BUMPER WEEKEND

It was a bumper weekend for the Alexandrina region, with Strathalbyn's world-famous Antiques Fair and Treasure Market again helping to swell the town's population, while the well-attended Cellar Treasures festival also exceeded expectations, finishing with the highly successful Hangout at the Hangar on Sunday.

Investigations launched into potential Lot 10 sale...

SECOND CHANCE

By Giorgina McKay

A major proposal by the Strathalbyn Harness Racing Club (SHRC) is being reconsidered after Alexandrina Council overturned its decision on whether to investigate the potential sale of Lot 10, Langhorne Creek Road.

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, the Strathalbyn Harness Racing Club (SHRC) expressed an interest earlier this year in purchasing all or a portion of the Langhorne Creek Road land from council to facilitate the construction of a new harness racing facility, inclusive of other community groups, based on a separately designed concept plan, giving council an end-of-March deadline to make a decision.

But consideration of the club's proposal was rejected by elected members, who instead moved forward with the preparation of a detailed business case for future recreational land uses at Lot 10 and an infrastructure investigation report.

The SHRC was also removed from the Steering Group Committee per its own request.

Since then, council received communication from SHRC representatives Max and Debbie Beasley in August, expressing the group's wish to continue negotiations on the club's proposal, with supporting documents provided from interested parties, including the Strathalbyn Agricultural Society, Volleyball South Australia, and Squash and Racquetball SA.

The club also received support from Regional Development Australia.

New editor at The Southern Argus Deirdre Graham is looking forward to getting to know her new community.

New editor joins The Argus team

By Deirdre Graham

About two years ago the Berri flat in the Riverland that had been home to myself and my daughter Jessica for 15 years was sold.

My new landlord John popped around to introduce himself.

He wanted to know how long I thought I would be staying in the flat and the Riverland.

"I will be here forever, unless my dream job comes up," was my answer.

Jess and I had moved to the Riverland from the Victorian border community of Murrayville for me to take up a job with The Taylor Group of Newspapers, in particular The Murray Pioneer, and southern Mallee paper The Border Times.

It was a move made with much excitement, my second journalism job after some years spent working in childcare and kindergartens.

Starting as a final year cadet in Renmark, over the next 17 years I was covering everything that working in country journalism allows.

I wrote about CWA news, Lions, Rotary accomplishments, but also murders (the finding of the body of two-year old Khandalyce Pearce in a suitcase near Karoonda) and murderers – like Chopper Read who was in Pinnaroo to talk at a local pub.

There were shows and field days at Pinnaroo and Karoonda, a short-lived but successful Spudfest in Pinnaroo, footy and school reunions, and stand out sports people.

Then there was COVID, when our border community got hammered – jobs under threat, young sports lovers unable to play in finals, people unable to cross the border for fuel, workers only able to drive to work and back without socialising down the main street.

I could go on.

I love everything about country journalism. I love creating a mini book each week, starting from a blank canvas and filling it with stories and photos, facts and figures.

I was pretty happy in my job co-ordinating The Border Times and contributing to The Murray Pioneer, but a nagging wish to try the next step – maybe as an editor of a paper somewhere in size between Border Times and Murray Pioneer – lingered.

Imagine my excitement when I saw The Southern Argus at Strathalbyn was looking for an editor.

It would be a chance to dive in to a thriving rural community, meet new people, make new connections, chase new stories – happy, sad, good and bad.

The lure of being able to work within the community I covered was immense.

A few stealthy trips to Strathalbyn and its beautiful surrounds led to an application.

Long story short... last week I finished with the Taylor Group (tears were shed), and started with the talented and super friendly Argus team.

Even in a week it has been more than I wished for.

I now look forward to creating new stories, filling more newspapers, and getting to know my new community.

Regional newspapers play a vital role in creating a sense of inclusion and pride in communities, and The Argus is a leading light in local journalism.

I am proud to be part of the family.

As for my old landlord John... he popped around again just before I left.

"You got your dream job, didn't you?," he said.

Yes, I did.

Meanwhile, manager of The Argus Darren Robinson welcomed Deirdre to become part of the paper's dedicated team.

"I am confident that the community will benefit from her broad experience, as a result of her dedication in serving the Riverland and Mallee regions for the past 17 years," he said.

"Deirdre's warm and approachable nature places her well as she integrates into her new work place.

"Relocating to a completely new region in order to pursue a new career is a daunting prospect, however, I am so proud of the way Deirdre has conducted herself so early into the position.

"Deirdre is also very-well supported by her colleagues to allow her time to settle in to her new way of publishing."

Bumper weekend for Strathalbyn

By Deirdre Graham

Strathalbyn's world-famous Antiques Fair and Treasure Market have again helped swell the town's population, with final numbers almost on a par to last year.

Fair Convenor Linda McLoughlin said the entire town embraced this year's two-day weekend festival, with about 1200 people flocking through the Town Hall and Carruthers Hall over both days.

"It is a whole-of-town event, which means that not only are the halls open to patrons, but we encourage all the shops and traders to do their bit to be a part of the fair, to do something special to promote themselves, and to help make the experience enjoyable for everyone who visits over the weekend," Mrs McLoughlin said.

"(On Saturday) there were over 400 in the Town Hall.

"We didn't have Carruthers Hall's figures (then), but the Motor Museum had a couple of hundred people through as well, so that was very busy.

"It (can also) double or triple the normal weekend income for local business (such as) accommodation, cafes, eateries and speciality shops.

Mrs McLoughlin said the fair, as one of the most loved country fairs in the state, was attracting global visitors.

"People come from all over the place... They are local, they come from all around the state, they come from interstate as well, and we did notice a couple of New Zealand visitors on Saturday too," she said.

"Collectors are passionate, and there is a collector for absolutely everything you can think of.

"They could be after something very specific or they might come with an open mind and just look for something that is going to take their fancy on the day, and decide they have to take it home."

Mrs McLoughlin said feedback from dealers had been positive.

"I have only had a quick conversation with about half of them, but they have all been very pleased – they love the fair, it is set up well and it is a nice intimate fair," she said.

She thanked all who had taken part in the fair, including the dealers, the volunteers helping look after the halls, as well as those running the nearby treasure market.

Meanwhile, the bumper turn out of stallholders at this year's Strathalbyn Treasure Market has organisers buoyed for a return in 2024.

Strathalbyn Rotary's Market Convenor Craig Maidment said the event attracted 66 stall holders, up from 40 last year.

"It has been a massive increase, and of course that brings along more people" Mr Maidment said.

"The gate takings were 30 per cent ahead of last year as well, so we are very happy with the result financially.

"The weather was perfect, and that also makes the day.

"Stallholders have come from as far away as Mildura, Port Pirie, and Auburn in the Clare Valley."

Mr Maidment said feedback from the weekend event had been overwhelmingly positive.

"The stallholders were very happy because of the numbers," he said.

"A lot of people coming back through the gate were saying how much bigger the event has grown.

"COVID knocked it around, and it has had to build up from that zero base really.

"I now have 101 people on my database that are stallholders that I can contact for next year.

"I am not going to say that we are going to have 101, but it could well be that we get even more."

The Strathalbyn Lions reported selling out of food, but not before covering the lunch-time crowd.

Mr Maidment said proceeds from the gate takings would be put towards installing defibrillators across the town, with organisers already taking on board lessons from this year.

Enjoying Strathalbyn's Treasure Market on Sunday were stallholders from Violet's Vintage, Belair Francesca Hawker, Vikki Rowe and Shelley Pontiac. Photos: Deirdre Graham

Sue-Ellen Cordon, from Strathalbyn, and Kati Richards, from Langhorne Creek, found some treasures to take home on Sunday.

CLC quiz night raises thousands

By Giorgina McKay

The return of a popular quiz night brought in more than $4000 to help a local not-for-profit support people in need and complete renovations on their new building.

About 160 people attended Country Life Compassion's (CLC) quiz night at the Strathalbyn Show Hall on Saturday, July 22, which was run by quiz masters 'Mixed Bag'.

A sausage sizzle and soup was available for patrons to buy, along with 30 silent auction items such as bottles of wine and accommodation in Hahndorf, while music was provided by Kick the Dog band.

It was the first time the quiz night has been held since 2019 when CLC switched to walkathons due to COVID.

Pantry Club Co-ordinator Paquita Wise said the event was a great success. "Everybody said it was a great night, so we're really pleased," she said.

"I've got a lot of good feedback that it was really well-run.

"This is the first quiz night we've had since 2019 because we swapped to walkathons because of the COVID situation, so it was good to have that back and running... and community coming together and supporting."

About $4400 was raised from the night to support the charity's work, particularly hampers delivered to Eastern Fleurieu's high school to support struggling families and students.

The funds will also go towards purchasing another fridge and renovating CLC's new Callington Road facility.

"We're about to purchase another

About 160 people attended Country Life Compassion's quiz night last month.

fridge – which we fundraised for last year – we just waited for us to shift," she said.

"We've made do for that time, but then we do have to do some renovations here to fit out the area for Pantry (Club).

"The pantry will become an office, then there's a room at the end we'll fit out for Pantry (Club), which will make it a lot easier, bigger and keep it all together, rather than fridges and freezers in different rooms."

Into the future, CLC will switch bi-yearly between the quiz night and walkathon.

"(The walkathon) is a really healthy option... and then we're not asking for donations every year from companies and businesses, so that makes it a little bit easier," Ms Wise said.

"At this stage, next year will be walkathon and that can raise just as much money as the quiz night."

Ms Wise thanked Prue Pethick for her work behind the scenes, CLC Chairperson Brad McMaster, volunteers who helped set up the night, and the Show Hall for providing tables and chairs.

Investigations launched into Harness Racing Club's Lot 10 project proposal

At Monday night's meeting, Deputy Mayor Bill Coomans asked council to rethink its decision, and allow serious discussions to continue with SHRC over the coming months.

"It is understood the SHRC is not sitting on its hands and is exploring a number of other sites in the state – none of which are in Strathalbyn, nor Alexandrina," he said.

"The SHRC proposal would contribute significant finances to the Lot 10 proposal that, following further investigation, may provide the opportunity to establish a presence at Lot 10 earlier, leverage their funding with additional external funding to reduce the costs to council to make the project more achievable, and enhance opportunities for the sporting community and beyond."

North Ward councillor Craig Maidment believed the best way forward was to partner with the Harness Racing Club.

"This site has been vacant for 40 years in council's hands and nothing's happened," he said.

"If you read the history, this all started with an approach by the Harness Club to purchase some recreation grounds.

"There's room for negotiation on where the track goes; it doesn't have to sit in the middle.

"They are up for coming to discussions with council on the location of their facility or the possibility of the parts of the land they can purchase."

After much discussion, elected members voted in favour of investigating the sale or lease of Lot 10, with a further report to be included as part of the existing business case to be created and presented to council inclusive of the following:

- A final concept plan clearly illustrating the area in question for SHRC.

- Confirmation of other stakeholders in SHRC's proposal.
 - A valuation of the proposed area to be sold or leased.
 - A definition and estimate of the cost of installing certain infrastructure as requested by the SHRC for future community recreation and sporting use.
 - Details of the ability to ensure SHRC delivers what's promised (i.e A Memorandum of Understanding).
 - Details on the ability to ensure the return of land to council ownership or responsibility under certain circumstances.
 - A business case that includes detailing feasibility of the SHRC to deliver and operate their project.
 - Details on how the club's concept plan can integrate with the Steering Group's master Committee Master Plan.
 - Consideration to establish a joint committee comprised of representatives of SHRC and other precinct users to ensure good management of all facilities.
- The additional costs for these investigations are unknown.
- The Steering Group will be informed of council's revised decision.
- Cr Michael Scott noted the project's structure would be important.
- "On one hand we've got major development happening around Strathalbyn... and there will be a lot of extra residents that will be looking for recreation facilities," he said.
- "It needs to be a combined, well-structured thing, so we can attract money into it and it's seen as a community thing... and from what I can also make out is if you continue with talking about the (SHRC) only, that divide between the group and (SHRC) will widen."
- A separate motion was also proposed by North Ward councillor Sue Miller earlier in the night to write to several organisations, advising them of the status of Lot 10, including that tenders for preparation of a business case for future recreation land use purposes will soon be awarded and an infrastructure report is being prepared, and council's budget allocation for the project.
- However, the motion was lost after failing to gain support from councillors Maidment, Coomans, Scott, Margaret Gardner, and Peter Oliver.

Goolwa parade to be missed

By Deirdre Graham

Preparations for this year's Christmas festivities in Goolwa are already under way, but will be missing a parade of floats.

Goolwa Rotary Club member Jim Davis said the focus this year would be on the Carols on the Green, which will be held on December 17 from 6 to 9pm.

"Previously the Rotary Club has looked after the Carols on the Green and the entertainment at the conclusion of the floats," Mr Davis said.

"Our other service club in town, the Lions Club, looked after organising the floats, the pageant and the parade.

"Unfortunately, (due to) their membership numbers and age of members, they are no longer in a position to be able to do that, and we don't have the membership and the age base to do both."

Mr Davis said the popular carols event attracts between 500 and 1000 people.

"It takes a fair bit of money, unfortunately, because we have to hire a stage, and (cover) other expenses that are incurred," he said.

"We have an application into Alexandrina Council for a grant from their community funds, which I would say we have a pretty good chance of getting, and then whatever additional funds are needed come out of our club funds.

"We also seek out sponsorship from those businesses that can afford to sponsor us a little bit."

Mr Davis said organisers hope the carols will be bigger and better than last year, and encouraged community members to support the event.

Fears for nurse-led clinic

By Deirdre Graham

A local politician says he has "grave fears" for the trial nurse-led clinic that is expected to open in Strathalbyn in late September.

The clinic has been proposed as a solution to the town's closed emergency department (ED), but Member for Hammond Adrian Pederick said he was worried the service will be "doomed to fail".

"It is no reflection on the vital health staff at all, but I have grave fears on how the proposed emergency operation will work, mainly because you have to make an appointment to go there, and the limited times it is going to be open," he said.

"Some are saying it is better than nothing, but I am really fearful the service will be doomed to fail because it is a very limited service.

"There won't be stitching done by a nurse because they are nurses, not nurse practitioners.

"(It will be for) very minor so-called emergency presentations, which is far less than what you want in a properly functioning emergency department I would think."

As reported in The Southern Argus, the proposed opening hours are expected to be from Monday to Friday from 4pm to 8pm, and 10am to 4pm on the weekend.

The clinic will offer care for those presenting with urgent, non-emergency care needs for patients 10 years and older, with vital virtual medical support available by phone or video link.

A spokesperson from the Barossa Hills Fleurieu Local Health Network said the new clinic would be based on a similar model being operated in Gumeracha, with recruitment for nurses, administration and hospitality staff to commence soon.

By Tara Nash

A trial nurse-led clinic is expected to open in Strathalbyn in late September as a solution to the town's closed emergency department (ED).

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, the town's ED "temporarily" shut its doors in 2019 due to COVID-19 and being located alongside vulnerable people in the conjoined aged-care facility.

The Strathalbyn and Districts Health Service nurse-led model was introduced to the public during a community meeting last month, and will be based on a similar model being operated in Gumeracha, with recruitment for nurses, administration and hospitality staff to commence soon.

The clinic will offer care for people presenting with urgent, non-emergency care needs for patients 10 years and older, with virtual medical support available by phone or video link, while time-critical or life-threatening injuries will still be treated outside of Strathalbyn.

The Southern Argus, June 8, 2023 edition.

September, 2023 and will be evaluated at the six and 12 month-mark to ensure it is meeting expectations. "We will continue to keep the community updated with more information on how the service will operate to be provided in coming weeks."

The Southern Argus July 27, 2023.

Mr Pederick said a "huge need" existed for something more aligned to a traditional emergency department.

"It is not only looking after the people of Strathalbyn, but the outlying areas, whether it is Clayton, Milang, Langhorne Creek, and extended areas around the district," he said.

"I know that at the consultative meeting (in June) that was taken at the footy club, the talk was that we are only 20 minutes from Mount Barker.

"But that is not the point... I think it is vital to have the triage closer to home."

Mr Pederick said he was just asking for an equivalent service to what was in place before the town's ED was "temporarily" shut due to COVID, particularly an on-call doctor.

"I am not saying there needs to be a doctor onsite, because most country hospital emergencies work on an on-call doctor," he said.

"I think it is vital because we have a growing community around Strathalbyn, (which is) quite a growth area, including the main town.

"What we are finding is that people are still shocked that you actually need to make an appointment to go.

"It is not an emergency department that you can just turn up at, you actually have to phone ahead.

"It is limited in scope... If you are looking at the operation on a Saturday, if they are closing at 4pm then it won't be there for the last half of the A Grade football, (with) potential injuries coming in."

Despite his fears Mr Pederick said he hopes the opening will be a precursor for something bigger.

"I hope it is the basis for improvement into the future, so it is something that can be started, and can be built on, but I do have a fear it is set up to fail," he said.

"Then potentially we will be told, 'well there weren't many presentations over a 12-month period, so what is the point?'"

"So, I have a fear and an aspirational hope I suppose all at once.

"I hope it can be seen that we need a bigger service when people see the presentations that turn up, and see they need more active services, whether it be from a nurse practitioner or more likely a call-in doctor process to treat medical needs."

The Barossa Hills Fleurieu Local Health Network spokesperson said the clinic would be evaluated at the six and 12-month mark to ensure it was meeting expectations.

Hit-and-run at Murray Bridge

Police are investigating a serious hit-and-run crash at Murray Bridge on Sunday. At about 7pm on August 20 police were called to the intersection of Old Princes Highway and Hein Road following reports a silver car collided with a motorbike then fled the scene.

When police arrived, they found the rider, a 45-year-old local man, with serious injuries, which have now been deemed non-life-threatening. He was taken by SA Ambulance Service to Royal Adelaide Hospital for treatment. The intersection was closed for several hours while Major Crash investigators attended to assist local patrols. The investigation is ongoing. Anyone with information that may assist is asked to contact Crime Stoppers on 1800 333 000 or online at (www.crimestopperssa.com.au).

Strong stance taken against extreme speeders

A powerful message was sent to road users who drive at excessive speeds last week, with the public crushing of a car last Friday that was involved in an incident in January.

A Holden Commodore ute owned by a 20-year-old learner driver convicted of driving at 253kph, driving in a dangerous manner, breaching of learner's permit, driving an unregistered motor vehicle, and drug driving earlier this year was impounded, publicly crushed into scrap and sold, with proceeds forwarded to the Victims of Crime Compensation Fund.

The driver was sentenced to prison for one year, four months and 28 days, where, following his release, he will be disqualified from driving indefinitely.

Officer in Charge of the Traffic Services Branch Superintendent Darren Fielke said this was a warning for all motorists.

"This is what motorists driving at extreme speed on our roads can face – jail, having your vehicle crushed and sold for scrap metal, and a disqualification from driving," he said. "The behaviour of every motorist impacts the safety of every other road user. "Road trauma has catastrophic effects on families and communities, and we cannot tolerate drivers who blatantly disregard that responsibility."

An amendment to 19ADA of the Criminal Law Act in 2021 empowers a magistrate to disqualify or suspend a driver's licence, and sentence a driver to a term of imprisonment between three to five years for basic and aggravated offences.

In addition, Section 20 of the Criminal Law (Clamping, Impounding and Forfeiture of Vehicles) Act 2007 empowers the Police Commissioner with making a decision regarding the method of disposal of vehicles forfeited by the court, including the option to sell or crush.

Minister for Police Joe Szakacs said the new laws have more serious penalties for dangerous drivers.

"These measures are necessary to protect dangerous drivers from other drivers on our roads and from themselves," he said. "Hooning is not an innocent act. "A stark reminder of this fact is seen in the state's road toll."

A learner driver's Holden Commodore was publicly crushed as a warning for other motorists who drive at excessive speeds.

Two drivers reprimanded over traffic offences

Two drivers were caught committing traffic offences by Murray Mallee police last week.

On Sunday, a 66-year-old Beverley man was detected driving at 150km/h in a 100km/h zone on Langhorne Creek Road, Mulgundawa.

He was issued a $1939 fine and nine demerit points.

The following day, police stopped a 50-year-old Murray Bridge woman driving on Christian Road, where checks later revealed she was disqualified from driving. She was report for driving while disqualified and will be summonsed to appear in Murray Bridge Magistrates Court at a later date.

Car hits guard rail on Long Valley Road

By Giorgina McKay

Two people have walked away without injury after crashing into a guard rail near Gemmells last Tuesday.

At about 6.45am on August 15 Country Fire Service and State Emergency Service crews, SA Police, and SA Ambulance Service were called to Long Valley Road after a car hit a guard rail and left the road.

No one was injured.

Murray Bridge teenagers arrested over police pursuit

Two teenagers were arrested after a short pursuit at Murray Bridge in the early hours of last Wednesday morning.

At about 2am on August 16 police patrols attempted to stop a Toyota Kluger being driven on Adelaide Road, but it continued for about 300 metres before coming to a stop and two occupants ran from the vehicle.

Checks revealed the car had been stolen a short time earlier from a Murray Bridge address.

Murray Bridge police patrols, with the assistance of Mount Barker, PoAir and Dog Operations, located the suspects at a nearby address where they were swiftly arrested.

A 14-year-old and 17-year-old boy, both from Murray Bridge, were charged with illegal use and driving offences.

The teenagers were also charged with further offences for outstanding matters, including serious criminal trespass, theft, breach of bail, and driving offences.

Both were refused police bail, and appeared in Adelaide Youth Court the following day.

Time-saving QR code service to aid emergency services

An innovative new medical tool is giving ambos, doctors, and nurses instant access to a patient's detailed health records to help save lives in an emergency.

Australian MedicAlert Foundation (MedicAlert) has collaborated with SA Ambulance Service (SAAS) to launch a new QR Code service worn on medical IDs such as bracelets or necklaces to provide health professionals with instant access to a patient's critical medical information, including age, allergies, medical conditions, special devices, medication, emergency contacts, and specialised care instructions, in an emergency.

Health Minister Chris Picton said this will be a valuable tool to help ambos save more lives.

"Time matters in an emergency," he said. "The sooner our ambos and clinicians can gain access to vital medical information, the better likely outcome for a patient."

MedicAlert's QR Code service is the only Australian medical ID service that has partnered with an ambulance service to determine not just what information is required in emergency situations, but how it's best relayed to support their critical time-sensitive work.

The QR Code service is currently being rolled out nationally, with a strong initial response from both MedicAlert members and ambos during the pilot phase.

"Many Australians will be familiar with the iconic MedicAlert medical ID bracelet, as MedicAlert become Australia's most trusted provider of emergency medical information for 52 years," MedicAlert Chief Executive Officer, Chris Radbone, said.

"With the evolution of health data and technology, we are now introducing a QR Code service that makes essential health information available instantly from anywhere in the world.

"This major update to our services provides every MedicAlert member with hidden or chronic health conditions with the ultimate protection via our unique QR technology.

"This QR Code service – a digital reimagination of MedicAlert's market leading service – is available to existing and new members at no additional cost outside of a one-dollar-a-week annual service fee."

Safety upgrades planned for Wellington Road

A Highland Valley road is among 17 dangerous crash sites set to undergo fully funded upgrades to boost safety, and reduce serious injury and death across the state.

Under the Black Spot Program, the Federal Government has committed $5.9 million to introduce safety measures such as traffic signals and roundabouts at locations where a number of serious crashes are known to or are at risk of occurring.

One of these locations is a 3.1-kilometre section of Wellington Road, which received $781,000 for shoulder sealing, curve widening, audio tactile lane marking, delineation improvements, and installation of guide posts and guard rail.

"We welcome the opportunity to partner with the Australian Government to ensure our road network in South Australia is safer by targeting the worst accident spots one by one," Minister for Infrastructure and Transport, Tom Koutsantonis, said.

"We're pleased to be involved in this ongoing program, which will improve safety right at the places where it's needed."

Vietnam veterans honoured at local services

By Georgina McKay

A moment of pause and reflection was observed by Goolwa and Macclesfield communities last week to commemorate the bravery, teamwork and endurance service men and women displayed during the Vietnam War.

Vietnam Veterans Day is observed on August 18 each year, acknowledging the more than 60,000 brave Australians who served in Vietnam.

This year's commemoration services were particularly significant as this year marks the 50th anniversary of the end of Australia's involvement in the Vietnam War.

The Goolwa RSL Sub-Branch held its own service last Friday at the clubrooms, where President Howden Jennings reflected on the history behind the date.

"The battle of Long Tan was a significant moment in Australia's war in Vietnam," Mr Jennings said.

"On the third anniversary of Long Tan – August 18, 1969 – a cross was raised on the site of the battle by the men of the Sixth Royal Australian Regiment.

"Veterans of the battle gathered at the cross to commemorate the fallen, and the day was commemorated by them as Long Tan Day.

"In 1987, Prime Minister Bob Hawke announced that Long Tan Day would be known as Vietnam Veterans Day.

"As the first significant engagement by the first Australian taskforce and the single most costly encounter of the war for Australians, the anniversary of this battle was generally accepted to be an appropriate day of remembrance."

Other battles during the war were also reflected on during the Goolwa service.

Additionally, the negativity and criticism veterans faced upon returning home was highlighted.

"In the early years, Australia's participation in the war was not widely opposed," Mr Jennings said.

"But as the commitment grew, conscripts began to make up a large percentage of those being deployed and killed, and as the public increasingly became to believe the war was being lost, opposition grew until in the early 1970s, more than 2000 people marched in the streets of Australia's major cities in protest.

"Unlike the previous generations of Australian service men and women, those who returned from Vietnam did not find acceptance from the wider community readily forthcoming.

Garry Bridle and Reg Bichel commemorating Vietnam Veterans Day at Goolwa on August 18.

"On Vietnam Veterans Day, we pause and reflect on the bravery, teamwork and endurance that Australians displayed throughout the war, (and) honour all our veterans who lost their lives during battle, returned home wounded, ill or injured, lost their lives in the years since they returned home, and still carry the physical and emotional scars of their service."

Veteran Robert Marshall also shared his reflections on the Vietnam War.

Wreaths were then laid, The Ode was played and a minute's silence observed, before barbecue and bar facilities followed.

On Saturday, Macclesfield RSL Sub-Branch also held a service at the Macclesfield Anzac Memorial Gardens.

Between 150 and 200 people turned out for the commemorations, including Member for Mayo Rebekha Sharkie, Member for Heysen Josh Teague and Mount Barker District Council Mayor David Leach, and veterans from Adelaide through to the South Coast.

Following the service, Ms Sharkie and Macclesfield RSL Sub-Branch Vice-President Neil Wright unveiled the new memorial dedicated to people who did national service.

"It was great to give that cohort some long-overdue recognition because people that did national service are often overlooked in commemorations, and particularly, when it comes to memorials," Macclesfield RSL Sub-Branch President, Dennis Oldenhove, said.

"It's a bit of an unspoken part of our history and we wanted to change that, so now there's a place in the Adelaide Hills for all national service men, which is great to have."

Numerous people also shared their thoughts and memories, and wreaths were laid by dignitaries and veterans.

Letters to the Editor

Protect our producers

A few weeks ago, the Labor Western Australia Government learned a valuable lesson in trying to push through laws that affect food producers.

The Aboriginal Cultural Heritage Act came into effect on July 1, 2023, with very little consultation with those it impacted the most.

The WA Government has since stated it will overturn the Act, hopefully, ending the fiasco.

Agriculture in Australia is currently under siege from new legislation and regulations proposed by State and Federal Governments indifferent or outright hostile to the interests and needs of this vital sector.

This is despite continuous price rises in food, with inflation hurting everyday Australians.

We see it in recent federal changes to immigration schemes in the march towards net zero, with little regard to our primary producers, in the continued erosion of our R&D capacity and in a willingness to burden the sector with additional red tape.

In 2023 primary producers face a range of increased costs from decisions made by government departments within the state and in Canberra.

Recently, the horticultural industry has talked to me about 'accelerated greenwashing' being forced on the producers of our food and fibre, which is causing a lot of concern.

They're advised to eliminate things like industrial wrap used to keep products safely on a pallet, but without a readily available alternative.

They're told to avoid styrofoam crates, but no insulated credible option exists without risking produce damage.

They're encouraged to adopt solar, but as soon as they buy and install solar panels on their packing sheds, the connection and network costs skyrocket up to 30 per cent.

It's not just electricity that is up, agricultural fertilisers, chemical costs, fuel, and labour costs are up.

For industries like fresh produce which generally operate on one to five per cent margins, every cost to our farmers translates to increased costs for the consumer.

Industry is begging for a pause on rapid changes until affordable technology is available, and I think they deserve to be heard.

We can't expect small business packers to buy costly equipment to change their production methods overnight, especially when they know new packaging will result in a huge increase in accelerated spoilage.

Agriculture has long-excelled in adopting technological innovations.

This industry embraces tech and innovation, pioneering waste re-purposing and holistic plant solutions, but what is unhelpful is aggressively mandating change without consultation.

The industry will thrive when they are part of the solution, not viewed by city academics and pen-pushers as the bulk of the problem.

Governments needs to show some respect for our food and fibre producers, and the communities they support.

We need an orderly transition to ensure technology and our producers can keep up and – conversely – prices stay down for consumers.

In the current cost-of-living crisis governments of all levels need to get serious about supporting primary production and other sectors, which are the lifeblood of our community and economy.

To continue pressing ahead with policies which add burden to our primary production sector is inexcusable in the current climate, and reflects a lack of understanding of the key issues facing our famers.

Opposition spokesperson for Primary Industries and Regional SA,
Nicola Centofanti

AUKUS joint committee
needed

The AUKUS defence agreement will be a step change for the South Australian economy, creating a pipeline of thousands of jobs for decades to come.

Being able to see the entire naval shipbuilding supply chain in the UK first-hand has reinforced for me the opportunity that exists for our state.

Throughout the AUKUS agreement it is critical we have non-stop naval shipbuilding in South Australia, from the Life of Type Extension for all six of the Collins Class fleet, the hunter frigates, right through to the construction of nuclear-powered submarines.

This is going to involve a significant transition of our workforce to develop the necessary skills to build and maintain these hugely complex machines.

A bipartisan Parliamentary Joint Committee, similar to the one already established in the UK, will ensure South Australia is putting its best foot forward when it comes to making the most of this opportunity.

The Opposition raised the idea of a joint committee back in March, and I am calling on Peter Malinauskas to support this when parliament returns in September.

It's time to have a sensible conversation about nuclear energy after hosting a roundtable in London attended by experts from across the UK.

With nuclear submarines to be built in South Australia, it is also an opportune time to have mature conversations about the role nuclear energy could play in Australia in the future.

Strathalbyn
comes alive

The Strathalbyn region came alive with a smorgasbord of events for locals and visitors to attend over the weekend.

Be it the town's Antiques Fair, Treasure Market or Langhorne Creek's Cellar Treasures festival – that wound up on Sunday with its Hangout at the Hangar – organisers have been pleased with the numbers attending.

Some of these events have been running for many years.

The Antiques Fair, for example, has been a fixture in the town for more than 30.

This festival season, along with the long-standing events have been newcomers such as the Hangout at the Hangar – which attracted a pleasing 250 people.

Planning for events such as these – whether they be new or long-running – can be a year-round effort, normally undertaken by hard-working volunteers who fit the planning in-between jobs, family, sport and other commitments.

Seeing those numbers come through the gate or doors is the reward for long hours of preparations, and no doubt many sleepless nights.

Local businesses benefit from foot traffic, and accommodation facilities benefit from visitors keen to spend some time in our beautiful region.

Thus the events become whole-town endeavours, with the region's well-known warm hospitality on show for all.

There is no doubt that COVID decimated long-running community events, as organisers have almost had to start again from the beginning.

But as Treasure Market Convenor Craig Maidment revealed, things are looking up.

For his event stallholder numbers were up from 40 in 2022 to 66 this year – and he now has 101 people on his stallholder database that can be contacted for next year.

The events might be over, but it won't be long until planning will begin all over again.

Organisers will have taken home pride in their endeavours, but also ideas for next year.

Congratulations on a bumper weekend, and here's to next year.

Goolwa Oval Precinct project moves to next stage of works

Construction on the next stage of Goolwa Oval Precinct works is steadily progressing and on track to meet the project's early 2024 completion date, with a new seven-compartment public toilet the latest of the facilities to be completed.

The toilet cubicles opened earlier this month, while work on three additional tennis and netball courts, four cricket practice nets, and storage sheds is ongoing.

Construction will soon start on the redesigned and relocated Goolwa Lions Club's book shed facing Wildman Street, and attention will turn to the landscape provision of shelters, park furniture, a playground, and improved open green space.

Alexandrina Council Chief Executive Officer Nigel Morris said the $4.5 million stage of the total $8.2 million project – which is 70 per cent grant funded – is on track to deliver a high- quality sporting and recreational facility for the region.

"We started the winter sporting season with the completion of the multi-function scoreboard, the installation of audio-visual equipment in the facility, AFL specification goal posts, and high-standard oval lighting," he said.

"These additions have allowed more groups in our community to use the precinct for multiple sports and community activities.

"The remaining components of stage two are forging ahead, and will be capped off early next year, with the installation of a landscaped boulevard entry statement on Hutchinson Street for pedestrians to promote the precinct as a whole.

"Meanwhile, an advisory group of club representatives and community members, chaired by Mayor (Keith Parkes), are working collaboratively to establish the right management and cost recovery models for all users of this precinct."

Stage one was completed in February 2022, delivering a two-storey, multi-purpose clubroom facility with changerooms, first-aid rooms, umpire spaces, toilets, social spaces, storage, canteen, kitchen, bar, and a spectator viewing area.

Strathalbyn misses out on Ag Town of the Year Award 2023

Strathalbyn has missed out on making it to the finals of the 2023 Agricultural Town of the Year.

The three finalists have been announced as Eudunda, Wudinna and Bordertown.

Selected by a panel of independent judges, the three towns will be visited as part of the judging process, with one ultimately proclaimed the South Australian Agricultural Town of the Year.

The winner will be announced at the Regional Showcase Awards celebration evening on Thursday, November 9, 2023.

The award highlights the important role townships play in supporting advanced agricultural practices, thriving primary industries and regional development through fostering vibrant and resilient economies and communities.

Preventative Road Hazards - Please report them!

The electorate of Finnis is a regional area with a network of roads relied on heavily by community, business, medical, freight, education, recreation, and holiday users.

The condition of the roads in this electorate continue to deteriorate to the extent that it is no longer an inconvenience for commuters, but a road accident waiting to happen.

Potholes are getting bigger and common place due to absent or insufficient essential maintenance. Concerned and frustrated community members are contacting my office daily.

I wrote a formal letter to the Minister for Regional Roads over 5 weeks ago clearly outlining the need for urgent road maintenance. I still haven't heard anything in response. This is simply unacceptable.

The potholes and lack of maintenance is causing avoidable damage to vehicles and constant frustration to our community. There are accidents waiting to happen.

"I urge the community to contact DIT to report all specific road hazards on 1800 018 313 in a united effort to keep the drivers following us, safer."

The cost of living is already a huge pressure to this community, damaging vehicles on a key arterial road such as the Victor Harbor Road is not an additional cost pressure my community needs.

Water Allocation Plan - Time to Evaluate

If you are water user – whether living in a township, a land holder or an irrigator; these conversations are important.

This region is affected by two water allocation plans, the Eastern Mount Lofty Plan and the Western Mount Lofty Plan.

Both plans came into effect in 2013 and ten years on, it is time to see if the plans have achieved what they meant to. Do the Mount Lofty Water Allocation Plans manage the resource?

Is the plan doing what it is supposed to do?

The LandscapeSA community conversations, running from now until the end of September, are the beginning the review process.

There is now data, collected over the last ten years, that means there is better information about water conditions, water use, trends and how the environment is responding.

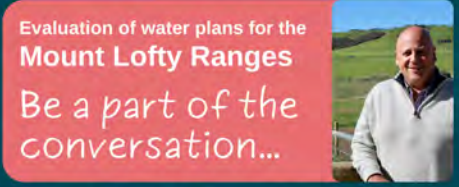

The vision is that the amendments will respond to the changing environment, the needs of community and needs of industry to protect water use for future generations.

Community involvement is crucial to ensure that water allocation plans continue to respond to the changing environment and needs of community and industry, protecting it for the future generations.

Local towns uptaking EVs at rapid pace

Mount Barker and Murray Bridge have been ranked in the top 15 South Australian suburbs and towns for increased uptake in Battery Electric Vehicles (BEVs).

According to new data released by Australian Automobile Association's (AAA), BEVs now account for seven per cent of new car sales in South Australia, with the number of BEVs registered in SA as of January 31 this year increasing by 116 per cent, compared to 12 months prior.

Among the suburbs and towns recording an increase of more than 200 per cent in new BEV sales was Mount Barker in eighth place with a 216 per cent uptake, while Murray Bridge ranked 13th on 200 per cent.

RAA Mobility Technology Specialist, Mark Borlace said growth in EV sales was accelerating and showing no signs of slowing down.

"This data tells us EV sales are now doubling year on year," he said.

"While there's still a relatively small number of BEVs on SA roads, this strong uptake indicates a growing appetite for low emissions vehicles."

The RAA Charge network began rolling out earlier this year, and is on track to be finished next year.

New classrooms arrive at Eastern Fleurieu’s Langhorne Creek campus

By Giorgina McKay

Moving day finally arrived for Eastern Fleurieu School’s Langhorne Creek campus students earlier this month when construction on the long-awaited new classrooms was completed.

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, the R-6 campus is undergoing a $3 million overhaul of its ageing infrastructure, including demolition and replacement of existing learning areas with modular buildings, refurbishment of existing accommodation to create a new administration hub, and stormwater and maintenance works.

After lengthy delays put the project on pause last year, the first stage of the project, which included demolition of some buildings and refurbishment of the Junior Primary house, began in May and reached completion earlier this month, allowing students to move into the “more spacious, light and airy” classrooms.

Head of Campus Les Cameron said students and families were enjoying the new facilities.

“Students and the community are just really amazed,” she said.

“They’ve waited a long time, and are really happy with the outcome.

“They’re much more spacious, a lot more light and airy, and the whole set up is so much easier – Fleetwood did a great job.”

Similarly, Minister for Education Blair Boyer, who visited Eastern Fleurieu’s Strathalbyn and Langhorne Creek campuses last Tuesday, August 15, was amazed by the improvements.

“It was great to be invited by (Member for Mayo) Rebekha (Sharkie) to visit the three Eastern Fleurieu campuses and see some of the great new buildings being delivered, but also some of the improvements still needed to make this unique school as great as it can be,” he said.

“The school is well-led by Principal Ian Kent, and the student leaders I met are destined for bright futures.

“As a former student at a regional school in country Victoria, I know how important it is to support regional students to reach their full potential, and I have visited as many of these schools as I can over the past year-and-a-half to ensure their views are heard by decision-makers in Adelaide.”

The next stage of works is almost ready to begin, and will see the demolition of additional buildings for further classrooms.

“That can happen when administration moves into the ‘house’, which at the moment, (is experiencing) a bit of a hold-up waiting on some finalising of IT services,” Ms Cameron said.

Already the new classrooms have made a difference to the school, creating more space for students and a fresh look for the campus.

Ms Cameron hoped to maintain that moving forward.

“Hopefully, we get some more enrolments and students come out, so that’s exciting,” she said.

“The community is really excited and continues to be involved.

“We get a lot of support from our local hub and our CAC family members are doing an amazing job working alongside us to see this progression come to fruition, but also to help us with anything in the future we might need or like for our school.”

Students find Book Week inspiration in many places

From childhood characters to sporting icons, schools across Alexandrina brought the fun, crazy and wild for the first round of Book Week celebrations.

Eastern Fleurieu's Strathalbyn R-6 campus kicked things off last Friday with a Book Week parade, with many embracing this year's theme of 'Read, Grow, Inspire'.

Eastern Fleurieu's Langhorne Creek R-6 campus, Tyndale Christian School, Macclesfield Primary and Goolwa Primary School followed on Monday, with EFS' Milang and Ashbourne campuses, Goolwa Secondary College, and Meadows Primary School celebrating later in the week.

Grape success for Cellar Treasures festival

By Giorgina McKay

A well-attended Cellar Treasures festival has exceeded expectations, finishing with a highly successful Hangout at the Hangar on Sunday.

This year's festival provided more than 40 diverse events and experiences from 10-plus wineries over the two weekends, including live music in an airfield hangar, an all-ages light show, vineyard walks with some of Australia's best winemakers, and the chance to taste the region's most rare and museum wines.

Attendance across the 10 days exceeded organisers expectations, drawing between 500 and 1000 people cellar doors aside.

Langhorne Creek Grape and Wine Region Market and Events Co-ordinator Jodie Pilgrim was "stoked" with the festival's success.

"Everyone that has been into the region – visited or participated – has commented on how happy and thrilled they are with how it's all gone," she said.

"Cellar Treasures is competing against a tough market at the moment, and I think it's been really good to see people come out, attend, and get behind and support the region.

"It's a credit to all the producers and everybody in the region, their products, and what they do."

The festival wrapped up on Sunday with marquee event Hangout at the Hangar at the Strathalbyn Aerodrome, offering patrons a variety from boutique winemakers and gourmet food producers, live music, and face painting and a magician for the kids.

The family friendly event brought in a crowd of more the 250 people in its first year, and is expected to return in future line-ups alongside Light Up Langhorne Creek.

"The Hangar event was a great way to wrap up the 10 days, and it was a great event attended by all," Ms Pilgrim said.

"We had over 250 people attend, so for a first time event, we're really thrilled with that.

"The Hangar and the lights were definitely stand-outs for us as a region because those two events haven't been done before, and they were really well-received.

"I think they'll only get bigger and better."

Brad Thompson, Aaliyah Thompson and Brooke Hanson are all smiles at Sunday's Hangout at the Hangar at Langhorne Creek.

Magda Whyteman is delighted with the service from Bleasdale Wines' Ebony Christian.

David Whitbourne's "Mail Medal" win last Monday night certainly topped off a big week for the Port Elliot Football Club, having won their first A grade match in four years on Saturday. Whitbourne, in his roving capacity for the Bloods, caught the umpires eye on twelve occasions to score 27 votes, one ahead of Yankalilla ruckman Paul Carpenter, Willunga speedster Ben Baxter next best with 21. Whitbourne was runner up in the "Mail Medal" for Port Elliot in 1992 before having a stint with Mount Compass. James Hoffman from Myponga won the reserves medal, Chris Tanti from Encounter Bay the senior colts medal and Steven Saunders from Strathalbyn the junior colts medal.

Strathalbyn has been rapidly growing ever since the outlying properties of the late Mr. Hooper, Mr. Marchant, Mr. Carruthers and Mr. Allison were surveyed and subdivided. A still further opportunity of extending the residential area of the town is shortly to be offered to the public. The authorities of the St. Andrew's Presbyterian church have made a subdivision of 25 acres fronting the Manse and Bull Creek Roads and after reserving 7 acres with the Manse, which is to be renovated.

On Saturday last a match was fired on the Strathalbyn Rifle Range between the home team and a team from the Langhorne Creek branch. Neither team was very strong but some fine shooting was witnessed. S. Saunders was easily top for the home team with 47 over 400 yards and 44 over 600 yards for 91, with V. Shepherd from Langhorne Creek matching this effort. Langhorne Creek compiled the highest aggregate score to win by 16.

Hills Fleurieu Landscape Board awards project grants

Several Adelaide Hills and Fleurieu Peninsula groups have been awarded grants by the Hills and Fleurieu Landscape Board to help improve the local environment.

The grassroots grants totalling $250,000 will be used for a range of projects targeted at biodiversity, waterways, soil health, climate adaptation, and First Nations' connection to Country.

Board Chair, David Greenhough said the grants help support the outstanding efforts of individuals, volunteers, schools, community organisations, First Nations, and not-for-profit groups.

"So many people in the community are doing great work to improve the environment – often in their own time," he said.

"This year's funding will support many different projects, ranging from protecting pygmy possums and rare birds, helping more farmers adopt regenerative agriculture, and fencing off fragile watercourses and vegetation from stock.

"We hope these grants will encourage and support their fantastic work."

Among the successful recipients is Kanmantoo-Callington Landcare Group for its project, 'Greening the Bremer', where volunteers and landholders continue fencing properties on the Hills Fleurieu side of the Bremer River.

The grant builds on the group's impressive work so far, including fencing substantial sections of both sides of the river, and planting 14 hectares of native plants.

Other local grant recipients include:

- Mount Compass Area School for its Mount Lofty Ranges Southern Emu-wren Habitat Expansion Project, which looks to increase the area of suitable habitat for the nationally endangered bird.
- Goolwa to Wellington Local Action Planning Association Inc. for its 'Grassroots Groups – Supporting Uptake and Scaling of Regenerative Farming in the Eastern Mt Lofty area' project, which looks to engage two experts to attend farm walks to support specific management issues with the group, and support co-ordination.
- Finnis Catchment Group to protect a section of Finnis River and maintain riparian improvements.
- Macclesfield Bushcare Group to protect and enhance native vegetation and freshwater ecosystems along the Angas River and tributary in two Mount Barker Council reserves – the Lord Robinson/Crystal Lake Park and Night Paddock reserve.
- Yundi Nature Conservancy to engage regenerative agriculture and swamp management networks across the Fleurieu, and publicise the opportunity.

The Southern Argus wishes to make a clarification to the story 'Waving goodbye: Strathalbyn swim school changes ownership' printed in last week's Southern Argus. The quote "Our hydro pool is at Victor Harbor" should be interpreted as 'the closest hydro pool available to us is at Victor Harbor'.

Conveyancers vs Surveyors:

Navigating Property Transactions in South Australia

When it comes to real estate transactions in South Australia, two crucial professionals often take centre stage: conveyancers and surveyors.

While both play essential roles in ensuring a smooth property transaction, they each have a unique set of skills and expertise.

Conveyancers: Legal and Administrative Aspects

Conveyancers are legal professionals who specialise in property transactions.

They focus on the legal aspects of buying and selling real estate.

Their primary role is to facilitate the transfer of property ownership from the seller to the buyer.

In South Australia, a conveyancer's responsibilities include:

1. Document Preparation and Review: Conveyancers draft and review legal documents, including contracts of sale and property transfer forms. They ensure that these documents adhere to all relevant laws and regulations.

2. Title Searches: They conduct thorough title searches to verify the property's ownership and identify any encumbrances or restrictions that might affect the transaction.

3. Due Diligence: Conveyancers perform a meticulous investigation to uncover any potential issues that could impact the property's value.

4. Settlement Coordination: Conveyancers facilitate the settlement process, ensuring that all financial and legal obligations are met by both parties. They also liaise with banks and financial institutions to ensure a smooth transfer of funds.

5. Stamp Duty and Taxation: Conveyancers calculate and manage stamp duty payments and other taxes associated with the property transaction.

Surveyors: The Physical Aspects

Surveyors are professionals who specialise in evaluating the physical aspects of a property.

They play a crucial role in assessing and mapping boundaries and a property's characteristics.

In South Australia, surveyors are responsible for:

1. Boundary Identification: Surveyors measure and identify property boundaries, ensuring that they align with legal descriptions.

2. Land Division and Subdivision: They ensure that new parcels of land adhere to zoning and regulatory requirements.

3. Site Analysis: Surveyors evaluate the topography, soil conditions, and other physical attributes of a property. This information can be crucial for development and construction projects.

4. Building Setout: Surveyors assist builders by marking out the precise location for foundations and structures on the property, ensuring they adhere to plans and regulations.

5. Easements and Encroachments: They identify any easements or encroachments that might affect the property, providing valuable information to both buyers and sellers.

6. Height and Level Surveys: Surveyors perform height and level surveys to determine the elevation of land, which is vital for flood risk assessments and construction projects.

Collaboration for Successful Transactions

While conveyancers and surveyors have distinct roles, their collaboration is often crucial for a successful property transaction.

Conveyancers rely on surveyors' findings to ensure the accuracy of legal documents and verify property details.

Surveyors benefit from conveyancers' expertise to ensure that the property transaction adheres to all necessary regulations.

They work together on land divisions; Surveyors complete the groundwork, planning and approval process; Conveyancers complete the legal paperwork to create new titles.

While conveyancers handle the legal and documentation aspects, surveyors focus on the physical attributes of the property. Together, they ensure that buyers and sellers can navigate the complex world of real estate with confidence and clarity.

Nine money mistakes people make in retirement

How to keep your finances on track once you leave the workforce

When you’ve worked hard all your life to build up your nest egg, the last thing you want to do is fritter it away too quickly.

In this article, we look at the common money mistakes people in retirement make, and how you can do your best to avoid them.

1. Not taking control of your super
It’s important to know what your options are for getting access to your superannuation when you retire.

You can take it as a lump sum, an allocated pension or an annuity.

To find out more about accessing your super speak to us to determine what’s right for you.

2. Not knowing your entitlements
Don’t make the mistake of not knowing what payments you’re eligible for in retirement.

This may include government benefits, such as the age pension, carer’s allowance or disability support through to concessions on health and travel.

3. Spending like you’re still working
Dipping into your savings or your super money regularly will soon whittle away your hard-earned savings.

Find out about ways to manage your money in retirement to help you free up your cash flow and keep an eye on your expenses.

4. Not managing your investments
Just because you’re retired, doesn’t mean you should be complacent about your investments.

It’s important to consider your personal situation. If you have investments feel free to contact us.

5. Not managing your debts
Consider all your options for reducing your debts, as you may not have enough funds to last you through your retirement.

Be careful about paying too much interest on your debts.

If you need to pay off your home loan, make sure you’re aware of how selling your home or investment property affects your entitlements.

6. Spending your retirement savings on the kids

If you plan to give money to your children (or grandchildren) to help them financially, be aware of how gifting or going guarantor might affect your tax and your lifestyle in retirement.

7. Letting your insurance lapse
It’s tempting to reduce your outgoings in retirement by cutting back on things like insurance.

But before you do, consider whether you could cut back in other ways first.

8. Taking expensive holidays

Make sure your choice of destination fits within your overall budget, bearing in mind you need your money to last the distance in retirement.

9. Buying a new vehicle
When you retire it’s very tempting to use your super to buy a new car to last you through your retirement.

If you’re serious about watching where your money goes, you might want to think about making your current vehicle last a bit longer, but you’ll need to weigh up the maintenance costs versus buying another one.

Your retirement is in your hands, so try to make the most of the money you’ve got and invest wisely to make it last.

But don’t forget to take care of your health to give yourself the best chance of going the distance in retirement.

Young Roosters' efforts highlighted at end-of-season presentations

The room was packed for the Strathalbyn Football Club's U14 and U17 Girls joint end-of-season presentations last Thursday night. A small crowd gathered at the oval clubrooms to support the two sides as they celebrated the end of the 2023 season, which presented some challenging moments. U17s Best and Fairest went to Charlotte Collins, who also received the Club Culture Award, with Marley Tape coming runner-up. Best Team Person was presented to Lily Jenke, Most Improved to Brooke Goslett, and Coaches Award to Michaela Reed. The club thanked coaches Paul Jenke and Tessa Grant for their efforts throughout the year.

Most Improved Player Brooke Goslett.

Best and Fairest Charlotte Collins and Runners Up Marley Tape.

Coaches Award winner Michaela Reed.

Best Team Person Lily Jenke

Tigers no easy push over for Roosters

By Perry Jones

If the Roosters were looking to push the Tigers aside easily last Saturday at Yankalilla, they couldn't, needing to earn their 31-point win in greasy conditions.

It was lucky the game even got a start when a second serious injury, this time late in the reserves game, to Rooster Joss Gilbert caused some delay with the A Grade game getting started in misty rain only minutes before time limits on a start would have cancelled the match.

With the fog-like conditions, the Roosters did start out as if it was going to be a piece of cake to roll the Tigers, with Welk on his way to winning all the taps in ruck, enabling the Roosters to get a head start on the Tigers.

Simounds was on a roll early when O'Grady and Fox set him up for the first goal, and then with Machin drifting down from defence, set him up for another.

Not to be daunted, the Tigers then started to generate forward movement through Weir, Tyllis and Jesse Fitzgerald to get their first goal for the game when a Clark pass set Travis Bartlett up for the desired result.

The Rooster defence then had to lift their effort through Pegler and the solid rebound work from Tucker, while on or off the ball, as the Tigers kept on running the ball forward to have the next goal on the board when Tyllis picked up the crumbs to make no mistake.

The Rooster, relying on attacking efforts from O'Grady and Butler then added another major through Simounds again set up by Machin, but the Yank defence was tightening things up through Kay, Major and Luke Bartlett, as they took control away from the Roosters to see a good snap by Ker go through the big sticks.

He then followed this up by trapping the Roosters, holding the ball for another full pointer.

The Tiger supporters were right into the game, seeing their team use a very slight breeze, for Smith to bang on another full pointer before the Roosters realised this was not going to be an easy day, and needed to stop over-using the ball and get stuck into trying to work their way back to at least level terms.

This they did when Simounds set Godfrey up got a goal, followed by some effective hand ball by Jake Stafford and Simounds setting Marc Elliott up for a goal, leaving the scores level at the first break, 5-1 each.

The Roosters, despite some solid tackling by the Tigers forcing them into errors, had Godfrey, O'Grady and Jake Stafford setting up attacking chances, while Tucker and Edwards were diving in to clear the ball from the scrummages.

It still wasn't that easy for the Roosters to score, with the Tigers' Kay, Luke Bartlett and Whittlesea doing well in defence, even showing some good passages out of the Roosters' attacking zone, but they had nothing much on offer up forward to counter the Rooster defence being led by Pegler.

The result was that the Roosters gradually built on their lead when O'Grady was able to run through the pack to goal, followed by Simounds in picking up a free, and was able to get the handball to Fox who brought up the two white flags.

Thanks to a free, Elliott had another goal on the board for the Roosters, and Hodgson, after taking a handball from Simounds, hit the post.

The Tigers had tried hard to set up attacking moves through Clark and Weir with a bit of support from Parsons and Wakely, but their only goal came near the end of the term when Jack Fitzgerald dodged traffic to make no mistake, with them going in at half-time 13 points down.

The Roosters continued to start the quarters off best when O'Grady, taking the handball out of the pack, was on target to raise the two white flags, as Welk carried on his merry way in ruck, while Elliott, Tucker and Fox lifted their involvement in the game.

It was Tucker and Yeatman combining to see Elliott dob the next goal for the Roosters, but the Tigers rebound work from Parsons and Travis Bartlett, while Kay kept tight tags on Simounds, was giving them a chance to fight their way back into the game.

Ker, before getting a yellow card, was able to set Smith up for a Tiger full pointer, as the Roosters saw Pegler, Machin and Mundy needing to work overtime to limit the attacking damage being caused by the Tigers' Clark Weir, Jesse Fitzgerald and Tyllis.

The Tigers kept battling away, and also got the only other goal for the term when a down-field free, as Jack Fitzgerald was dumped by Fox, enabled Travis Bartlett to shoot accurately.

While the Roosters dropped easy marks and their switching the ball from side-to-side failed to open up play, they only kicked behinds for the rest of the term, with O'Grady hitting the post and the Tigers also off target, with behinds to Gerber and Travis Bartlett from a kick off the ground, as they trailed at the siren by 15 points.

The Tigers were still a show off, upsetting the Roosters as the final term began, and they supplied plenty of resistance through Parsons, Luke Bartlett, Jack Fitzgerald and Kay, but their attacking moments set up by Clark, Tyllis and Weir was poorly directed, quite often seeing their kicks go straight to Rooster players.

In contrast, apart from messing things up as they have done all season with short passes in defence, it was rebound work by O'Grady, still directing the ball to advantage for the Roosters, with back up from Machin and Nisbett that allowed the Roosters to stay in their zone for most of the term.

It did take the Roosters some time to get the results on the board from attacking efforts from Elliott, Godfrey, and Pegler, now up forward, but they gradually opened up the margin to make the game safe, and after behinds to Fox and O'Grady, it was Fox kicking their first goal guided through by Simounds.

Then with Welk still dominating terms in ruck, the Roosters saw Simounds at last shrug off his opponent to convert a Duffield pass, while the Tigers' Ker was in trouble again with the umpires, this time getting a red card to hit the showers early.

The Roosters put the sealing goal on the game when Godfrey gathered in the crumbs to make no mistake.

But the Tigers did have the last goal kicking say in the game when a Machin short pass came unstuck for Hogben to be let in for a full pointer, while the Roosters finished off the game with behinds to Simounds and Hoffman.

Victor Harbor v Mt Compass - A Grade

Compass welcomed Victor on a wintry day to celebrate a favourite club's son, Tom Pinyon's 200th game, and Compass was very keen to grace his day with a win.

Josh Orken, having worked his way back from injury, was playing his first A Grade game for Compass.

Victor, kicking to the northern end, were the first forward, having scrapped the ball out of centre.

With determination, Hooper ran the ball out to Hicks on the wing in a desperate effort to get the ball to Pinyon, but it was Z Vitkunas who snapped the first goal of the game.

Hicks followed soon after with a long boot from 50 metres.

With the drizzle setting in, the players on both sides were finding gripping the ball difficult, hampering the chances of a clean, open game.

The ball was held in the Compass forward zone, giving Hicks the chance to goal from a soccer.

Z Vitkunas, capitalising on hard work across centre, squeezed a ripper off break goal from tight on the boundary 30 metres out.

Compass were throwing all they had at the highly favoured Victor unit, with hard work on the ball and fierce tackling.

Simons and T Vitkunas were instrumental in leading the way early, while Dowling and J Cooper did all they could to get Victor moving.

Quarter time scores were Victor 0-0 to Compass 4-4.

The quarter opened as vigorously as the first quarter ended.

Victor were now putting their stamp on the game and finding clear open spaces.

They were unlucky not to score within the first minute, as they were now playing with more purpose.

However, seizing the opportunity to clear through Heatley, Compass worked the ball forward through Connor, passing on to a very mobile Nash for the first goal of the quarter.

Capitalising on a shepherding error, Victor finally opened their goal tally from Dowling giving their scoreboard appearance a better countenance.

Given the benefit of a tussling match deep in the forward line, McKinnon brought up Victor's second goal in quick succession.

Through hard work from the Compass backs, McKenzie, Creek and T Vitkunas, Z Vitkunas got the ball to Pinyon with a nicely weighted pass to bring up the equaliser for the quarter and return Compass to a four-goal lead.

Nash and Heatley were handy for Compass, livening up the game wherever they went, while McKinnon and Bartram inspired many Victor initiatives throughout the quarter.

Half-time scores were Victor 2-4 to Compass 6-5.

Misty rain persisted as the second quarter commenced.

Compass scrambled the ball forward but Victor were able to defend effectively.

Wanting to keep the game Compass' way, Creek, defending well with a decisive rebound, got the ball to Pinyon, marking with strength and goaling from 50 metres out to bring up the first goal of the half.

Not wanting Compass to get too far away, Victor, through the determined efforts of McKinnon, got the ball to Basham who, being fouled in the marking contest, brought up Victor's first goal from 25 metres out.

With only four goals the difference and the benefit of a nor wester in the last quarter, Victor were still very much in the game.

Alas, Connor, sharking the pack, ran into an open goal and scored a major from point blank range.

This was very much due to the efforts of Z Vitkunas, often with the attention of two or three Victor players.

Victor were not letting go of the game and were determined to make the most of their opportunities, but were very unlucky not to goal, as they pushed the ball forward time and time again.

This came to no avail as Compass, determined not to give way, moved the ball quickly to Nash who goaled after a quick Compass exit from defence.

Simons, having weaved his magic around the packs on several occasions, Endersby and Wade, also committed to their task, kept Compass ahead while McKinnon, and Neville, making the most of opportunities across half forward, kept Victor within touch.

Third quarter scores were Victor 3-6 to Compass 9-8.

With the breeze at their backs, it remained to be seen if Victor could take back the seven-kick deficit and bring on the win of the season.

However, Compass were first to go forward due to the hard work of Simons bullocking the ball out of centre.

Victor defence were up to the task of getting the ball to Ross who marked and goaled as a result of a tidy pass from Neville.

The Victor crowd were now getting enthusiastic, as their team worked the ball forward again.

Bartram, finding himself on the end of a lucky free, made no mistake and goaled, putting Victor within reach.

Things were starting to go their way, as players asserted more pressure around the packs, giving them a sniff at retrieving victory!

Utilising wide runners, creating loose men and getting clean touches helped Victor make headway.

The game was now being fought out in tight quarters, as both sides were hard at it.

Compass, with Hunter a kick behind the play, scrambled the ball forward, as every player extracted whatever was left in the tank.

Victor were not laying down, giving credence to their place on the ladder.

With time running out, and Victor working the ball forward, the siren sounded, with Compass clear winners, giving Tom Pinyon the victory he would have wanted for his club, having been with them from a little tacker.

He was chaired off the ground to much acclamation from players of both sides.

McKenzie and Hunter had kept the game in Compass' favour, defending with strength, while Neville did all he could to provide Victor with opportunities to score.

Final scores were Victor 5-8 to Compass 9-8.

Myponga-Sellicks finish strongly

The day was overcast, with the oval wet and slippery, when second-placed Myponga took on fourth-placed Willunga on the Demons' home ground.

The visitors started in fine form, with precision kicks and strong marks.

Cock and Spinks were on the receiving end of their teammates' bold play, and converted within the opening two minutes.

Myponga dominated the next 10 minutes, but despite gettable opportunities, failed to put the score on the board.

Kelly, Kennedy and Chalmers looked dangerous, but their skills let them down in front of goal.

Eventually, Willunga were able to move the ball into their forward lines and Colwell snapped truly.

The Demons lifted their intensity, and eventually a strong tackle by Bowley allowed the on-baller to pinpoint a pass to Redden, who kicked accurately from 40 metres.

Seconds before the quarter-time siren, a free kick to Myponga gave Lang the chance to kick a goal, which he did, and gave Myponga a three-goal lead at the first break.

The second quarter was kick for kick, but Willunga were able to close the gap.

Hutchens got into the game and moved the ball to Renney who scored a major, and then Whitford gave away a free kick for a late bump, which allowed Colwell to run onto a ball down-field and snap his second.

Myponga kept the ball in their forward lines but, again, were unable to kick goals, and this time because the Willunga defence applied greater pressure.

The half-time margin was seven points.

Myponga started the third quarter as they did the first – with two goals in two minutes.

Gilbert kicked the first and then, after skilful work by Proude and Spinks, Butcher marked and kicked accurately.

Willunga steadied and forced the ball forward, where Shirvington and Haskett knocked the ball to Renney in space, who then kicked a major on the run.

From the resulting centre bounce, the Mudlarks responded instantly.

Spinks found space and passed to Chalmers who, with a touch of arrogance, bounced the ball whilst running into an open goal, fluffed the bounce, and was cleaned up by a chasing Willunga defender, but then luckily, recovered the ball and goaled.

Willunga again dug deep and locked the ball in their forward lines for 10 minutes, but Myponga got them on the rebound with slick ball movement.

Whitford ran to space and found Carroll who goaled from a tight angle.

Myponga began the final quarter with a commanding 30-point lead on a wet afternoon, but Willunga grabbed the momentum from the first bounce, thanks to strong ruckwork by Bass.

The Demons kicked five back-to-back goals to level the score at the halfway mark of the quarter.

Bass's dominance brought the Willunga onballers into the game, and the Demons looked dangerous.

Hutchens ran forward, Redden marked and goaled.

Haskett found space and used his long penetrating kick to his forwards' advantage.

Colwell, Brown, Redden and Juckers converted their opportunities and the scores were level, but then Myponga dug deep and locked the ball in their forward lines.

Opportunities presented themselves, despite the strong Willunga defence.

Gilbert kicked a couple of goals and was joined in the final three minutes by two of his teammates to increase their team's lead and make the final winning margin, 26 points.

One-sided game at Hawk Park

On Saturday, the Langhorne Creek Hawks hosted the Goolwa/Port Elliott Magpies in their Round 17 GSFL match. The weather was fine and cool, with a light breeze favouring the scoreboard side of the oval.

The visitors were struggling with player numbers, with the Reserves being played in a 16-a-side game, as Goolwa/Port Elliott had late player withdrawals.

At the first bounce, it was the Hawks' Reichelt taking the ruck against Goolwa/Port Elliott's Dekoning.

From the get go, it was apparent the visitors were struggling to match the home side.

The first goal was marked down to the Hawks' Dominish.

Soon after, it was Helyar kicking his first six-pointer for the Hawks, as the home side dominated the midfield clearances.

The Hawks had dominance across their forward arc, and they added to their goal tally for the term through Kartinyeri with a single, with Clifford kicking two goals as well.

However, the Hawks were wasteful, kicking 10 points in the first quarter.

The Magpie defence line was under all sorts of pressure, with Bottroff taking some good grabs, but was a lone hand in the struggling back six.

Meanwhile, the visitors remained scoreless for the quarter and at the first break, the home side were up 46 points.

The second term belonged to the Hawks, although there was some improvement from the visiting side.

The Hawks had the first two goals for the term through Dominish and Clifford.

It was eight minutes into the quarter before the Magpies had their first score, with Slape marking and kicking truly.

For the visitors, McKinlay and Fry were working hard, but they lacked much assistance, as the Hawks continued along their merry way.

Contributors to the scoreboard were Helyar with two, Clifford with another two, singles to Alex Cleggett, and a further goal to Dominish.

The Magpies kicked their second for the quarter through Fry, but it was all one-way traffic, as they extended their lead to 92 points at the long break.

The third term was a continuation of the previous quarters, with the Hawks piling on another 11 for the term.

Kellock for the Hawks had been a live wire in the pivot, and likewise down forward he booted four goals for the term.

The Magpies were again struggling to get the ball into their forward half, but a good run of down-field play saw Slape mark and kick his second for the match.

This was the last score for Goolwa/Port Elliott on the day, and for the rest of the match they did their best to defend the Hawks' playmakers.

The home side had strong contributors in their forward lines, with Helyar and Clifford giving the visitors grief with their marking.

Blackwell for the Hawks was a ball winner on his half back flank.

At quarter's end, there was a scuffle with a Magpie player getting five minutes on the pine, and Kartinyeri took the free kick, which resulted in a goal.

The final quarter was a non-event, with the Hawks piling on further goals, but not at the rate they had earlier in the afternoon.

The Magpies were again defending as best they could, but they struggled with the Hawks' midfield takeaways.

Once again, the Hawks' Helyar and Clifford were dominant in the Hawks' forward line, with Derham lapping up loose balls in their defensive half.

The Hawks' small men, Bates and Dalitz, were amongst the goal scorers in the final quarter.

It wasn't Magpie Coach Slape's day, as he came off the field after a heavy knock near the end of the game.

At match end, the Hawks recorded a 199-point win against a depleted Goolwa/Port Elliott unit.

The Hawks' winning margin in Round 8 was only 10 points, so there was quite a turn-around since that time.

Although the Magpies stocks were depleted, at least the players that were available on the day gave their best in what was a tough gig.

With Mount Compass winning last weekend, it means the Hawks' slender finals chances are now extinguished.

League

Strathalbyn 30 v Yankalilla 52

In the last game for Strath's season, they were up against the leader of the ladder, so it was always going to be a tough match.

The game was played in great spirits as both teams had lots of fun.

The second and third quarters were very close, however, Strath lacked consistency over the game, and consequently Yankalilla had a good win.

Senior 2

Strathalbyn 34 v Yankalilla 36

This was an important game today, as the result was going to have a big impact on finals positions.

It was an even contest for the whole game, as the two teams went goal-for-goal until the final whistle when Yankalilla had scored crucial goals when it counted.

Senior 4

Strathalbyn 19 v Yankalilla 39

Strath put up a tough fight, with lots of persistence and changing combinations. Yankalilla had some young talent to fill their side, and were too strong on the day.

Senior 5

Strathalbyn 18 v Yankalilla 56

This was a tough game for Strath, where they never gave up.

Strath's defence worked very hard, however, Yankalilla's goalies were accurate.

Thanks to Peyton, Emily and Eloise for filling in.

Senior 6

Strathalbyn 26 v Yankalilla 37

Strath started out strong, winning the first quarter, with some good passages of play.

Unfortunately, Yankalilla were too good in the end, particularly in the second half of the game.

Thanks to Bree and Emily for filling in again, it was really appreciated.

Hurry back, Ash, Matilda and Jane.

Inter 1

Strathalbyn 46 v Yankalilla 18

This was a great game, with perfect shooting, as a result of good movement in the goal circle.

The defensive work from the oppositional end was smothering, and enabled offensive play all the way down the court.

It was a solid win for Strath.

Inter 2

Strathalbyn 45 v Yankalilla 34

Strath made a strong start, winning the first half of the game, however, Yankalilla fought back and won the second half.

Luckily, Strath had worked solidly initially to win the game.

Inter 3

Strathalbyn 44 v Yankalilla 14

This was another strong game by Strath down at Yankalilla, trying a few different goalie combinations, ready for the finals.

Defensive pressure and blocking created turnovers, while the circle defence did a fantastic job keeping Yankalilla to a low score.

The centre court players gave the first option, with some brilliant passes into the goalies.

Well done, Strath.

Inter 4

Strathalbyn Red 42 v Yankalilla 16

Strath worked really well all game, as their pressure on the ball was tough and difficult to get through.

Thanks to Ainsley and Lily for filling in, and assisting in a solid win for Strath.

13 & Under (D1)

Strathalbyn 24 v Yankalilla 11

With a grey day and needing a few fill-ins to help, it was going to be a challenge.

Strath started a bit scrappy, but gradually got into a better rhythm to get a handy lead at quarter-time.

After half-time the game was fairly even, but Strath were the eventual winners.

Thanks to the Division 2 players that helped out without getting injured.

11 & Under (D3)

Strathalbyn 7 v Yankalilla 8

In cool conditions, Yankalilla opened the game with the first goal in a tightly contested, low-scoring quarter.

Strath scored three consecutive goals in the second quarter, and looked to be opening the game up.

Both teams scored two goals in the third quarter and, with missed goals from each side, gave Strath a two-goal lead going into the final quarter.

Yankalilla stormed home, scoring four goals to Strath's one goal, enabling Yankalilla to win by a single goal in the final seconds.

It was a very good game played by all girls on the court.

9 & Under

Strathalbyn (red) v Yankalilla (gold)

Strath girls worked together to play a solid game for whole match, even when changing positions.

Strathalbyn (white) v Yankalilla (black)

Strath players were very disciplined and worked well throughout the game. Well done, girls.

Langhorne Creek Netball Club

U11s Div 2

Langhorne Creek 18 v Goolwa 4

both teams and a dominant performance by all the Creek girls to take a strong win, 82-13.

U13s Div 1

Langhorne Creek 17 v Goolwa 32

Both teams were eager for a win to grab a spot in the finals.

There was a great start by both teams, which saw Creek only down by one.

Goolwa had slick attack, which saw them extend their lead in each quarter.

It was a great game by all.

U13s Div 3

Langhorne Creek 16 v Goolwa 22

Our Creek girls came out strong in the first quarter, all contributing well down the court.

Unfortunately, we ran out of puff and Goolwa were too strong to catch.

Thanks so much to all the U11 girls who have filled in for us this season.

Bella, Charlotte, Carly, Lexy, Darce and Hannah!

Inter 3

Langhorne Creek 60 v Goolwa 25

Inter 2

Langhorne Creek 82 v Goolwa 13

Saturday was a great morning for netball at the Creek as we took on Goolwa. It was a really nice, spirited game by

Inter 1

Langhorne Creek 52 v Goolwa 31

Goolwa started strongly in the Inter 1 game against Langhorne Creek.

Accurate shooting, tight defence and good play set them up for a four-goal lead at the first break.

Through perseverance and pressure, Langhorne Creek were able to turn the game to their favour.

The Creek girls built on a good second quarter, and increased the pace and intensity to finish the game with a good win.

Senior 6

Langhorne Creek 30 v Goolwa 34

On Saturday it was a hard-fought game, with Goolwa's shooters making the best of turnovers in the first quarter, and even through second and third, with Goolwa extending their lead.

It was a good fight back by Creek in the last, with Goolwa finishing the game four up.

Senior 5

Langhorne Creek 54 v Goolwa 27

It was a tough first quarter to be equal with a very competitive Goolwa.

Intercepts by Creek, and steady passes, saw Creek gain confidence and excel in the score.

Goolwa came out in the third quarter to fight back and defend well.

Sharp shooting by Creek kept the score moving, and heading confidently into the finals.

Senior 4

Langhorne Creek 51 v Goolwa 27

Langhorne Creek faced off against Goolwa, with the Creek emerging as the victors.

It was a hard-fought game by both teams, displaying some great play.

Today's game highlighted our teamwork, effort and determination.

Senior 3

Langhorne Creek 41 v Goolwa 37

With almost perfect weather, Langhorne Creek started strong and were leading by 11.

Goolwa inched their way back in the next three quarters to get the scoreline to a very close four goals.

Olivia Snell took multiple intercepts at wing defence, and should be commended for her hard work.

Thanks to everyone involved.

Refereeing from Strathalbyn to Under 14 nationals

By Deirdre Graham

Local basketball referee Thomas Alexander is looking forward to officiating on the national stage in September. Alexander, who is currently studying year 12, has been chosen to referee at the Under 14 Australian Club Championships at Casey Stadium in Victoria for the September 22 to 29 carnival. It will be Thomas's second time officiating at the competition, after a successful debut last year. "This year I feel a lot more prepared than last time, obviously I didn't know what I was going into last year," he said. "This year I have had time to come back and practice what I was given to work on from last year, so I think I will be a lot more prepared." Alexander, who has been officiating on the NBL one level, said the past 12 months had been a chance to work on that skill improvement identified last year. "(I have been working on) a lot of presence on the court stuff, so being a lot more open with players and coaches and showing a lot more confidence that I didn't previously have, and refereeing NBL one has helped with that," Alexander said. "I really like being there for the sport. "Being a referee you get the best seats to some really good games, and you get to meet some really cool people. "I have been lucky enough to make some really good friends over the years, and be part of some really good basketball while I am at it. "I would like to go as far as I can, just keep trying my best, and work as hard as I can with any opportunities I am given." Referee co-ordinator for SA Country Mike Richardson said the Strathalbyn and District Basketball Association talent had the skills and mindset to go as far as he wanted as a referee – wishing him all the best in Melbourne. "When I first saw Thomas as a referee it was probably about three to four years ago, and he has just blossomed as a referee," Richardson said. "He knows what he wants to do, and he was always one that wanted to get better, and always looking for feedback. "He is on the state referee development program, and that gets him to NBL one, which is the highest in the state, and then you would probably go to WNBL and NBL if he wants to. "I always tell all my referees, any referee that starts, that you can go as far as you want to, you just have to do the work – it is hard but you just have to keep doing it."

Congratulations Jess!

Jessica Jones with Mike Howard who will guide her as she begins her coaching journey.

Jessica Jones has a passion for tennis and a strong community spirit that makes her the ideal inaugural recipient of the newly created Goolwa Tennis Club Youth Scholarship. Through this scholarship program, the club aims to provide opportunities for young people to develop a broad range of skills and build their confidence, both on and off the court. Depending on the nominations the tennis club receives, its committee will award at least one scholarship each year. "We want this program to be as flexible as possible and really tailored to the needs of each recipient," Club President, Fiona Lange, said. Jones, a year 11 student at Encounter Lutheran College, was destined to play tennis, with her Mum, Dad and brother all playing the sport competitively. The young sports woman played Division 1 in both juniors and seniors during the 2022-23 summer season and looked forward to doing so again this coming season.

The scholarship will fund Jones to undertake the Tennis SA Community Coaching Course this Spring. The course will provide her with the skills to conduct Tennis Hot Shots sessions for junior players at the Goolwa Tennis Club under the mentorship of Coach Mike Howard. "This means a lot to me because I would have loved to have had a female coach when I was younger," Jones said. "The scholarship also gives me the opportunity to be a small part of increasing the participation and passion for tennis in the Southern Fleurieu." Nominations for next year's scholarship will be called for in June next year and open to both club and non-club members aged between 15 and 24. The Goolwa Tennis Club has memberships available for juniors and seniors in both competition and social play. The club's registration day will be held on Sunday, August 27 from 11am to 2pm at the Goyder Street clubrooms and courts.

Strathalbyn Golf

Adam Furniss takes the honours in Stroke round

By Perry Jones

It was the second qualifying round of the Strathalbyn Golf Club's championship on Saturday, and Adam Furniss came out as the winner of the day.

After the first round of qualifiers the previous Saturday, when only 25 players finished, and with two of the three rounds to count in the qualifications, the numbers swelled to 45 players, with a couple not finishing and now missing a chance to qualify.

Peter McNulty will need to play the third day to qualify as he forgot to sign his card.

Adam Furniss, after struggling in B Grade the Saturday before, is now back in contention to make the cut off in that grade, having 89 off the stick for a nett 71, which was good enough to win the day to place himself into equal fifth best qualifier so far in his grade.

Don Bell, with another good performance in B Grade, with 93 again off the stick for a nett 74, is so far the third-top qualifier from Sean Walsh, with 92 off the stick on Saturday, and Kym Nelson who had 92 off the stick last Saturday.

The other four in the top eight B Grade so far are Damon Mayes, Mark Condon, David Wright, and Alan Haberfield.

In A Grade, only five of them have played two rounds so far and Graeme Noble, after a poor first round, is back in business, winning that grade on Saturday, along with the meat tray.

He is currently in equal third spot with Stewart Glatz.

Nobby, chipping and putting well, had 81 off the stick for a nett 72, with birdies on the second and third, and no other pars until the ninth the first time around, before performing better on the back nine, with conditions for play still being heavy under foot and the wind being present for another Saturday.

Top qualifier in A Grade so far is Kirk Richardson, with two rounds off the stick of 83, Phil Perrin next with rounds of 83 and 86, then Nobby and Stewart Glatz from Geoff Hall to perform well again in their last bid to qualify.

Darryl Holt, who won the previous Saturday, looks a certainty to be the top qualifier in taking out C Grade, with 98 off the stick for a nett 74, so far 13 shots ahead of the other three players who have played two rounds in Mathew Gniel, Cooper Barker and Ken Ponting.

All the rest who played their first round on Saturday have cracked the 'ton'.

Matthew Gniel, who is second at the moment in C Grade, was the sponsor last Saturday, with prizes handed out being umbrellas.

Trevor Calaby was in trouble on the day, with 111 off the stick.

The wind didn't seem to affect the longest drive from Ben Clark, with a big shot into it on the 14th to win the (0-18) prize, nor Andrew Sinclair (19+) on the same hole (fifth) first time around, with the tee off point just in front of the 14th, as his ball was only about two metres behind Ben's.

While it was a bit of a trudge to get around the course, Brian Simpson and Kevin Shepley lost two partners from their round when Dave Pryor, not having been out for some time, felt the strain after nine holes, while Michael Clarke was feeling a bit off and pulled out as well.

Brian and Kevin both raised their bats for centuries, with Brian certainly having trouble around the dam holes, finding the one on the seventh to finish with nine for the hole.

Next time around on the 16th he went even better, this time just staying out of the water, but with his next shot hooking the ball, so it finished up against the boundary fence.

In trying to get off the fence with his putter, Brian only managed to hit the ball a bit further up for the fence to still be in his way onto 10 for the hole.

Alan Haberfield was looking forward to the day's golf, having won on Wednesday with 33 points in a 12-hole Stableford.

But he was brought back to earth last Saturday with 96 off the stick and getting into trouble on the seventh, with his second shot going into the dam.

Having a drop, Alan gave a repeat performance, going into the dam again, and then with yet another drop, managed to hit the ball out of bounds.

Then from another drop, he landed on the green to finish with a 'moose' 10, but still finished ninth place in B Grade.

John Owen had some ups and downs during his round in playing with Geoff Hall and Kingsley Handke.

John thought he was in for a big day, with a par on the first hole, but on the third, John almost had an 'airee' off the tee, just able to clip the top of the ball.

Then, from the 10th tee, he hit the big tree on the left-hand side and didn't even make the fairway.

He then took his time on the 16th fairway to belt the ball in taking a huge swing only to have an 'airee', seeing the club slip from his hands to land some 10 metres in front of him.

During his round, Geoff played some good shots to go through the trees on the second, but finished on the third fairway.

Then the second time around on the 12th, he flirted with the pine trees between the 11th and 12th fairways, this time to finish under them.

On the 16th, Geoff, with another of his long shots off the tee, managed to go through the trees on the left to lose his ball, with his second shot off the tee being another long one, but on the fairway this time.

Kingsley's efforts on the day were just not quite good enough to take the Naga prize off Henry Kelly who had 112 of the stick for a nett 94, and with Kingsley having 113 off the stick for a nett 97.

Kingsley, having played okay with an old ball for the first nine holes, decided it was time for a new one from the 10th, but had a problem after his third shot on that hole which didn't bend as normal, and finished in the drain near the green on the right-hand side.

Unfortunately, the drain was full of water and the ball couldn't be found, so out came another new ball to tee off with from the 11th.

It too had a desire to go into the same drain, as his tee shot hit the clump of tree not far from the tee block on the right and went back into the drain, but luckily, not in as much water this time, so he could play out of it.

Last season's A Grade champion Chris Barker was out for his first qualifying round, having 83 off the stick for a nett 81, while his son Cooper had another good effort in C Grade with 104 off the stick for a nett 76, which won him a ball.

The putting jackpot was up for grabs again, with Kingsley Handke, Graeme Bertholini and Brenton Welk shooting for it, but all missed.

Greg Traeger on his way to winning the TR Off-Rifle Award and Handicap prizes for the day.

Rifle Club competes in Yearly Championship

A small, but dedicated contingent, competed in the seventh round of the Murray Bridge Rifle Club's Yearly Championship on the weekend, from a distance of 800 metres.

The weather was testing, as the wind changed direction from a flickering downrange breeze to a stiff right wind with little warning.

Rising to the challenge was Greg Traeger in TR, who shot a pair of 48s to claim Top Off-Rifle Award, as well as the Handicap Award by half-a-point from daughter Jasmine.

Wayne Halliday had a blistering second round, scoring a 58.03, which, while not enough to secure the Off-Rifle win, finishing second to Ian Elston by a point, was more than enough to claim the Handicap Award for F-Class by a very large margin of 14.4 points from Gordon Harrison.

In a rare occurrence in F-Class, Frank Marshall and Wayne Halliday tied with a bird a-piece, shot at the same time in their rounds, meaning they shared the dubious honours on the day.

Next week, the club travels again, this time to Mount Barker, for the last round of the District Championship.

Strathalbyn Ladies Golf

Kerrie Edwards wins Stableford competition

On Wednesday, August 16, 10 ladies headed out to the Strathalbyn Golf Course to play a Stableford competition.

They had fine weather for the whole game, and were very pleased to beat the forecast rain.

The course was fairing quite well considering the previous few days weather, however, there were still some boggy places, which some of the ladies found to their detriment!

Kerrie Edwards was the winner, with 29 points.

She was followed by Marie Kingsbury on a countback from Mandi Vardon, both with 28.

Di Krutli came next on a countback from Jo Pickhaver, both with 24 points.

Ann Semple was next on a countback from Pauline Walkom, both with 23, and then came Jo Cullen, 21, and Sue Sutton, 17.

Carol Pelle played nine holes for 13 Stableford points.

None of the ladies landed their drives on the ninth hole, so there was no nearest the pin.

Mandi had a birdie on the eighth hole that made up for the trouble she had on the sixth/15th creek hole both times around.

Mandi Vardon, Kerrie Edwards and Marie Kingsbury.

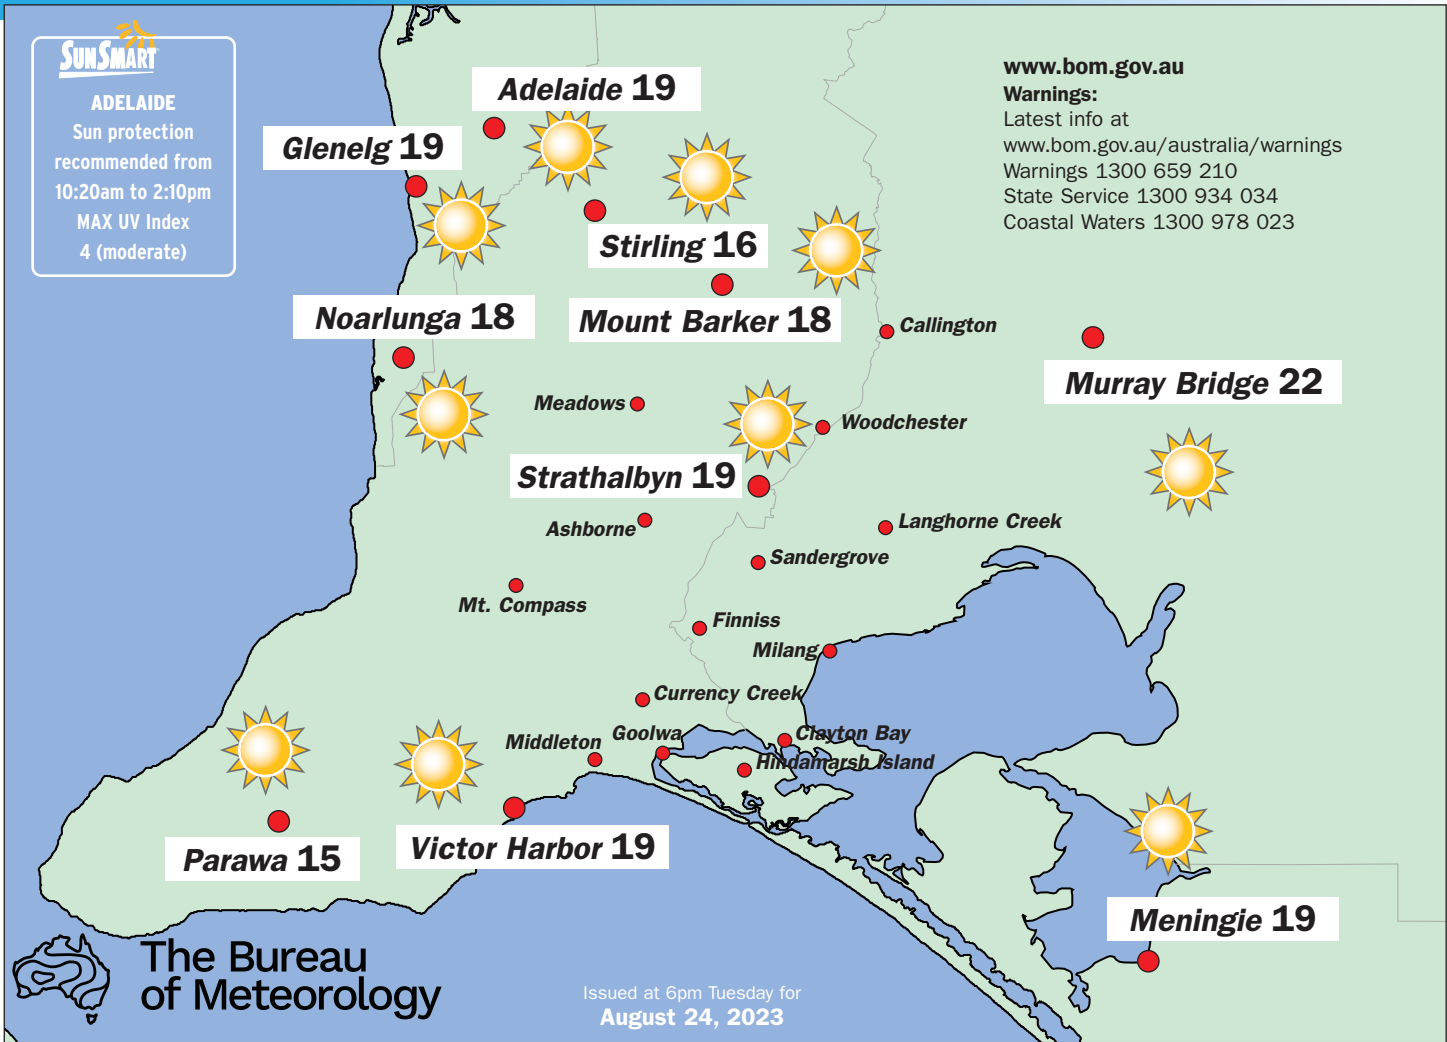

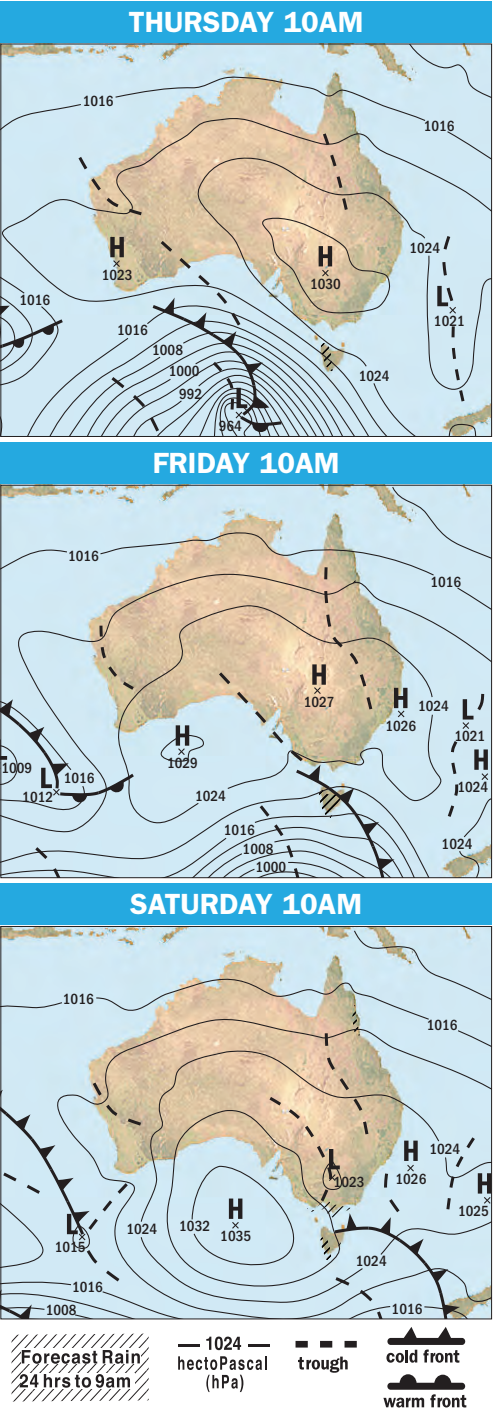

Trouble in the ditch for Jo Pickhaver.
