, SA Police, and SA Ambulance Service were called to the intersection of Loveday Street and Crocker Street after a Toyota station wagon and Mazda sedan collided.

The Toyota driver was a 42-year-old Hindmarsh woman who had a 10-year-old female passenger, while a 32-year-old Hindmarsh Island woman who had a six-year-old female passenger was behind the wheel of the Mazda.

All four were taken to hospital for treatment of minor injuries.

The Mazda driver was issued an expiation notice for failing to give way.

Both vehicles were extensively damaged and towed from the scene.

An example of a silver Kawasaki ZZR, similar to the one stolen from a Murray Bridge property last week.

Stolen motorbike at Murray Bridge

Police are investigating the theft of a motorcycle from a Murray Bridge property last week.

Sometime between midday on August 2 and 5pm on August 3, a silver Kawasaki ZZR with the South Australian registration S36AJG was taken from the front verandah of a Hannaford Street house.

Structure fire at Willyaroo

It was a close call for some Willyaroo residents who had a fire break out at their home late Sunday night/early Monday morning.

Just before midnight, Strathalbyn Country Fire Service crews responded to a structure fire at a Lines Road home, where they found a significantly damaged meter box on arrival.

The occupants had extinguished the fire using a small dry powder extinguisher before crews arrived, but a Thermal Imaging Camera (TIC) still showed hot spots behind the cladding.

A bit of ‘renovation’ revealed a charred timber frame.

A meter box at a Willyaroo home was significantly damaged by a structure fire that broke out late Sunday night/early Monday morning.

Murray Bridge thefts prompt car security reminder

Murraylands residents are being reminded to lock their cars, remove any valuables, and be mindful of vehicle security when at home after recent thefts at Murray Bridge.

On Saturday, a Cawte Street home was entered through an unlocked door between 1am and 4am, and the victim’s car keys and the vehicle were stolen.

Police later recovered the car, and investigations are continuing.

Another Cawte Street resident also had their unlocked vehicle rummaged through while it was parked in their driveway, but nothing was stolen.

In a separate incident, tools were stolen from a work ute at Theatre Lane on Sunday.

Thieves have been known to break into houses to steal car keys then the vehicle.

Residents are advised to avoid leaving keys in easily accessible or visible spots, as well as the following:

- Lock cars and remove any valuables.
- Park in a well-lit area, preferably behind locked gates and carports.
- Store car keys and other easily transportable belongings such as phones and wallets out of sight at home.
- Immediately report any suspicious activity or interference with vehicles to the Police Assistance Line on 131 444.

Tragic death sparks tougher road laws

Landmark new road safety laws passed in State Parliament last month are paving the way for tough new penalties to tackle driving behaviour that results in death or serious harm.

The new laws under the Statutes Amendment (Serious Vehicle and Vessel Offences) Act 2023 establish a new mid-tier indictable offence of causing death or serious harm by careless use of a vehicle or vessel, effectively raising the maximum penalty for such conduct from 12 months imprisonment to five years for a basic offence and seven for aggravated.

Circumstances of aggravation include driving under the influence of alcohol or drugs, and will require courts to impose a minimum three-year licence disqualification.

The suite of reforms imposed following the tragic death of Sophia Naismith also includes a new licence class for people driving ultra-high-powered vehicles, and a fine of up to $5,000 for a person who disables automated safety systems in such cars.

A black 2006 Zongshen 200cc motorcycle was stolen from a Lohmann Street address sometime on July 31.

Bike stolen at Murray Bridge

Police are investigating the theft of a motorcycle from a Murray Bridge home last Monday.

Between 4am and 2pm on July 31, a chain was cut and a black 2006 Zongshen 200cc motorcycle stolen from a Lohmann Street address.

The bike would have been wheeled from the yard.

Anyone who witnessed the theft or has information on the bike’s is asked to contact Crime Stoppers on 1800 333 000.

Five local council solar lights were removed from their bollards at Murray Bridge last month.

Police are investigating the recent theft of solar lights from a Murray Bridge nature strip.

Sometime between July 27 and 28, five large council solar lights were removed from their bollards on a garden path on Adelaide Road.

New coercive campaign timed with FIFA Women’s World Cup

As the world’s best female soccer players take centre stage for the FIFA Women’s World Cup, a new communication campaign is educating fans on the insidious ways controlling and abusive behaviour by men can impact women off the field.

The $200,000 campaign targeting 15-to-24-year-olds features both male and female perspectives on ‘red flags’ to look for as signs of an abusive relationship, and is complemented by educational workshops for sports clubs in a bid to raise awareness about coercive control ahead of moves to criminalise the form of abuse in South Australia.

The ads build on the momentum of South Australia’s first ever coercive control campaign, which was launched in March this year, urging the community to ‘see the signs.’

“It is incredibly exciting to see the best athletes in the world take centre stage, and showcase their outstanding skills, strength and passion, as Adelaide hosts the FIFA Women’s World Cup,” Minister for Women, and the Prevention of Domestic and Family Violence, Katrine Hildyard, said.

“This important coercive control campaign will leverage huge public interest and attention on the FIFA Women’s World Cup to drive home an important message about how to recognise the signs of coercive control, and how to take action when you see them.

“In 99 per cent of domestic violence homicides, the relationship that preceded that horrific event featured a coercive control element.

“We are committed to doing all we can to help prevent and eradicate domestic violence, and our work to raise awareness about coercive control is a crucial part of that effort.”

Bands festival strikes a chord

By Tara Nash

Audience members were tapping their toes and jigging away through entertaining music during the first leg of the Strathalbyn Bands Festival on Sunday, which organisers said went "exceptionally well".

A rotating crowd of about 100 to 150 people attended the first day of Strathalbyn & District Concert Band's major annual fundraiser, which had 10 bands, including from Murray Bridge, Mount Barker, and Goolwa.

"There was quite an amazing mixture of different types of music," Strathalbyn & District Concert Band secretary, Daryll Telfer, said.

"There were some good individual solos within pieces and a really good variety in styles of music.

"The concert adaptations of popular music are a big part of it - people identify with that."

President, Michael Clements agreed the standard of music was "really high".

"We sat there at the end of the day and thought, they were all really good... it was a great day," he said.

"There was a lot more modern music played. "You could look out in the crowd and see people tapping their toes and jigging along too, which is always amazing."

Strathalbyn & District Concert Band rounded off the day with a set of movie soundtracks, including Moon River, Baby Elephant Walk, The Magnificent Seven, Moulin Rouge, and The Greatest Showman.

The Strathalbyn Bands Festival was relocated to a new venue for the first time in its 22-year history, the Strathalbyn Oval Function Centre.

"(The musicians) loved the place - the acoustics are absolutely fantastic," Mr Telfer said.

"Because it's a relatively newer building, the acoustics and feel of the place is really good.

"It worked well for the warm up area, audience, players, and for the catering side of things.

"We've appreciated the support we've had from both Alexandrina Council and footy club representatives."

"The first day is always the hard one, especially at a new venue, trying to sort out where everyone goes and how it's all going to work, and getting people on and off the stage," Mr Clements said.

"We're looking forward to this weekend... the plans are all in place, and we can just turn up and make it all happen again."

Strathalbyn Bands Festival returns to Strathalbyn Oval Function Centre this Sunday from 11am to 4.30pm, with another 10 bands, kicking off with EFS Concert Band.

Murray River water worries

We all saw this coming. Federal Water Minister, Tanya Plibersek finally came clean this week, admitting the Murray-Darling Basin Plan's environmental water recovery deadline of June 30, 2024 is impossible to meet. That's despite guarantees from Labor they could be trusted with the plan in the lead up to the State and Federal Elections. The big losers in all of this are our basin communities and our natural environment. For four years, I was South Australia's Minister for Water, so I know first-hand that delivering the Basin Plan is gruelling work. The Murray-Darling river system makes its way through Queensland, New South Wales, and Victoria before arriving in South Australia. It's a difficult journey, with many claims made against its precious water. Some players follow the rules and some do not.

Managing multi-jurisdictional rivers is fraught, especially when you're the only Liberal at the table. During my time as the state's water minister, I worked with Labor ministers in Queensland and Victoria, Nationals ministers federally and from New South Wales, and a Greens minister from the ACT. It was a constant battle, but I was able to keep everyone at the table, ensure the plan moved forward, and delivered vital water to South Australia.

I disagreed with Nationals on many occasions because South Australia always came first. I secured the first water towards the vital 450GL, and I was able to negotiate massive investment in the sustainability of the Coorong. I even got New South Wales and Victoria to begin planning work around undergrounding their infamous open channels. Since Labor came to power in South Australia, quickly followed by their federal counterparts, progress with the plan has ground to a halt. Just before the last state election, Peter Malinauskas vowed to launch action in the High Court "to defend our water rights against the inaction" of the eastern states. If there's ever a time for action on this crucial issue, it's now, but sadly it appears Labor has sold us down the river.

Government's overdue rethink on vaping

Last month marked a watershed moment for Australia's approach to vaping.

Emails from senior advisors to Federal Health Minister Mark Butler revealed that even his own expert advisory committee knows the proposed vaping crackdown simply won't work. Currently only 8 per cent of adult vapers have nicotine prescriptions. As a result, the black market has exploded, selling dodgy, unregulated products freely to adults and children. Mark Butler's policy will be a slow train wreck for exactly the same reasons as Greg Hunt's failed model, but worse. And disturbingly, experts advising him on these regulations know this too. But this begs the question. What would be a better policy in its place? Regulation. Not prohibition. If we created a legal adult consumer market for nicotine vaping products in Australia, that carried substantial penalties for underage sales, the black market would substantially diminish over time, and young people would have dramatically reduced access.

By regulating vape products rather than banning them, consumers would have access to safer products, with fewer harmful chemicals and basic consumer protections. This would enable more adult smokers to quit and keep nicotine vapes out of the hands of young people. This model is working well in other western countries such as New Zealand and the United Kingdom. This model is supported by 73 per cent of Australian adults according to a recent Roy Morgan survey and is a win-win for public health. Butler's policy simply cannot be allowed to be implemented. The unregulated market will only grow in power, continuing to sell dodgy, unlabelled and high-nicotine products to adults and children. Vaping is here to stay whether we like it or not. We must learn how to regulate it sensibly. As it stands, the only winners from Butler's plan will be tobacco companies and criminal gangs. The losers will be the Australian people. The question to our Federal Health Minister Mark Butler remains: who do you care about protecting?

Dr Colin Mendelsohn, New South Wales

Our View

Thursday, August 10, 2023 Summer holiday

While it may seem like everyone is escaping the Australian cold for a European summer, new data has revealed that's not entirely the case. Yes, overseas travel has increased considerably by about 55 per cent in the past 12 months, according to recent Australian Bureau of Statistics data. Some of the most popular destinations are Tokyo, Dubai, Auckland, Bali and Nadi, according to Finder. However, with the rising costs of groceries, bills and fuel, many are being more mindful with their spending. New NAB data has found while 85 per cent of Australians have holiday plans in the next 12 months, around two in three have either cancelled or postponed their travel recently. Four in 10 Australians have scaled back their plans, with some travelling domestically rather than overseas. It makes sense – Australian international air fares have blown out by more than 50 per cent compared to before the pandemic, while domestic travel has risen 10 per cent. Research has found overseas travel was out of reach for more than one in three Australians. Some reports have blamed customer demand and capacity for driving up prices, while others suggest the rise in fuel and airlines still recovering from the pandemic. It's a shame in one sense, after being cooped up at home for years during a global pandemic, many yearn for easy escape to other countries.

Travelling abroad offers so much – expanding world views and learning about other cultures, reducing stress, creating memories, and feel revitalised upon your return. But, in this post-pandemic world, those overseas trips are coming with much greater sacrifice. On the other hand, we have gotten so good at exploring our backyard during lockdowns. Luckily, living in the Fleurieu Peninsula and Adelaide Hills means so many beautiful spots are just a short drive away and there are many more within the country. After all, the New York Times included Kangaroo Island in its annual top 10 places to visit in the world this year.

Locals share morning tea for cancer research

By Tara Nash

More than $1,680 was raised for the Cancer Council at a Strathalbyn Biggest Morning Tea event last month – one of the highest amounts raised by the organisers yet and far exceeding the goal of $1,000.

Event organiser, Gwenda Knights was “really happy” with the day and about bringing about 70 people together for the event run by St Andrew’s Adult Fellowship and community members at St Andrew’s Hall on July 26.

“It’s the joy of seeing our community get together for a chat and a cuppa – the noise from the chatter was wonderful,” she said.

“I felt everybody seemed happy and they wanted to chat, and for me, knowing the need that there is for people to do that, from that respect, I felt it was really, really good.

“All in all, I felt very happy with what we were able to achieve.”

The morning included sing-alongs with St Andrew’s Uniting Church pianist, Jeff Bone, and a talk by guest speaker, Hannah Sharp from Optimal Ageing in Mount Barker.

“She was absolutely brilliant... it was very informative,” Mrs Knights said.

Mrs Knights thanked everyone involved in the event and was grateful to live in a supportive community.

“Our community offers hope, strength and love because we care,” she said.

“I think that’s what we, as a community, really do.”

St Andrew’s Adult Fellowship and community members have been hosting Biggest Morning Teas for about 24 years to raise funds for cancer research, hear from cancer survivors, and remember friends and family who were less fortunate.

Ladies’ Probus Club learns about Riding for the Disabled

The Ladies’ Probus Club of Strathalbyn welcomed Cate Goodall to their July meeting, who informed members about the Riding for Disabled Association (RDA).

After retiring from the nursing profession, the association was among the organisations Mrs Goodall became involved in.

Both children and older people can participate in RDA, which involves not only riding horses, but carriage driving, with the program proving to be beneficial for those with health issues such as Multiple Sclerosis.

RDA meets at The Riding Patch and assistants are always needed, as at least two of them are required per horse.

A training program is provided for volunteers who can progress to become a coach.

Visits are made to nursing homes, with even a Clydesdale horse being taken along.

Mrs Goodall spoke of the trepidation of visiting a city hospital and having to take a small horse up in a lift to be able to visit patients, but everything turned out well.

She noted princess royal Anne has been a patron of the association world-wide since 1969.

Meanwhile, sympathies were extended to member, Pat Spence whose husband, Iain, passed away recently, and the club also remembered former member, Ros Henningsen, who passed away on June 30 by observing a minute’s silence.

The members warmly welcomed Judy Salt, following her induction as a new member by Ladies’ Probus Club President, Athalie Martin.

Yvonne Dawson read a short story entitled A Computer Swallowed Grandma! Best wishes were extended to those members celebrating birthdays in July, namely Mavis Cowley, Helen Watson, Pam Mayes, and Rita Dowding.

The Member’s Chat was delivered about a recent trip to Italy on behalf of member, Margaret Smith by Margaret’s daughter, Rebecca and grand-daughter, Poppy, who gave an excellent presentation.

Prizes for the July competition were won by Monica Bormann, Yvonne Tischer,

New Ladies’ Probus Club of Strathalbyn member, Judy Salt with President, Athalie Martin.

and Lyn Blackwell.

It was reported Athalie Martin, Yvonne Dawson, and Jeanette Leonard had represented the Ladies’ Probus Club on June 24 at the Strath Neighbourhood Centre’s Open Day.

It proved a success, with five enquiries being received, which may lead to new members.

Members will be visiting the Karkoo Nursery at Oakbank on August 23 for lunch and some retail therapy.

The next general meeting will take place on August 14 in the Lutheran Church Hall, commencing at 9.45am.

The club looks forward to welcoming interested visitors.

Recommendations for Goolwa Oval Recreation Precinct’s management model and lighting fees are yet to be provided by the recently established advisory group, spurring calls for council intervention in June. Photo: Giorgina McKay

By Giorgina McKay

Another push to enforce lighting fees for Goolwa Oval Recreation Precinct users has flickered out, with Alexandrina councillors preferring to wait for the recently established advisory group to form its own recommendation in time.

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, an advisory group was established at Alexandrina Council’s June meeting to determine the management and cost recovery models for the precinct after elected members failed to reach a decision.

The precinct is currently being managed by council, with user groups having to book access for seasonal and ad-hoc requirements, and clubs negotiating use of the bar, canteen and shared space among themselves.

One of the major discussion points for the advisory group will be lighting and user group fees.

As part of stage 2 of the precinct project, new electricity meters are set to be installed by September, along with swipe cards for oval light usage, to identify users, so fees can be applied accordingly.

Council is also investigating ways to automatically turn lights off at a certain time.

The advisory group is expected to review lighting invoices and provide a recommendation to council for consideration on fees to be paid by September, but North Ward councillor Sue Miller believed a decision should be made immediately to encourage responsible usage for every user.

She put forward a motion at last month’s meeting to set facility lighting fees at $19.41 for the main oval and $5.55 for the new courts from July 1, which may be reviewed upon written request and subsequent resolution of council.

Additionally, the motion opposed council recovering lighting costs attributable up to and including June 30, 2023 to advisory committee members, and asked for future costs to be open to review by council resolution upon written recommendations for alternative methods of calculating and recovering fees.

“Those lights are on and working, and people are using them basically for free,” Cr Miller said.

“If someone who isn’t part of the group wants to use the oval, what are they paying for lights? Nothing.

“There’s no encouragement to be responsible in light usage fees.”

However, the motion was lost.

An earlier motion calling for the advisory group to provide its determination to administration on an operating model or fee structure, and cost recovery no later than July 31 for consideration by council no later than August 17 also failed to gain support.

This was predominantly due to noted issues getting all members together at the same time, which had delayed the advisory group’s first meeting.

The Argus understands the group met earlier this week.

“The resolution we made at the last meeting was silent on when we can expect something,” Cr Miller said.

“Given the amount of time that has passed and this is continuing... I don’t think it’s unreasonable to ask for a date we can expect to see something coming from this advisory group.

“They don’t seem to have a sense of urgency about resolving this, but we have a broader community interest we have to be mindful of.

“At some point we have to draw a line in the sand and say if you can’t come together, we’ll make a decision.”

Council was aware of the importance of getting the group together and working out the fees, and aimed to come to a resolution as soon as possible.

“It’s taken nearly three years so far and we’ve gotten nowhere,” Alexandrina Mayor, Keith Parkes, said.

“I don’t anticipate bringing an answer back until the group has had at least two meetings.

“We just need to sort it out.”

Meadows road upgrade hits delays

An unexpected discovery has halted construction work on a popular Meadows road.

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, Nottage Road will be widened to meet the increasing demands placed on it by surrounding residential development.

Other project works to upgrade the road to a modern urban standard include associated kerbing, stormwater drainage to mitigate the occurrence of localised flooding, lighting, a new dedicated footpath connecting residents to the main street, and the connection of Mount Barker District Council’s recycled water to the new development east of the road.

Council’s contractor moved on site in mid-July to start the upgrades, but following a survey, a number of additional underground Telstra and NBN services have been found along the length of the road, potentially conflicting with the new stormwater main design.

This is now being revisited to prevent existing services from being damaged or compromised during construction, putting a halt on excavations until all underground services can be physically located.

Several construction materials have already been delivered to the site and are being stored along the road verge and behind the Meadows Hotel.

The original site compound location behind Pik A Pie is currently too waterlogged for material storage apart from plants and machinery.

Council has asked people to continue taking care on the roads, and drive to the temporary signed speed limit.

When works resume, operating hours are expected to be between 7am-5pm weekdays and possibly some Saturdays until the anticipated completion date in mid-December, subject to weather conditions.

Cars normally parked on the road between these times will need to be moved elsewhere.

The Mawson/Battunga/Nottage Roads intersection upgrade is excluded from the scope of works, and is currently in the Department for Infrastructure and Transport’s hands for planning/design.

Community input sought on Clayton Bay speed limit extension

Safety concerns have prompted Alexandrina Council to seek the community’s views on a potential speed limit extension at Clayton Bay.

The community is invited to have their say on a proposal to extend the 50km/h speed limit past homes along the entrance into the western side of Clayton Bay, which, if approved by the State Government, would affect 900 metres in the 80km/h section of Alexandrina Drive from Finnis-Clayton Road, and some 100 metres past the Clayton Street and Pearce Road intersection.

Alexandrina Mayor Keith Parkes said many residents believed the speed limit should be reduced.

“The community in Clayton Bay has raised multiple concerns about the safety of the 80km/h speed zone that runs through to the western side of Clayton Bay along Alexandrina Road,” he said.

“Council cannot change speed limits without approval from the Department of Infrastructure and Transport (DIT), so we are now consulting with the Clayton Bay community to see if they would like us to formally submit an application to the State Government to lower speeds to 50km/h.

“We should note the final decision rests with DIT, and even if there is overwhelming community support for the speed limit reduction, the department may not endorse the request.”

For further information about the proposal and to provide feedback, visit (<https://mysay.alexandrina.sa.gov.au/alexandrinadrive>) before 5pm on Friday, August 25.

Helping people ‘realise their property dreams’

Strathalbyn Conveyancing’s licenced and qualified team offers a personal and stress-free experience of transferring property ownership by managing legal obligations and financial paperwork, and importantly protecting the rights and interests of their clients.

“We are local and we like to have a connection with our clients and invite them into the office to go through everything with them – we like to have that personal contact,” Strathalbyn Conveyancing Director, Nicole Cleggett said.

“I like to help people with their property dreams, whether they are buying their first home, their first investment property, or the family farm.”

Clients come to Strathalbyn Conveyancing from across South Australia under a range of circumstances, which include:

Selling a property

This involves more than just finding a buyer and agreeing on a price. Your Contract of Sale can be checked and advice provided on any modifications required. The team will conduct a ‘Verification of Identity’ interview and sight documents to link the property to ownership.

Once the Contract of Sale is signed by all parties and any special conditions satisfied, Strathalbyn Conveyancing can start the process of transferring the property from the seller to the buyer, including liaising with the seller’s bank and any other interests on the Title. The team will adjust rates and taxes, and advise council, SA Water and Revenue SA that the property has changed ownership.

Buying a property

Nicole recommends having a conveyancer read a contract before it is signed.

“We can step them through the process, before signing,” she said.

“The earlier we can get involved in the transaction, the better it is for everybody, we can make sure everything is covered and the buyer knows what their obligations are.

“There’s quite a lot that goes into property transfer transactions – we do a lot of work behind the scenes in terms of checking all of the property details, liaising with parties to the transaction and making sure everything’s legally compliant.”

Strathalbyn Conveyancing Director, Nicole Cleggett, and assistant Sue Geisler, support South Australians in a range of ways. INSET: Strathalbyn Conveyancing is located at 10 Catherine Street, Strathalbyn.

As part of the property settlement, Strathalbyn Conveyancing makes adjustments so that property costs, such as council rates and water charges, are paid from the date of settlement.

The team prepares transfer documents and ensures that the property being bought is rightfully and legally transferred to the buyers.

Strathalbyn Conveyancing certifies documents, conducts verification of identity interviews with clients and explains the process so it is easy to understand, and liaises with all parties including banks and mortgage brokers, to ensure a smooth settlement.

Settlement day

On settlement day, conveyancers and the other party’s representatives exchange documents, including the Certificate of Title for the property, and organise for funds and ownership of the property to be transferred to the buyer.

Property transactions are completed online, which saves time and allows the seller faster access to funds.

Once settlement has taken place, Strathalbyn Conveyancing will provide a final settlement statement to confirm how funds were distributed.

Other services offered include land divisions when subdividing properties, and rural transfers such as when children take over the family farm.

The staff often help with family and matrimonial transfers, for example adding or removing a name after weddings or divorces, and deceased estates.

Most clients are regulars who keep returning year after year, and refer others through word-of-mouth.

Credit to the locals behind the business

Strathalbyn Conveyancing's local team, along with the supportive local community, is behind the business's popularity and success.

"My business wouldn't be where it is without them – they're all amazing," Strathalbyn Conveyancing Director, Nicole Cleggett said.

"We are all very much part of a team and we all have our strengths."

The business has grown from three to five staff members in recent years, including licenced conveyancers, Karen Francis, a Willyaroo resident, who has been with the business for a decade, and Strathalbyn resident Wendy Hentschke.

Assistants, Sue Geisler, of Tooperang, and Belinda Goodrich, of Strathalbyn, joined recently.

Nicole is the Director and joined the business 21 years ago after moving to Langhorne Creek from Peterborough after she married local resident Justin Cleggett.

Justin runs a family vineyard in Langhorne Creek and the couple have three children.

One of Nicole's biggest passions is getting behind the local community, who she thanks for their support over the years.

"We are very community-minded, we use a lot of local suppliers, we support community and sporting clubs, we have a really good relationship with the real estate agents in town," she said.

"One of our passions is to support local and we support local sporting clubs – the football, netball, tennis and bowls – and also local events like Christmas Where The Angas Flows."

Strathalbyn Conveyancing Director, Nicole Cleggett, and assistant Sue Geisler, are celebrating five years of ownership. INSET: Strathalbyn Conveyancing in 2018 when Nicole Cleggett became Director, pictured with Karen Francis, Nicole Cleggett, Chris Rodgers and Michelle Loechel.

Strathalbyn Conveyancing is celebrating its 5-year anniversary of operating under new ownership, along with 35 years of servicing the local community.

Former owner, Chris Rodgers, (now retired) opened the business in 1988 under the name Chris Rodgers Conveyancing, on Albyn Terrace, before moving to Dawson Street, and now Catherine Street.

Five years ago, Nicole Cleggett bought the business.

"Five years doesn't seem that long, but it is a long time in the scheme of things especially when you've gone through a global pandemic and all the changes that it brought," she said.

Twenty-one years ago, Nicole joined the business as an assistant and then acquired her qualification as a Certified Practising Conveyancer.

Over 21-years she has seen a lot of change in the role, particularly in the past 10 years switching from a paper-based system to an electronic-platform and in the past year, the office transitioning to being paperless.

The team is very mindful of cyber security and protecting client's information.

Strathalbyn Conveyancing has also been busy for the past few years, spurred from the strong housing market during COVID.

Nicole has witnessed Strathalbyn and Mount Barker's extensive developments and has supported those buying and selling.

Into the future, Nicole aims to consolidate the business and expand their clientele in the Adelaide Hills and Fleurieu Peninsula.

"We are always striving to do things better for our clients," she said.

The team and her referral partners and supporters celebrated their five-year anniversary recently at Hammer 'N' Tongs.

STRATHALBYN ANTIQUES AND COLLECTABLES FAIR (and other stuff)

Countdown begins to antique fair

Time is almost here to race to the much-loved Strathalbyn Antiques and Collectables Fair and hunt through one-of-a-kind and unique pieces.

The biggest antique event in South Australia drew huge crowds last year of about 3500 across the venues, with many travelling from interstate or overseas to visit for the day or weekend.

The 32nd Strathalbyn Tourism Association event on August 19th from 10am to 5pm and 20th from 10am to 4pm, will be held across Carruthers Hall, the Town Hall and Gilbert's Motor Museum for $10 entry per day with accompanied children under 12 free, which includes a connecting wheelchair accessible bus between Gilbert's Motor Museum and Carruthers Hall. There will be a special staging of the monthly market in Gilbert's Motor Museum carpark.

The Rotary Club of Strathalbyn is running the popular Sunday Treasure Market at Strathalbyn Oval from 7.30am, with $2 entry and accompanied U16 free.

Publicist, Donna Brandon-Brown said more than 30 dealers will be selling "everything you can imagine" at the halls including period pieces, retro items and exclusive antiques suitable for the home, office or garden.

"A lot of our dealers save up and source things through the year so they can bring them to us," she said.

The race is on for Strathalbyn Antiques and Collectables Fair next weekend, with convenor, Linda McLoughlin and publicist, Donna Brandon-Brown excited to bring visitors to the town. Photo: Tara Nash

"Come down with an open mind because you genuinely don't know what you're going to find - you might find something you didn't even know you were looking for."

Convenor, Linda McLoughlin describes the Strathalbyn Antiques and Collectables Fair as a "big day out" which is suitable for shoppers and collectors of all ages.

She loves antique items as they are unique pieces with history and a story to tell, rather than being mass produced or cheaply made.

"It's good to come along with an open mind, you don't know what you'll find and you don't know what you'll fall in love with without expecting to," she said.

"All the local shops will be open with bells on - they all gear up for the fair, they all look forward to an influx of people."

Next weekend, regular shoppers can expect to see several new dealers along with previous traders.

"In the world of antiques and collectables, things constantly change," Ms McLoughlin said.

"One thing is sold and goes to a new home and is replaced with something different, so even though some of your favourite dealers are coming along, they're going to have a different selection to choose from."

SATURDAY, AUGUST 19
10AM - 5PM

SUNDAY, AUGUST 20
10AM - 4PM

Set sail for a day of treasure hunting

Treasure hunters on a quest for a bargain should prepare to drop anchor at the Strathalbyn Oval next weekend for the annual Sunday Treasure Market.

Run by the Rotary Club of Strathalbyn, the market will be held at the oval, near Carruthers Show Hall, on August 20 from 10am to 4pm in conjunction with the Antiques and Collectables Fair weekend.

The market commences from 7.30am at a $2 entry fee, with accompanied patrons aged 16 and under getting in for free.

Antique and trinket enthusiasts will have an opportunity to browse through collectables, old tools, art, books, DVDs, and other items one might find at a garage sale.

Co-ordinator, Craig Maidment said it was a day all about 'trash and treasure'.

"It's a place for bargains moreso than big-ticket items," he said.

"I think people just like browsing, and if they are a collector, it's an opportunity not to be missed to find that missing piece or add to your collection.

"It's a day out, and the fact you can not only come to this, but you've got the halls and antiques stores in Strath - it's all connected - is great."

Last year more than 1,000 people wandered the market, and even more are expected this year with more stallholders anticipated than ever before.

About 40 sellers have already confirmed their attendance, some travelling from as far as Auburn, Mildura, and Victoria, with more estimated to come.

Funds raised from the market will go towards the Rotary Club's Automated External Defibrillator (AED) project.

Sunday Treasure Market Co-ordinator, Craig Maidment says the Strathalbyn Oval is the place to be to grab a bargain next weekend. Photo: Giorgina McKay

"The big thing for us going forward is still our AED program because we need to raise $3,000 to buy one, then we will put those out in the community," Mr Maidment said. "There are still some gaps around we'd like to fill, and we're getting requests for them now from different organisations."

The Lions Club will return with its food van, and a coffee van will also be on site for patrons.

Sellers can apply for a stall until the Friday before the event.

For further information, contact Craig Maidment on 0438 166 528 or via email at (craigmaidment1956@gmail.com).

Simounds' 13 leads Rooster rampage at Goolwa Oval

By Perry Jones

Ben Simounds, with 13 goals for the match, was the focal point in the Roosters' rampage at Goolwa, where they rolled the Magpies by 193 points.

The Goolwa/Port Elliot team were hoping to put up a reasonable performance for those who had turned up to celebrate Port Elliot's Grand Final win against the Roosters in 1973, but they were going to struggle to compete with a long list of outs, while the Roosters were at near full strength for one of the few times this season.

The domination for the Roosters started from the first bounce, with Welk controlling the hit outs throughout the day against Dekoning and Rigney, leading to consistent play-on football all match.

The Magpies showed some resistance early through Bates, Watson and Logan Payne, as they put in the effort to try some attacking moves.

The Roosters were off target early, with three behinds, Jake Stafford hitting the post, and before they got their first goal at the six-minute mark when Jake Stafford and Simounds combined to set up Clamp for the desired result.

With Elliott, Wright, Jake Stafford and Tucker being the driving force for the Roosters when on the ball, the Magpie defence was starting to feel the pressure, with Turner, Carnelly, Slape and Bottroff doing their best under the force.

Simounds had the next Roosters' goal after taking a second grab mark.

Then, Magpie Coach Slape left the ground when Simounds had another goal on the board after out-marking Slape from behind.

The Magpies did have a couple of sorties into attack, but it was misses by Bailey Payne and then Bates was unable to convert a Turner pass, as the Roosters continually ran the ball out of defence through Machin, Pegler and Butler.

Elliott had the fourth goal on the board for the Roosters in the term, but they lost their efficiency in front of goal, with five behinds in a row before Wright, following up his play, re-gained possession to set Simounds up for a full pointer and a quarter time lead of 36 points.

From the first bounce of the second term, the Roosters were at it again, taking control of the centre clearances and quickly had the first goal on the board, with Welk's tap to Wright, and then a long handball seeing Fox run forward to make no mistake.

The Roosters were on the move again, with positive handballs to running players to overwhelm the Magpies' defence, set up by Bottroff and Turner, and Jake Stafford was in for the next Rooster goal, followed by Fox taking a Clamp handball for another.

The Magpies did go forward a few times to get an early behind from Logan Payne, and later, a behind to Rigney from a free, but Pegler and Machin, with his clearing runs, had the Rooster defence well-organised, as Wright was then on the end of some handy play by Will Stafford and Elliott to raise the two white flags again.

The goals just kept coming for the Roosters, with Fox, Gilbert, Jake Stafford and Godfrey pumping the ball forward, Harris then converting a Jake Stafford pass, while Marc Elliott, still picking up plenty of touches and having pulled in a mark near goal, gained a 25-metre free when his opponent knocked the ball out of his hands, resulting in a goal, which was a feat he did again shortly after when a Clamp tap went his way.

To finish the term, Elliott sent the ball forward to see Simounds' gadget arms working well again, as Magpie Carnelly had taken him to ground, but it didn't prevent him from marking the ball to goal and give the Roosters an 80-point lead at half-time.

Not much changed in the third term as it was just two behinds to the Magpies, one rushed and the other from a quick kick by Bailey Payne, as Fry, Watson and a bit of field play by Dekoning tried to test the Rooster defence, still in the good hands of O'Grady, Koop, Machin and Clark.

It was just a procession out of the middle by the Roosters, and Welk overcoming resistance from Rigney in ruck to tap the ball to players and set the wheels in motion.

Clamp, diving to mark a Jake Stafford pass, brought up the first goal for the Roosters, with Simounds, using his body work, marking a Butler pass for the next and then the next after, as Fox and Butler combined to deliver the ball.

While Turner was trying to lift the Magpie defence ratings, the ball just kept coming in, with Clamp in the middle of the pack marking an Elliott kick to goal, and then Clamp picking up the spillage for another before Simounds converted a Gilbert pass.

Butler, Tucker and Wright set up attacking moves and the goal tally mounted, with Clamp getting another, and Godfrey coming into the goal kicking action, as a clever tap of the ball by Simounds into his path was just what he was needing to make no mistake, and was let in for another one as the Magpies lost control of the ball.

Eleven goals finished up being kicked by the Roosters, with Simounds getting the last two after converting an O'Grady pass, and then as Harris got the handball to Clamp, his kick was marked on the goal line by Simounds.

The Magpies were certainly looking for relief when they started the last term, being more than 24 goals down, but it didn't come, as the Roosters just played on at will through Elliott, Machin, with his clearing dashes out of defence.

Pegler and Wright led the way, while O'Grady, left alone on the wing, was damaging the Magpies' defence.

The Magpies battled on gamely through Fry, Hausser and Watson to have some say in the game, while Bottroff, into ruck, had some success, as did Rigney in defence.

As Jake Stafford took the spillage to goal first up for the Roosters, it was the Simounds show for a while, as the Magpies put Dekoning on him to no avail.

O'Grady, kicking the ball into attack, then ran forward to the next contest near goal to take the ball away from the Magpies and set Simounds up for his 10th goal of the match, followed by Elliott and O'Grady setting him up for another.

Then, after juggling the mark, it was another goal to Simounds before the latter went off the boil and missed three easy shots at goal.

Simounds, in the meantime however, had blocked a Magpie kick to give Elliott that goal kicking feeling, while a Jake Stafford pass saw Harris pull in the mark to convert as well.

It was then, at the 21-minute mark, that the Magpies got the ball for the first time in their 50-metre zone for the term for Hausser to pick up a free and kick their second goal of the game.

However, there was no let up by the Roosters, hitting back when Clamp, getting the handball out of a scrum, allowed Wright to goal and was followed by Machin getting the ball to O'Grady, who then found Elliott who was able to give Butler the opportunity to goal.

As the Roosters' smart anticipation continued for the game, Simounds took a Will Stafford pass, allowing him to raise the two white flags for the 13th time, to now head the league's goal kicking list, with 59 from the Dogs' Pinyon on 52.

But for the Magpies, who were looking to raise the white flag many times during the match, raised two of them when a pass by lwao found Bottroff for the last goal of the game.

Hawks grind out a win against the Bulldogs

The Hawks played their third home game in a row against the visiting Mount Compass Bulldogs last Saturday.

The weather was fine and cool, with no wind advantage to either end of the oval.

The game began with neither team taking any advantage in the early stages.

The Hawks had key matchups with Keynes, who was just back from representing Australia in Gaelic Football in Ireland, playing on Z Vitkunas.

Likewise, the Hawks' Derham was taking on the Bulldogs' goal kicker, Pinyon.

As the quarter rolled on, the visitors lifted in the midfield, starving entries to the Hawks' forward line arc.

Compass had Hicks kicking the first goal for the term, but it was all the Bulldogs early on, as Z Vitkunas and Pinyon chimed in for a goal apiece as well.

Under pressure, the Hawk defence held up relatively well considering the number of entries Compass had into their attacking zone, but at the other end of the ground, the home side were starved of opportunities, with only two points scored for the term.

Things turned around for the Hawks in the second quarter after regrouping during the break.

Clifford, for the Hawks, had the first major from a mark in the square.

The Hawks midfield picked up and they were getting plenty of drive from Blackwell on the back flank.

Pinyon, for the Bulldogs, was taking strong marks around the ground, but he didn't trouble the scoreboard during the quarter.

It was Clifford goaling once again, and another six-pointer from Dalitz, which kept the home side back to be one point down at the long break.

Interestingly, the Bulldogs didn't manage a goal during the quarter, just like the Hawks in the first.

The second half of the game ground along like the previous terms.

Although conditions were near perfect, there was very little scoreboard action, as both teams played a scrappy brand of football.

The Hawks' bench was in strife with injuries, and their rotations were limited in the last half of the game.

Pinyon moved to ruck for the Bulldogs to try and lift them, but it was the Hawks who had the better of the visitors, with plenty more forward entries.

Helyar and Kartinyeri scored for the home side, but in reality, they should have been well-ahead after missing a number of shots at goal.

The visitors had ball winners in T Vitkunas down back and Simons, whilst the Hawks had Kellock gaining plenty of the footy around the ground.

At the final break, the home side had managed a 10-point lead in a very even game of football so far.

Quarter four had Kartinyeri, for the Hawks, kicking a brilliant left foot snap early in the term.

Not long afterwards, Hunter had his first for the Bulldogs, kicking a major from a tight angle.

The Hawks nailed the next goal through Dalitz, and it seemed like the Hawks had done enough to hold Compass off.

However, the visitors put in a solid last 10 minutes with another goal to Pinyon, keeping the Bulldogs in the game.

They had a number of scoring shots in the dying minutes, but inaccuracies cost them before time ran out, which left the Hawks with a narrow seven-point win.

Looking back on the game, it certainly was a game of defences, with both teams doing well in their back six.

Best players for the Hawks were Blackwell running off the back flank, and Helyar in a midfield role.

Mount Compass had winners in T Vitkunas and Simons.

The Hawks still have a pulse and will need to continue winning to keep their finals chances alive.

Likewise, the Bulldogs cannot afford to lose more games in this last part of the season.

Goal-fest at Willunga

Yankalilla have been competitive all season, until Saturday when they failed to kick a goal until the 15-minute mark of the last quarter.

Before that six-pointer, they had several opportunities, but failed to open their goal-kicking account.

Yank won the toss and controlled the first five minutes of the game, but failed to hit the scoreboard.

When Willunga won the momentum, Juckers split the middle after good teamwork from Jack Redden and Altus.

Hutchens kicked another at the 15-minute mark, and then gave off another to Jed Redden who was playing his first game for two months.

Juckers set up a Hutchens' goal before a Jed Redden mark and handball created an opportunity for Jack Redden, and he kicked truly on the run.

Ker could have got a couple back for Yank, but both of his shots failed to convert.

Willunga got off to a flying start in the second quarter when Bennett, playing his first A Grade game, won a ball and passed to Lee who goaled.

Jed Redden (two) and Lee kicked majors for Willunga in a three-minute burst.

Juckers joined the goal-fest with two more, and then Miegel kicked one around the body.

The forwards' goals were just reward for the hard work of the Demons' centre-square players Mills, Shirvington, Hutchens and the effervescent Renney.

Jesse Fitzgerald, Hargreaves and Weir battled hard for the Tigers, but could not find winners when they passed the ball forward.

Willunga brought up their 10th goal of the quarter when Mills passed to Jed Redden who marked and kicked accurately.

Yank had a chance to kick the opening goal of the premiership quarter, but Weir's kick went out on the full.

The visitors pressured Willunga and stifled the goal-kicking spree until Haskett forced a ball to space.

Renney swooped and split the middle, and then Lee was awarded a free and kicked another as a result of precise teamwork by Jack Redden and the hard-running Brennand.

Gerber belted the ball forward for a rare Yankalilla chance on goal but, again, Ker's kick missed the big uprights.

Juckers then had another purple patch, and he burst from the centre twice and hit targets.

Jed Redden marked and goaled but Seb Hoek, aiming for his first A Grade goal, sprayed his kick wide.

Brown didn't miss after a strong mark and a slick side-step around the man on the mark.

Yank's Duke had a chance to goal after the three-quarter time siren, but his kick drifted wide.

Willunga began the last quarter with a 20-goal lead and increased it to 27 by game's end to give the home team a much-needed percentage boost, as they fought for third spot.

Renney kicked the opening goal of the quarter at the three-minute mark before Yank dug deep for 10 minutes.

Jesse Fitzgerald, Kay, Major and Bartlett worked hard to control the ball and keep it out of Willunga's hands.

They were rewarded when a series of passes ended in Jack Fitzgerald's hands, and he kicked the team's only goal of the game.

Eventually, however, Willunga's pressure proved too much.

Juckers kicked a booming goal from the centre square after a precise forward handball from Hutchens, and then Altus set him up for another, his sixth for the day.

Jed Redden did the team thing and handed off a running goal to young Bennett playing his first A Grade game.

The favour was reciprocated minutes later when Brown passed to Redden who went back and slotted his seventh.

The last goal of the game was to another first year player, Willunga's Seb Hoek.

He marked at 35-metres on an angle, went back, and kicked truly to atone for his earlier misses and gave Willunga a 160-point victory.

Ongoing issues with Mount Barker's Summit Sport and Recreation Park Oval has raised concerns about its viability.

Issues flagged with Mount Barker Oval

By Giorgina McKay

Major concerns with infrastructure, sponsorship retention, and game day experiences has raised questions about Summit Sport and Recreation Park Oval's (SSRP) viability.

In a public statement last month, the Hills Football League (HFL) announced its decision to exclude the SSRP from the list of Grand Final venues, despite its 'outstanding' playing surface and base facilities, due to ongoing difficulties with its use on game days.

The league claimed one of the key reasons for the decision was that 'very little lasting infrastructure' remained due to the bump in/bump out nature of the AFL Gather Round fixture earlier this year, along with the lack of permanent or temporary fencing to completely close the grounds off for an event, and the need to restrict entry to two points maximum, so admission can be controlled for authorised and paid entry.

These conditions are a league requirement for any finals venue to be considered.

Other difficulties with the oval have included the inability to promote sponsors on the oval, impacting the sponsorship revenue and activity the HFL and clubs rely on for continued viability and future success, and alleged lack of financial contribution or relief that has made providing game day experiences like a barbecue, prepared meals, bar facilities, and space for patrons to participate untenable on a permanent basis for the Mount Barker Football Club.

The club has made significant capital contributions towards upgrading the kitchen and interior facilities in order to provide a full game day experience, and has been seeking sustainable ways to utilise the facility.

Without a solution, concerns have been raised about the oval's future viability.

"The league was initially excited to have this development in the region, however, ongoing usage fees, licence arrangements, facility issues, liquor licensing issues, and the inability to use this facility for premier matches within the season and at finals time has rendered it an unviable venue choice," the HFL statement added.

"It would be a great shame that in one of the fastest growing areas in the state, there was a facility that could not be utilised to its full potential due to an unwillingness to hear the concerns of the Hills Football League and the football community generally.

"As it stands, we cannot foresee any way, without meaningful dialogue and engagement, that Summit Sports Park Oval will be a viable facility for use by any of the clubs in the Hills Football League for the foreseeable future."

Mount Barker Mayor David Leach was disappointed by the statement, and hoped to come to a resolution with the HFL.

"The Summit Sport and Recreation Park is a significant community asset designed and built to AFL standards, which council believes continues to be the premier oval for football in regional South Australia," Mayor Leach said.

"Council budgeted $500,000 in the 2022-23 financial year for infrastructure improvements at the SSRP, which included the new link road, permanent fencing, overflow car parking, interchange shelters, and new AFL standard goal posts.

"We were disappointed to read the media release issued by the Hills Football League, advising their decision to not play finals on the Summit Oval, which only a few months ago was the regional venue for a national AFL match during the Gather Round.

"We are seeking a meeting with the HFL to understand the barriers to utilising the SSRP for finals for this year and future years, and expect that a resolution can be achieved."

League

Strathalbyn 55 v Goolwa 27

Strath's first quarter saw some of their best passages of play for the year, with strong defence and cheeky feeds, which were a delight to watch.

Strath built on their scoring each quarter, giving a consistent four quarters of netball.

A highlight was seeing the Garwood sisters in the goal ring in the last quarter.

Senior 3

Strathalbyn 41 v Goolwa 43

It was a hard-fought game as Goolwa kept putting the pressure on.

Strath had a small lead, but with injuries and player changes by Goolwa going into the last quarter, Goolwa surged ahead to win the game.

Senior 4

Strathalbyn 45 v Goolwa 49

Strath needed to use some of their Inter players, as several of their team were missing. Although both teams fought a hard game, Goolwa finished strongly to win the match.

Senior 5

Strathalbyn 29 v Goolwa 58

Strathalbyn had solid first and fourth quarters.

With positional changes by both teams, the changes were more beneficial for Goolwa who played very strong netball, particularly in the second and third quarter.

Senior 6

Strathalbyn 22 v Goolwa 46

Saturday's score certainly didn't reflect the game, with Strathalbyn having a very strong defence.

Unfortunately, Strath didn't convert the turnovers, and this was reflected in the score.

Thanks to Goolwa for a fun and friendly game, as it was certainly much more enjoyable that way.

Thanks to Bree and Em for sitting on the bench at the last minute.

Inter 1

Strathalbyn 56 v Goolwa 16

Even though Strath tried new combinations, players were very good defensively as well as being slick in offence, leading to a sound win.

Inter 2

Strathalbyn 56 v Goolwa 17

It was a glorious day for netball, with a strong and dominant win by Strathalbyn.

Willow and Marley displayed very strong defensive skills, producing many turnovers, which were converted into goals by Olivia.

Goolwa fought hard in the last quarter, but Strath proved too strong.

Inter 3

Strathalbyn 60 v Goolwa 32

Both Goolwa and Strath started off really well, going goal for goal, with a few of the Strath girls playing different positions, but still managing to work the ball in and put pressure on every pass.

As the game progressed, the Strath goalies got their eye in.

There was some great vision from the attackers, and the defence was getting some hand-to-ball, creating turnovers in other parts of the court.

Strath finished strong, with some impressive fast-paced passages of play.

Inter 4

Strathalbyn White 29 v Mount Compass 30

After an even first quarter, Compass made some positional changes that were beneficial, to give them a six-goal lead at half-time.

Strath then needed to play catch up netball, and even though they outscored Compass in the second half, they didn't quite get there.

13 & Under (D1)

Strathalbyn 27 v Goolwa 26

We knew it was going to be a tough game, as Goolwa were sitting just below us on the ladder, and we had also lost our defender filling in for another team last week, so we had to play out of position.

We dropped our heads and were behind on the scoreboard all game, however, at the last break, we asked the girls to lift, and they did, to outscore Goolwa to end up winning by one goal.

We're super proud of their efforts and how they ran out the game.

13 & Under (D3)

Strathalbyn 7 v Goolwa 10

Strath started well to win the first quarter, however, both teams made positional changes, which Goolwa was able to take advantage of to outplay Strath for the rest of the game.

11 & Under (D1)

Strathalbyn 27 v Goolwa 12

It was a great game for Strath, with a few players trying new positions, but proving their strength anywhere, whilst fighting hard against a tall opposition.

11 & Under (D3)

Strathalbyn 10 v Goolwa 3

It was a very cold start to the game, and both teams took a long time to get going, with some early errors, but consistent great defence by Strath kept Goolwa scoreless until the fourth quarter.

Strath kept chipping away and managed to get 10 on the scoreboard by the end of the game.

It was a great team game by Strath, who show improvement week by week.

9 & Under

Strathalbyn Red v Goolwa

Both teams worked hard in a very low-scoring game.

11 Div 2

Langhorne Creek 4 v Mount Compass 21

It was a tough game on Saturday.

All the girls played a really good first half, but tired in the second against a very fast and skillful Mount Compass.

Hopefully, a stronger performance next week with the return of more players.

13 Div 3

Langhorne Creek 19 v Mount Compass 14

Wow, what a game - our Hawk girls played a ripper!

Everyone contributed to an awesome win - a super proud coach and an injured teammate on the sidelines.

Thanks, Compass for a great game!

Senior 2

Langhorne Creek 59 v Mount Compass 31

Creek came out strong, with full court pressure, seeing them up by 17 at quarter time.

The second quarter saw Compass getting a few little wins up the court, with some accurate shooting.

Creek showed some great team plays, keeping them ahead of the game.

Hats off to our young guns, Ella and Lucy Moore and Ranni Dewhurts, for taking to the court and keeping that scoreboard pressure the whole game.

Great team game; well done Creek.

Senior 3

Langhorne Creek 29 v Mount Compass 44

It was a great game today, and we had three juniors helping us out, holding their own.

There was great defensive pressure all over the court.

Mount Compass came out strong and took an early lead.

We kept our heads in the game and narrowed the margin, winning the last quarter by two.

Senior 4

Langhorne Creek 34 v Mount Compass 39

Compass came out fighting strong, and made our Creek girls work hard.

There was great defensive pressure by both teams all over the court.

Compass rattled Creek and unfortunately, Creek couldn't hold on.

Compass came away with a win by five goals.

Senior 5

Langhorne Creek 65 v Mount Compass 24

Creek came out strong to be in front at the quarter break.

Compass made changes, but Creek still pushed on to improve their lead.

Defensive pressure increased as the match progressed, but it didn't change the final result, and it was a strong win by the Creek.

Senior 6

Langhorne Creek 54 v Mount Compass 32

It was a fast-paced first quarter, with Creek making the best of turnovers.

Compass started the second quarter better with the first five goals, making for a more even game.

Overall, it was a good clean game, with Creek making the most of good conditions.

Strathalbyn Panther lands ‘pitch perfect’ role

By Giorgina McKay

Strathalbyn Panthers' Rebecca Sims is hoping to show softball can open doors to exciting opportunities for young athletes when she leads the SA State Softball Under 14 Boys in the Regional Championships in January.

Sims started playing softball from a young age, and moved into coaching juniors after arriving in Strathalbyn in 2017.

Combining 20 years of teaching experience with formal Softball SA coaching accreditation, she was ready for a new challenge and applied to be a state team coach.

She was successfully appointed as Under 14 Boys Head Coach for a two-year period earlier this year.

"Being able to work with Under 12 and Under 14 players at the Strathalbyn Softball Club helped prepare (me) for the role," Sims said.

"Several players from the Hills made the 2023 team, coached by me, and they are all currently trialling for the 2024 team."

Team selection is expected to be completed by mid-September.

The successful players will travel to the Australian Capital Territory (ACT) in January to compete in the Regional Championships against teams from across the country.

Sims plans to build individual player development within a team environment, and show the boys the opportunities open to them in softball.

"Creating a team that works together for greater good is the ultimate goal, but at Under 14 level, individual improvement in skills and game knowledge is also really important," she said.

"I hope to promote Hills softball as a great place for boys to play softball, and to help the boys see that representing Australia in softball is possible."

The Strathalbyn Panthers' summer season is also fast approaching, and Sims and the other coaches encourage interested U12s, U14s and U16s to give it a try.

Past players are also encouraged to return.

2023 World Police and Fire Games

Murray Bridge resident, MFS officer, and Murray Bridge Rifle Club member, Andrew Heard, has just competed in rifle shooting at the World Police and Fire Games in Winnipeg, Canada.

He finished the games with two gold medals for his individual shoots, and two silver medals as a member of a team.

This year, Andrew competed in the masters division, which is the second highest level.

The competition is shot over two days.

Day 1 was over 300 metres, where they shot 20 rounds three times.

Day 2 was 15 shots at 400 metres, 15 shots at 500 metres, and 15 shots at 600 metres.

Andrew and wife, Bronwyn, can now take it easy and enjoy the sights before trekking home again.

Strathalbyn Golf

Consistency pays off for Henry Kelly in Par round

By Perry Jones

It was certainly a consistent round of golf at Strathalbyn last Saturday by Henry Kelly, which allowed him to be all square in the par competition, to win the day on a count back from Ben Clark in a field of 32.

As it turned out, the top four players in B Grade were in the running to win the day, with Henry tipping out Ben for the top prize, donated by sponsor of the day, Alan Haberfield, while Ben McLeod and Gary Beasley both had -2, the same as the top A-Graders, Kirk Richardson and Geoff Hall.

In C Grade, Kim Wittwer and Damien Nettle also finished at -2.

Henry got his game going early in parring the first two holes, finishing square after nine and still square after the back nine, playing some good tee and fairway shots along with solid putting.

Although, he did bogey the dam hole at one stage, along with holding a nearest the pin early in his round before that prize disappeared.

Ben Clark also started on top early, being +2 after three holes, with a couple of birdies during his round, picking one up when nearest third shot (0-18) on the par five third hole landed about two feet from the hole to secure one of his birdies, and on the par three 15th picked up nearest the pin for the day.

Ben also had six pars for the round, but did lose a bit of ground, as the game went on to finish at -2.

Ben McLeod, like Henry, had 90 off the stick, which included a birdie on the 17th, winning him nearest the pin on that hole.

But he did strike a few problems in his round apart from trees, having three putts on two holes, but both times around the dam gained a par, each time in having -1 on both nines for his -2.

A Grade player, Geoff Hall, was accused of protecting his handicap when he finished second in that grade to Kirk Richardson after a count back.

While Kirk was playing his normal solid round to finish with -2, including a nearest the pin on the sixth, Geoff was looking the winner of the day early, being +1 after nine holes and with birdies on the 10th and 11th shot clear to be +3 after 12 holes, before he scrubbed five of the last six holes.

Des Kelly, while seeing a ball finish about a yard from the hole on the eighth, wondered whose tee shot it was, and looking down the fairway to see Hally with a bit of a swagger in his walk, asked him if it was his shot off the tee, and getting the thumbs up, saw a shot also winning nearest the pin for Geoff on that hole.

Geoff's playing partners were not too flash on the day, with Derek Keane getting -6 for the round.

Randall Pitt, despite some good drives and better putting, sinking to -8, and Red Sorrell, back from injury, having a shocker to finish with -9.

On the seventh hole, all four players with their second shot were up past the gobble bush and in with a chance for a positive on the par five hole, but in the end, all had to scratch the hole for a minus.

In C Grade, it was a case of zero to hero when Kim Wittwer, having won the Naga Award the previous Saturday, had bragging rights again to win that grade, with -2 on a count back from Damien Nettle.

Kim was certainly good off the tee and putted very well, with only 26 of them for the round, as he lapped up the compliments on his performance.

Though not so with fellow C-Grader, Darryl Holt, who said he played his worst game of golf in a long time to get the Naga Award with -14.

Damien certainly showed some improved form with -2, starting off being +2 after the first two holes.

Matthew Gniel, finishing on -8, certainly had a bit of trouble on the seventh hole when his third shot went into the dam, then proceeded to hit it back in again.

Matthew was in a bit of trouble again on the 10th hole when his tee shot went left and hit the big gum tree just up on the edge of the fairway, for the ball to bounce back some 15 metres behind it, requiring him a few shots later to pick it up.

Gordon, himself, was playing a reasonable round and was able to get out of trouble on the 11th when his tee shot hit the big gum tree on the left of the fairway, but having dropped straight down, was still in a good spot to go for the green next shot, which he did to land the ball on to score a four and a plus.

Gordon's game, however, came unstuck, with a minus on each of the last four holes to finish on -4, the 15th having a shank shot to finish in the creek for a pick up, and then on the 16th, managed to hit the ball out of bounds for the second week in a row for another pick up.

His best effort was on the 18th, with his drive going left quickly to hit a tree, run up the trunk and into the air, to land and roll back about two metres in front of him.

Des Kelly was the lowest handicapper in his group, coming in with -8 for the round.

Playing partner Trevor Calaby, was certainly in form with his last two rounds of golf, being -4 for the day.

John Owen teed off with a big swing to see the ball travel about six feet, but still did okay, with -3 for the round.

Brian Simpson was in good company on Saturday, as his partners were Darryl Holt who won the Naga Award with -14 and Adam Furniss, still getting over being rolled in the Captain's Cup the previous Saturday, getting no pars and -9 for the round.

Brian was happy he beat both of them with -6, making what he described as a rare mistake in his game by going into the creek off the tee on the sixth.

He was able to get out of trouble, with his next shot off the tee just rolling off the back of the green, and this followed next time around on that hole (15th) by almost going into the creek again.

The putting jackpot for the day didn't go off again, with Derek Keane, Gordon Robson and Damien Nettle all missing their putts, but the meat tray did go off to Graeme Bertholini.

This Saturday is a stroke competition – the first qualifying round of the club championships.

Strathalbyn Ladies Golf

Mel Johnson awarded August Monthly Medal

Mel Johnson was the August Monthly Medal winner.

On Wednesday, August 2, eight ladies played a stroke and putted round for the August Monthly Medal, which included a round of the McBain for the senior players.

The winner of the 18-hole competition on the day, with a very good score at this time of the year, was Mel Johnson with 77 nett.

Kerrie Edwards was runner-up with 84, closely followed by three ladies, Jo Pickhaver, Pauline Walkom and Mandi Vardon, all with 85, and Jo Cullen with 93.

Cara Eastwood and Carol Pelle played nine holes, with Cara finishing with 41.5 nett and Carol with 46.

Cara had 22 putts and Carol had 18 putts, with Cara winning NTP on the ninth hole - great drive, Cara.

Mel also won the putting competition with 27, followed by Pauline with 33, Jo C and Kerrie 34, Jo P 35, and Mandi with 37.

Mel's day continued with two gobblers on the 15th and 16th holes.

This helped with the number of putts, with these two holes scoring zero!

Stories from the day included Kerrie finding the drain on the 14th hole, with her ball nestling in a clump of immovable dried Eucalyptus leaves, though Kerrie did get it out with sheer strength.

Jo C wasn't happy with her day including trees and the creek, and the drain on the third causing her problems.

Jo P had luck at the dam both times around, with the first time having her ball bouncing on the water twice and finishing over the other side, and the second time around having the ball shanking to the right, but finishing sitting on the down slope of the dam, though luckily up and over the water to land behind the green.

Pauline had no trouble on the day, but found she was lacking in distance.

Six ladies represented the club at the McLaren Vale Open Day on Friday, August 4.

A little drizzle and cool, steady breeze greeted the ladies.

Kerrie was runner-up in the A Grade section, and Mel won the NTP.

Ann won a raffle prize.

60th Birthday

TAYLOR, Alby:

Alby Taylor is 60!
Happy birthday Dad!
We hope you have a day as awesome as you are!
Love from Laura, Lilly, Micky, Josh, Ivy, Delilah and Sonny xx

Deaths

CAMERON, Valerie Mae (Val)
(nee McLean):

Of Strathalbyn.
10/9/1934 - 2/8/2023
Aged 88 Years.

Dearly loved wife of Keith (deceased).

Devoted and adored mother and mother-in-law of Peter (deceased), Glenn; Craig and Di, Robyn and Kerri, Bruce and Kate.

Much loved Nanna of Kyle; Caitlin, Lachlan and Amelia, Alistair and Tess.

Loved daughter of Arch and Ethel (both deceased); Sister of Heather and Ken.
Dearly loved by their families.

A beautiful, kind and stylish lady who possessed a tremendous spirit for life, sense of adventure and a wonderful sense of humour.
A lady with a great strength of character, resilience and strong principles in life.

Special thank you to all Mum's friends and the Strathalbyn Community who assisted in caring for Val, our precious Mum, to her end.

Mum you never failed to do your best, your heart was always true.
You simply lived for those you loved and those you loved remember.

"She will be deeply missed by all her family and friends"

You are always with us Mum.

Deaths

CAMERON, Valerie Mae:

10/9/1934 - 2/8/2023

You are always with us, our precious Mum.
The loving gift you have given us as a mother has shaped our lives and made us the people we are today.

Your strong sense of values, your outlook on life, your sense of adventure, your resilience, your beautiful sense of humour and wonderful sense of style are so admired and will continue to influence our lives forever.

It makes us happy and incredibly proud, to know the qualities in you we admire so much, are all a part of us today.
You are always with us Mum, in our thoughts and in our hearts, in the very fabric of our lives.

Thank you Mum, for simply being you, we were and remain so blessed.
It was our privilege to care for you and return the same love and support we were given by you as your children.

Mum, you never failed to do your best, even up until the end.
Our thoughts are always with you, your place no one will fill.
In life we loved you dearly, in death we love you still.
You can now rest in peace out beautiful Mum.

Love from your ever-loving children, Glenn and Robyn.

McCULLOCH, Wendy Kaye:

10/11/1949 - 25/7/2023

Passed away on Tuesday, July 25, 2023.
Aged 73 years.

Adored Wife of Alan.

Dearly loved Mother of Tristan, Scott and Trent, and Mother-in-law to Kay.

ALEXANDRINA COUNCIL Community Consultation Draft Procurement Policy

Notice is hereby given that Alexandrina Council seek community feedback on the Draft Procurement Policy, in relation to the procurement of goods and services. Council's Procurement Policy has been reviewed and updated based on the Local Government Association Procurement policy template modelling, to ensure best practice in the procurement of goods and services by Alexandrina Council. The new draft Policy aligns to the current economic climate, operational product efficiencies within Council and in response to an awareness to simplify processes in order 'to do business' with Council.

To have your say regarding the proposed Procurement Policy, visit Council's My Say Alexandrina website at mysay.alexandrina.sa.gov.au/procurementpolicy or email alex@alexandrina.sa.gov.au or by post to the Chief Executive Officer, PO Box 21, Goolwa SA 5214. Submissions will be accepted by Council until Friday 1 September 2023, 5pm. For further information, please call Council's Manager Property and Procurement Services on 8555 7000.
