Employment model expansion hopes to attract more regional doctors...

DOCTOR DOCTOR

By Georgina McKay

More doctors are being deployed to regional practices throughout South Australia through the expansion of an employment model which will hopefully attract and retain general practitioners (GPs) in country areas.

Doctors completing their GP training must usually change private employers for each required training placement, which affects their leave entitlements and other conditions, however, the Single Employer Model (SEM) allows them to be employed by SA Health for up to four years as they finish their rural generalist and general practice training, moving between private and public placements as needed.

After a successful trial in the Riverland, the Federal and State Government are expanding the SEM – which provides certainty around where these doctors work, their income, and employment conditions like work hours, on-call obligations and leave entitlements – with a new four-year trial under way at all regional Local Health Networks (LHN).

Innovative lifesavers receive state award

By Tara Nash

A time saving solution during an emergency designed by Goolwa Surf Life Saving volunteers has earned state-wide recognition.

After years of collaboration with other volunteers and refining, members Matt and Damion Burrage developed a quick-release, tie down mechanism for faster access to rescue boards mounted to the club's vehicles.

The concept was recognised with Innovation of The Year at recent 2025 Awards of Excellence.

"It was a bit of a shock," Matt said.

"It was quite a simple idea and it worked."

The idea was sparked after unnecessary delay and stress during a rescue in 2018 when rescuers dealt with multiple knots.

The brothers – who have been in Surf Life Saving since they were children – researched how other clubs secured their equipment, and found no standard approach.

They found traditional methods not only time-consuming, but also prone to

“ The quicker and easier you can get the board off, the better it'll be for the rescue... ”

failure in emergencies and contributed to equipment damage.

Over six patrol seasons, and in collaboration with other members, the Burrages developed a simple, cheap and easy to use solution – a one-handed, quick-release system without the need for knots, worn straps, and metal clips.

The system – referred to as an Olive shockcord clet – is often used in sailing and is adaptable to any vehicle, affordable and strong enough to withstand high speeds and winds.

Now in use on Goolwa's two rescue boards and spinal board, the system has significantly reduced response times.

"We've been playing with it for a while and we got it to a sweet spot at the moment," Matt said.

"There's been lots of modifications along the way... we've got it to a nice place."

After a double rescue in March this year, members appreciated the efficiency of the new system, which saves seconds during an emergency.

"Seconds do count," Matt said.

"The quicker and easier you can get the board off, the better it'll be for the rescue."

His brother Damion and Club Captain Cassie Wilmot were among five state finalists for Surf Life Saver of the Year.

Meanwhile, the brothers were also among some of the club's most dedicated volunteers last season.

Members who log more than 150 patrol hours in the season 2024/25 were acknowledged.

Across the state, surf lifesavers volunteered more than 90,000 hours, with some donating more than the equivalent of four working weeks to this cause.

Local members who clocked more than 150 hours were Jack Breen, Damion and Matthew, Matthew Ludgate and Cassandra Wilmot.

New hospital expected to meet demand

The state's health minister has dismissed budget and capacity concerns for the new Mount Barker Hospital, saying it's on track to meet the demand and needs of the Hills population.

Construction has officially kickstarted on the clinical services building for the new Mount Barker Hospital.

It's one of the first to be started on the multi-million-dollar hospital which has had its budget steadily increase since the announcement of its build.

It was first estimated to cost $220 million but was pushed out a further $100 million in the 2023-24 State Budget, and then increased once more in the 2024-25 budget to reach a total of $365.8 million.

Health Minister Chris Picton claimed increasing building costs was to blame.

"We've increased the budget to make sure we can deliver the best possible outcome, and there's no doubt that construction costs here and around the world have increased substantially since we started this project," he said.

"We're making sure we're not having to make compromises in terms of what the clinical outcome would be of delivering this hospital... therefore we have made sure the budget means we can deliver what is needed for the Hills."

In addition to budget concerns, questions have been raised about whether the hospital will meet the demand of the growing population by the time it's completed.

According to Mount Barker District Council figures, the local population is expected to increase from 33,000 to 55,000 by 2036.

However, Mr Picton was confident all advice pointed to the hospital meeting that demand.

"All our advice is (that) this meets the needs of the Hills and that's why we're not increasing it by a little bit, we're increasing it by a huge amount," he said.

"Obviously, this becomes a hub for the Hills, so we expect there will be people not just from the Mount Barker community, but neighbouring towns around the Adelaide Hills who will come here for their emergency care, surgery, birthing, and mental health care, and that will mean a lot of people in Strath or other communities in the Hills won't have to go to the city."

"Would this have been better if this had been built a few years ago? Of course, but since we're elected, we're dealing with the situation that's confronted us and that's a hospital that was far too small for the population of the area."

Works kickstarted on first hospital buildings

By Georgina McKay

Construction is now under way on the new Mount Barker Hospital.

Some community services were moved off-site and former buildings demolished to make way for the new build earlier this year, but now construction has officially begun, starting with the clinical services building – the heart of the $365.8 million new hospital.

It will feature new and expanded health services which will ensure Adelaide Hills residents are able to access care closer to home while at the same time easing pressure on major metropolitan hospitals.

The new building will begin taking shape over the next few months, and Health Minister Chris Picton, who was onsite to see the works firsthand last Thursday, was excited to see it coming together.

"This has been a hospital that has been bursting at the seams for many years, but particularly with the massive population growth in Mount Barker, a new hospital is desperately needed," he said.

"Part of the design of the new clinical building is making sure that we can build as part of it a new mental health ward – this will be the first inpatient mental health facility we have in the Adelaide Hills and is going to mean more people can get that care locally without having to go to the city, and more capacity for what we know is a growing area of health demand."

"I remember standing with Dan (Cregan), who sadly won't be the MP when this is complete, at the beginning of 2022, announcing our intention to do this project and it was obviously very early stages then... but to now see this come to fruition is a powerful moment for the whole Hills community."

"There's clearly been a lot of concern from the Hills community for many years that the infrastructure hasn't been there to meet the increasing population."

"I think now we can see an absolute demonstration of what investing in that infrastructure looks like and it is actually happening."

The key part of the clinical building design is to ensure capacity for birthing services and care for families afterwards.

For Mount Barker District Soldiers' Memorial Hospital – which is the fourth biggest birthing centre in the state and has seen a record-high of 69 single-term births in the last month – this will be particularly important.

"Midwifery will include a nursery, so we'll be able to increase the capacity that we serve here," Interim Midwifery Unit Manager, Kate Maxwell, said.

"We'll be able to keep the consumers closer to home – those over 34 weeks and with twins – but we'll also be able to increase our birthing services as well as the neo-natal services, so we'll be able to reduce that pressure off tertiary centres."

The new hospital also complements the emerging health precinct at Strathalbyn.

Between the Strathalbyn Aged Care Facility, the after-hours nurse-led clinic, the soon-to-be-transformed Kalimna Hostel, the independent health hub on High Street, and the Mount Barker Hospital, Hills Fleurieu residents will be able to access a variety of healthcare services.

"We've been doing all our planning work on a sub-regional basis, so we've moved a lot of workforce models instead of being site-specific to be region-specific so we can manage the type of care people need across the region," Barossa Hills Fleurieu Local Health Network Chief Executive Officer, Bronwyn Masters, said.

"What we're seeing at Strathalbyn is a large aged care precinct."

"We've got a six-bed geriatric evaluation management unit which is to support older people return to home after being in hospital – that's achieving amazing outcomes for our consumers – then we've got acute beds at Strathalbyn as well."

"The Kalimna Hostel will be used for outpatients, so we'll see a precinct for sub-acute, less complex patient cohorts, then there's the after-hours nurse-led clinic as well to support lower acuity patients."

"However, if a consumer needs (a) higher (level) of care, they can come to Mount Barker to receive that."

The internal designs for the hospital will be released for consultation for people to provide feedback and input on.

Work is also due to start soon on the hospital's new 654-space multi-deck carpark – up from the former carpark's 431.

The hospital remains on track for completion and opening by the end of 2027.

Once completed, it will triple current inpatient capacity and will be the first newly-built all-electric South Australian public health facility, helping to reduce the state's carbon emissions.

Employment model expansion to attract more regional doctors

“I think if you go anywhere across regional South Australia, they’ll tell you how important it is to make sure we have more doctors, and there’s been a lot of barriers that have caused issues in terms of how we get doctors in the regions,” SA Health Minister, Chris Picton, said.
“Some of those are about the way we employ doctors for their training, so it tends to be that doctors who work in general practice will be effectively self-employed – that means they don’t get leave and a regular salary as opposed to staff who work at SA Health who are on a salary employed basis.
“We’ve been trialling in the Riverland for the past few years what’s called the Single Employer Model which is where we can employ doctors to work between primary care and GP practices and in our hospitals in the region, so they can get all of that training working for SA Health, and then we’ve got a partnership agreement with the GP practices to allow that occur, but also with the Federal Government who would normally block us being able to get the Medicare revenue that patients get through primary care to pay those salaries.
“By working through this, this has been a successful model in developing that training – it’s been really attractive for new doctors to want to be part of that – and we’ve seen the benefit, hence we’re expanding it across the state.”

So far, 57 GP practices have been approved to take part in the new SEM trial across the five regional LHNs, with 11 trainee doctors having joined the trial this year and another two due to join by the end of August.
Among the doctors who are already taking part in the model is Rachel Crook who is a GP Registrar in Mount Barker.
As someone who comes from a rural area and is passionate about rural medicine, the SEM allowed Dr Crook to access her training without losing benefits that come from job security, while also providing professional development opportunities.
She added it also helped her give patients more consistent access to primary care.
“I think it’s a privilege to live and work in a community where you can look after your community and see them as well,” Dr Crook said.
“It’s lovely to have that integration across both general practice and the hospital, where you can look after people across both, and really get that continuity of care.

“You get that real community feel where they’re your neighbours and people around you as well.”
It is hoped the expansion to other areas in the state will result in more trainees remaining in regional areas, leading to better medical support for those communities.
“Not having to be based in Adelaide to do all of those steps of your training means it will be easier for us to be able to have doctors complete that training in the regions without basing themselves in the city,” Mr Picton said.
“We’ve now got this first cohort of doctors out on the field and we’re hopeful this is going to lead to more practices taking this up and a stronger pipeline of doctors coming into regional South Australia.
“We have for a long time been facing a crisis in terms of regional medical workforce, and of course, no one is saying it’s fixed, but we can see this is a real hope on the horizon that is making a difference now.
“The pathway for doctors in terms of training is a long one, but we think this is a really important way of making a difference for those doctors.”
Applications are now open for next year’s intake of SEM trial participants.

Mega shake-up of Mt Barker’s Wallis Cinema complex

By Georgina McKay

In a massive expansion for Wallis Cinemas, the popular movie-based business plans to transform its current Mount Barker site into a function and entertainment complex complemented by a new four-star, five-storey hotel next door.
The Mount Barker complex on Adelaide Road and Dumas Street currently features seven cinema rooms, but under a new development application it would remove two of these to construct a four-storey addition inclusive of a function venue accommodating 360 seated guests, a balcony and associated kitchen, bar and service facilities, eight lanes of ten-pin bowling, arcade, amusement games and a bar, mini golf, laser tag, food and beverage area and a sensory retreat, and storage areas and stage access on the lower ground level.
Meanwhile, next door a five-storey, four-star hotel featuring 100 units/rooms is proposed to be constructed for tourist accommodation.
The ground level includes a hotel lobby and reception area, services and back-of-house areas, as well as under-croft parking and valet.
The development of the cinema building requires the removal of one regulated tree and one significant, and the demolition of a small portion of the existing carpark, while the hotel will need to remove one regulated tree.
Both developments plan to provide further community and recreation facilities and much-needed accommodation for the town.
Residents can have their say on both developments by visiting (https://plan.sa.gov.au/have\_your\_say/notified\_developments/current\_notified\_developments/submission?aid=11256) and (https://plan.sa.gov.au/have\_your\_say/notified\_developments/current\_notified\_developments/submission?aid=11261) before 11.59pm on July 24.

Alexandrina Council passes its budget

By Giorgina McKay

Alexandrina Council adopted its budget on Monday night with some significant changes to its forecasted figures and operating initiatives. The draft 2025/26 Annual Community Plan proposed a 3.05 per cent average rate rise which will remain unchanged, however, the initial 1.8 per cent factored in for rates growth will reduce to 1.4 per cent due to changes to capital values. This reduction has been offset by a reduction in discretionary rate rebates and additional income in Community Wastewater Management Systems (CWMS) fixed charges. The average residential property with 10.7 per cent increase in capital value will experience an increase in general rates of $77 to $2545, while the average primary production property with a 7.5 per cent increase in capital value is growing by $54 to $2812. Additionally, the operating expenditure for the coming financial year has significantly increased from what was previously stated. During the consultation period on the budget, council held four budget roadshow sessions which garnered 103 attendees, and received 37 responses from the MySay website and 17 written submissions. The overriding sentiment from residents was that they appreciated the efforts taken to limit expenditure and put downward pressure on rates, but would like to see ongoing improvements, and have additional projects and initiatives funded. These changes include a season extension for the Strathalbyn Swimming Pool, grants for the Mount Compass Burgess Oval, Goolwa Netball Club and Langhorne Creek Netball Club, a community survey to understand community satisfaction of existing services, increased funding to the contribution program to support community halls, a community trees give away initiative, and internally co-ordinated community consultation on a progressive tree replacement program, which has resulted in an increase of $120,000 to the budget. An additional $1.02 million has also been added to the capital program for the inclusion of stormwater capital works at Middleton and Albyn Terrace electrical works to install power outlets for Christmas Where the Angas Flows and other events, with an offset of $50,000 for a reduction in Lot 10 works. In contrast, council has found information technology savings in software licensing secured with ongoing decreases and in its grant program, and increased its contribution to traffic management costs to reduce the operating expenditure by $170,000. Similarly, the adjustments have reduced the operating deficit from the previous $2.118 to $2.082 million. CWMS service charge for the financial year will increase to $741 for occupied and $547 for vacant – an increase of $16 and $22 respectively from last financial year. Council borrowings as presented have increased to $46.027 million. After months of collaborative workshops between elected members and staff, combined with the work council has done over the past six months to control expenditure, councillors were thrilled to pass the budget. Particularly West Ward councillor Bill Coomans who has failed to support recent council budgets but was quick to back this one. “It was argued last year that we didn’t (listen) – this year I think we really did listen because those that didn’t provide input did have every opportunity to do so,” he said. “The majority of comments showed an appreciation of what we were trying to do, so I think we’ve taken the community with us in relation to this. “We found savings which meant most of the suggestions could be accommodated, and also trimmed some of the budget items. “The last five years I have been here I have not supported one budget because I thought they were all short of the mark. “I was very happy to move this one because I think this is a bloody good budget.” Council also adopted its Long-Term Financial Plan 2025-35, which outlines how council intends to manage its finances over the next decade to ensure it can stay financially sustainable while delivering services and infrastructure to the community. In the plan it addresses the Essential Services Commission of South Australia review released in February, and factors in government grants and funding, inflation, service demand and standards, labour demands, and asset management and infrastructure needs. The plan has been updated since public consultation to include bringing forward $1 million into 2025/26 and $1.025 million into 2026/27 for the Middleton stormwater works. “This is our roadmap,” North Ward councillor, Sue Miller, said. “We can’t think year-to-year. “The Long-Term Financial Plan helps lift our gains and think about what’s coming, and it speaks to intergenerational decisions.”

Mount Barker adopts rate rise

By Tara Nash

Mount Barker District Council formally approved a general rate increase of 3.5 per cent as part of its 2025/26 Annual Business Plan, Budget and Rating Policy on Monday night. This marks the final year of council’s three-year plan to smooth out rate increases over time to help reduce the impact of high inflation on household budgets by avoiding sharp rate increases. The $203 million budget outlines a comprehensive plan for service delivery and capital works, with continued investment in infrastructure, environmental sustainability and community programs. Funding will be drawn from $54.8 million in general rates, $20.3 million in grants and developer contributions, and $109.6 million from cash reserves, loans and asset sales. Mayor David Leach described getting the balance between affordability for residents and the growing need to maintain essential services and infrastructure “one of the biggest challenges” for any council. “The result is a budget that is both responsive and responsible,” he said. “Council has and will continue to consider the impact of rates on all sections of our community, including residents on fixed incomes and local farmers.” During Monday night’s meeting, some councillors such as Cr Samantha Jones supported the rate rise, finding spending has been cut in various areas, and commitment was needed to deliver the three-year rate smoothing strategy. “No one wants to stand here and say your rates are going up,” she said. “True leadership is not making the popular decisions, not making the easy ones, and not making the ones that will just get us votes, but we need to make the right ones that are going to make us sustainable and keep ensuring that we’re on track.” However, Cr Rebecca Hewett opposed a rate increase when some people are living “pay cheque to pay cheque”, especially during a cost-of-living crisis, and when some residents were without water during the drought. “The feedback that I have heard from my community is they want council to cut its own non-essential spending in order to reduce the burden on ratepayers,” she said. “People in our communities are being stretched to breaking point.” Major projects in the coming financial year include: ● The completion of the Summit Aquatic and Leisure Centre, with stage one opening next month. ● Significant investment in wastewater infrastructure, with more than $100 million allocated to upgrades of the sewer network and wastewater treatment plant. ● Construction on the town square is expected to begin in early 2026 following the successful securing of $2 million in State Government funding. Transport planning and road infrastructure will also be a major focus, with detailed transport modelling determining where upgrades are most needed. Plans include: ● The Springs Road upgrade between Bald Hills Road and Heysen Boulevard will progress. ● Final designs will be completed for Paech, Sims and Hartmann Roads. A range of community-focused projects and initiatives are also planned, such as trials of alternative bin collection methods, and new partnerships to improve library services in smaller townships. A new grant program will be introduced to support upgrades to community-managed facilities, and concept planning will begin for a regional skate park.

Mount Barker District Mayor David Leach has described getting the balance of the budget as ‘one of the biggest challenges’ for council.

NAIDOC Week – which stands for National Aborigines and Islanders Day Observance Committee – recognises and celebrates the history, culture and achievements of Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander peoples across the country.

This year is particularly momentous, marking half a century the country has celebrated the week-long celebrations, and this year with a theme of 'The Next Generation: Strength, Vision and Legacy'.

While students celebrated last week, the annual occasion is officially this week, from July 6 to 13, during school holidays.

Ladies’ Probus Club learns bonsai techniques

The Ladies’ Probus Club of Strathalbyn welcomed guest speaker Jim Hayward from Victor Harbor at its June meeting.

Following his retirement, Mr Hayward was first introduced to bonsai when he lived in Port Augusta, and began volunteering at the Australian Arid Lands Botanic Garden, which he continues to do four times annually.

Bonsai is a Japanese technique, but the Chinese were first to create a similar version.

Mr Hayward has an extensive collection of bonsai, including a port jackson fig he purchased that is 12 years old, and an eremophila that is flowering that he brought for display.

He demonstrated his art by creating a bonsai fig, explaining that after choosing the front face of the plant, it must be placed leaning towards you, as if looking to be hugged, and a suitable container must be “just right” for the plant.

Following his demonstration, Mr Hayward presented the bonsai plant to visitor Raelene Reichstein, who will soon become a member of Probus.

Colleen Jaensch thanked him for his presentation and gave him a gift in appreciation.

Twenty-five members and two visitors were present at the meeting, namely Jana Kent and Raelene Reichstein, who heard Storyteller of the Day Yvonne Dawson read a humorous story about Walking Down the Road.

She continued to present the ‘something to share’ segment, relaying her experience of undertaking the roof climb at the Adelaide Oval.

Celebrating birthdays in June were Margaret Dewhurst and Jill Bishop.

Margaret was present to receive a traditional, covered coat hanger gift, however, Ms Bishop was unable to attend the meeting, so a large, potted plant was later delivered to her home in honour of her 90th milestone birthday.

annual voluntary donations were made by members, with this year’s recipient being the Australian Lions Hearing Dog Centre at Verdun to assist with its ongoing fundraising efforts.

On Wednesday, July 16, the Ladies’ Probus Club of Strathalbyn is planning a trip with Rufus Bus & Coach to Lobethal, where members and guests will visit Fabrik to view its current exhibition, followed by a luncheon at The Lobethal Hotel.

The next meeting of the Ladies’ Probus Club of Strathalbyn will take place on Monday, July 14, in the Lutheran Hall, commencing at 9.45am.

Guest speaker will be Tony Ey from the RAA, who will once again deliver a road rules quiz.

Interested visitors are encouraged to attend.

Industries given algal bloom update

The algal bloom continues to impact the state, now spreading to metropolitan waters.

State Government agencies met with commercial fishers, tourism operators and local councils on Friday to provide an update on the current situation with the bloom, ongoing public health information, and the impacts it’s having on the marine environment.

The meeting also addressed future research priorities associated with the bloom to better understand how to mitigate future outbreaks.

On top of that, a cross government working group, including SA Health, Department of Primary Industries and Regions (PIRSA), Environment Protection Authority (EPA), South Australian Research and Development Institute (SARDI) and Department of Environment and Water (DEW), has been meeting weekly for the last several months to monitor the bloom and to begin preparations for interventions to assist recovery.

“(This latest) update for commercial fishers, tourism operators and councils ensures those impacted by the bloom have the most up-to-date information available,” Minister for Climate, Environment and Water, Susan Close, said.

“The algal bloom is a dynamic situation.

“Its movement depends on weather and water conditions, and therefore, makes the effect on people and wildlife unpredictable.

“Latest observations show increased levels of chlorophyll-a – an indicator of algae concentrations but not necessarily concentrations of harmful algae – between Port Adelaide and Aldinga.

“High levels also have been detected along the eastern and western coastlines of Spencer Gulf, Investigator Strait near North Cape on Kangaroo Island, Troubridge Point on Yorke Peninsula and along the coastline from Victor Harbor to Robe.”

The State Government is preparing a recovery plan as the bloom recedes to assist the environment to recover as quickly as possible.

The Federal Government will be kept informed of this plan and its assistance will likely be sought to fund some interventions.

State Cabinet will be briefed about the bloom and the recovery plan next week.

Members of the Milang Progress Association met on Wednesday at the Pier Hotel to enjoy an evening meal. After President Ern Holt gave a short speech telling how Jack had been a progress member for many years, serving as President in 1966-67 and again from 1980 to 1984. Jack had shown a keen interest of tree planting and revegetation in the area. Jean has always been Jack's back up and always ready to cook for trading tables. She regularly places cleaning paper at the foreshore BBQs with most users leaving the facilities clean.

Battery storage facility to integrate with Strathalbyn substation

A proposed facility providing an “essential service” to the community is looking to integrate into an existing electricity substation just outside the Strathalbyn town centre.

Lunio Energy has lodged a development application for the construction of a battery storage facility (BESS) comprising of the placement of six containers containing batteries and a transformer station, along with associated high security fencing and civil works at 2133 Callington Road, which already houses a substation.

The renewable energy facility would be located on the north-eastern portion of the site, adjacent to the existing enclosed substation, well-away from any primary activities.

The proposed transformers and control room have inbuilt temperature and/or fire monitoring sensors that send real-time signals to the control room fire panel, and if an alert condition is detected, emergency services are automatically alerted.

The batteries are Lithium Iron Phosphate (LFP), and have an automated and inbuilt automatic fire alarm and aerosol fire extinguishing system.

The LFP battery fire alarm system includes a range of components such as smoke detectors, temperature detectors, an alarm bell, sound and light alarm indicators, deflation indicator lights, an emergency start button, an emergency stop button, among others.

SA Power Networks will need to connect an export generation system to the network which will cost the applicant $17,710.

Under a proposed flexible demand arrangement with SA Power Networks, the proposed battery system will be subject to limits on the time and/or rate at which it may charge.

Encounter Bay driver charged with multiple traffic offences

Police arrested and charged an Encounter Bay man with multiple traffic offences following investigations into a three-car crash at Middleton last month.

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, at 9pm on June 11, a white Holden Commodore sedan was detected travelling at the extreme speed of 146km/h in a 60km/h zone at Port Elliot Road, and then picked up by another patrol in Goolwa as it did a U-turn.

The patrol activated its lights and sirens, however, the driver refused to pull over.

The pursuit was terminated as the Commodore entered the 100km/h zone on Port Elliot Road, heading back towards Middleton, but a couple of minutes later, police located a three-car crash at the intersection of Port Elliot Road and Boettcher Road, and requested emergency services.

The alleged Commodore driver, a 41-year-old Encounter Bay man, sustained serious injuries in the crash and was taken to hospital.

One of the other drivers, a 65-year-old Goolwa South woman, sustained serious injuries when her Land Rover rolled and was taken to hospital for treatment, while the third driver, a 35-year-old Goolwa North man whose vehicle was clipped was uninjured.

The injured drivers have since been released from hospital.

Last Tuesday, police arrested the Encounter Bay man and charged him with driving while disqualified, extreme speeding, failing to stop for police, dangerous driving to escape police, causing harm by dangerous driving, misuse of a motor vehicle, and drink and drug driving.

He was bailed to appear in Victor Harbor Magistrates Court on September 1.

Mt Barker teacher fronts court over alleged offences

A Mount Barker teacher accused of alleged child sex offences fronted court for the first time last Thursday.

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, Cornerstone College Principal Thomas Brennen recently advised parents that a member of the school’s teaching staff had been arrested and charged by police with unlawful sexual intercourse with a person in relation to a historical allegation.

No evidence at this stage suggests any currently enrolled students are involved.

The accused teacher Symon Gogel, aged 49, fronted Mount Barker Magistrates Court last week, where an SA Police prosecutor requested the case be adjourned for 14 weeks in order to finalise evidence.

Mr Gogel was initially suspended from his duty pending the outcome of the police investigation and prosecution, and banned from attending the college, however, The Argus understands his employment has since been terminated.

Magistrate Oliver Koehn remanded Mr Gogel on continuing bail to face Adelaide Magistrates Court in October.

New laws bust dodgy practices

South Australia now has the toughest penalties in the nation for dodgy car dealers caught winding back odometers and selling cars without a licence.

Consumer and Business Services will be cracking down on those doing the wrong thing, with a campaign launched to ensure sellers understand their obligations and the increased penalties they will be hit with for non-compliance.

From July 1, the maximum penalty for winding back an odometer has increased from $10,000 to $150,000 for a first or second offence, and/or up to two years imprisonment for a third or subsequent offence.

The penalty for unlicensed dealing will also rise from $100,000 to $150,000 for a first or second offence, and the potential jail time for third or subsequent offences will double from one year to two years in prison, while the fine will increase from $100,000 to $250,000 for an individual and $500,000 for a body corporate.

The tougher penalties have been sparked by an uptick in complaints about unlicensed selling and odometer tampering as cost-of-living pressures and difficulty acquiring new vehicles have seen more people purchasing second-hand.

“For the first time, anyone caught winding back an odometer will face jail time or a fine of up to $150,000, along with longer sentences and higher fines for unlicensed dealing,” Consumer and Business Affairs Minister, Andrea Michaels, said.

“Purchasing a car is a significant investment and we don’t want to see people being ripped off or taken advantage of by being sold a lemon.”

You must have a licence if you buy, sell or offer for sale four or more vehicles in 12 months.

All licensed dealers have the same legal obligations regardless of whether they are selling vehicles from a car yard or their home.

The government is aware of licensed dealers intentionally selling from home under the guise of being a private seller to attempt to avoid their legal obligations such as providing a statutory warranty or disclosing whether a car was a repairable write-off.

An uptick in complaints have also been received about unlicensed sellers selling from sites such as Facebook Marketplace and engaging in dodgy practices, including winding back the odometer to make it seem like the car has travelled fewer kilometres.

To report a dodgy car dealer, contact Consumer and Business Services for advice and support on 131 882.

Winter’s chill brings local fire risk

As the cooler weather arrives, the comforting hum of electric blankets and heaters return, and with it, the risk of a home fire.

While these electrical items are necessary to stave off the cold, especially with kids more likely to be playing inside, insurer AAMI is urging homeowners to be vigilant, warning of the hidden dangers for house fires this winter.

The leading cause of house fires for the insurer includes lithiumion batteries in e-scooters and e-bikes, heating appliances, and faulty power outlets.

AAMI’s Head of Assessing and Supply Chain Steven Hussey warned of the link between school holidays and house fires.

“Throughout the year, we’ve seen school holidays spark a higher-than-normal number of claims for house fires, but winter will bring its own unique challenges,” he said.

“We usually see a concerning rise in house fires caused by electrical appliances being placed in dangerous locations – think about a heater too close to curtains or worn-out electric blankets being used.

“Even something as simple as leaving your heater on when you’ve just ducked out to the shops can cause a spark.

“With winter keeping people inside, we don’t want to see this danger continue, especially as people depend more on their electrical appliances to keep warm.”

Mr Hussey encouraged homeowners to follow a few easy steps to make their homes safer this winter.

“Homeowners can do simple safety checks such as inspecting their heating appliances, keeping them away from flammable materials, and not overloading power outlets,” he said.

“These simple precautions can help protect your home, your belongings, and most importantly, your family.”

AAMI recommends a range of ways people can protect their home from fires:

- Inspect heating appliances for damaged plugs, frayed cords or signs of overheating. It is recommended to have appliances tested and tagged by a qualified electrician to ensure they are in working order.
- Keep appliances one metre away from anything flammable such as curtains, furniture, bedding or drying laundry.
- Avoid overloading power outlets by only plugging one heat-producing appliance into a single power outlet at a time.
- Test smoke alarms monthly to ensure they are working correctly, have fresh batteries, and are located on every level of your home, including bedrooms and hallways.
- Check electric blankets for scorch marks, frayed cords or damaged elements before use.
- Only use manufacturer or recommended charging cables for all electrical appliances including phones, especially e-scooters and e-bikes.

Farm firefighting unit program expanded

A State Government program to help landholders purchase essential firefighting equipment has been expanded, with more support available and community water tanks included for the first time to protect lives and property.

The latest round of Farm Firefighting Unit (FFU) grants enables farmers to buy equipment they need to safely respond to fire emergencies and help keep their communities safe.

The program – reinstated under a $2 million election commitment – has supported more than 650 farmers across the past three rounds, funding around 1300 individual pieces of equipment in dozens of local council areas.

In 2025-26, items for Farm Firefighting Units will receive funding from $300 to $5000 – a significant increase on previous’ rounds cap of $3000.

Eligible items in this category include FFUs, water pumps for use on vehicle, first-aid kits, UHF radios, fire blankets, heat shields and personal protective equipment.

The fourth round will also allow landholders to purchase community firefighting water tanks for the first time, with grants up to $10,000 available.

“Expanding this program demonstrates our commitment to farmers and the vital role they play on the fireground to protect their communities,” Emergency Services Minister, Emily Bourke, said.

“Farm firefighting units provide a quick response when a blaze breaks out, and equipping landowners to safely respond and co-ordinate with emergency services is crucial.

“New support to secure water tanks and improve access ahead of the bushfire season is an additional measure to help property owners and crews remain safe.”

Tanks are required to have a minimum capacity of 22,000L, fire service fittings and other items such as stands and pipe fittings, and be compliant with local council rules.

Successful applicants will have approved items – which must be new and fit-for-purpose – reimbursed in full or a portion of a purchase across both categories.

Once approved, applicants must ensure their FFU is registered with the Country Fire Service (CFS) to receive reimbursement and notify the CFS of the new water tank location.

For more information on how to apply and program guidelines, visit (cfs.sa.gov.au/plan-prepare/business-farms/farm-fire-units/) before closing on Friday, August 8.

Suspicious fire at Mt Barker school

Hills Fleurieu police are investigating a suspicious fire at Mount Barker school last Tuesday.

Just before 6pm on July 1, police and fire crews were called to the Dumas Street following reports of a fire.

On arrival, they located an in-ground trampoline alight which was quickly extinguished by Metropolitan Fire Service firefighters.

Thankfully no one was injured and the damage was contained to the trampoline.

Initial investigations into the cause of the fire have determined it to be suspicious, and any-one with information is asked to contact Crime Stoppers on 1800 333 000 or online at (<https://crimestopperssa.com.au>).

Owners sought for suspected stolen bikes

Murray Bridge police are asking for the public’s assistance to re-unite suspected stolen bikes with their rightful owners.

On June 26, patrols attended a Murray Bridge home, where they conducted a search and located various items that are suspected of being stolen.

Of note, two mountain bikes were seized that police are hoping to re-unite with their owners.

Three people from the address were arrested by police following the search and have been charged with unlawful possession.

They will appear in court at a later date.

Anyone who lives in the Murray Bridge area and has recently been the victim of a bike theft is encouraged to contact Murray Bridge police.

Proof of ownership such as a serial number will be required when coming forward.

Meadows Primary School year 1 students from Mrs. Edwards/Mrs. Beckmann and Mrs. Norman/Ms. King’s classes have been focusing on history in HASS lessons.

Earlier this term, they learned about toys Indigenous children used to play with in the past.

Students then designed a toy of their own they could make out of natural items found around the school yard.

Deadly fungi emerges in the Hills

Potentially deadly wild mushrooms are starting to pop up in the Adelaide Hills, prompting a warning about the risks of picking and eating unknown fungi.

Poisonous wild mushrooms can usually be found across much of the state from late summer to early winter when the earth is still warm, and particularly after rain.

Despite the low rainfall this year, cooler weather and recent rainfall has triggered the start of the fungi season in parts of the Adelaide Hills, with Death Cap mushrooms, or Amanita phalloides, recently being found at a few locations.

Death Caps can be difficult to distinguish from other wild mushrooms and can resemble some edible species, so it is important to keep an eye on children and pets when outside.

People can contact the Poisons Information Centre on 13 11 26 for advice or call 000 in an emergency.

Around 46 per cent of the calls made to the Poisons Information Centre last year about mushroom poisoning involved children under the age of five.

Symptoms of mushroom poisoning include severe stomach cramps, nausea, vomiting and diarrhoea, which can take several hours to appear.

This can progress to life-threatening liver failure, depending on the species.

For more information on mushroom poisoning, visit the SA Health website.

Letters to the Editor

Empower families –
protect our children

The horrifying reports of alleged widespread abuse in Australian childcare centres have rightly shocked the nation.

For any parent, the safety and wellbeing of their children is paramount.

When that trust is broken, the consequences are devastating for families, and corrosive to society’s confidence in institutions meant to protect and care for the vulnerable.

In the wake of such revelations, it is natural to hear calls for more government action, more regulation, more oversight, and more checks.

But too often, government responses are designed to demonstrate activity rather than to deliver genuine solutions.

When government solves one problem, it too often creates two more.

Proposals such as mandating child welfare officers in every centre or expanding already extensive background checks may sound comforting, but risk creating more bureaucracy and inflating the cost of childcare, placing additional stress on household budgets, without actually making children safer.

It is time to think differently.
It is time to empower families.

We must support Australian parents in making the choices that best suit their families, whether that means staying at home to care for their children or returning to work.

A practical reform would be to consider lifting the cap on the Child Care Subsidy (CCS) for in-home care, making it a more viable option for shift workers and families seeking greater flexibility.

More broadly, we should explore income splitting for tax purposes, an approach that would provide families with greater financial freedom and reduce dependence on formal childcare. Australia’s income tax system is one of the few in the developed world that taxes individuals in isolation, regardless of family responsibilities.

It does not recognise or reward unpaid care.

It actively penalises families who make the choice for one parent to stay at home or work part-time.

Why should a household making joint financial decisions be taxed as individuals?

Under a voluntary income-splitting model, families would be taxed based on their combined income, split evenly across adults, with tax brackets applying to the average.

This would ensure families are not punished for how they choose to care for their children.

It would give proper recognition to unpaid care, reduce demand on formal childcare, and ease cost-of-living pressures for all families.

How can we better support informal care arrangements by recognising the vital role of grandparents and extended family members?

We need a system that will support families who choose to rely on trusted relatives – those who already love and know their children – instead of being forced into formal childcare arrangements out of economic necessity.

In many cultures and communities, this is already the norm.

Our tax system should support, not hinder, these family-centred solutions.

If we truly want to keep children safe and support Australian families, we must give them the financial tools, freedom and flexibility to decide what works best for them.

It is time for a serious national conversation about how our tax system can better reflect the realities of modern family life and provide the support that strong families and communities need.

SA Senator Leah Blyth,
Shadow Assistant Minister for Stronger Families and Stronger Communities

Dark and dreary days

Remember the days of basking in the sun, laying on the beach as the rays warm your skin?

And remember the long days that stretched into the evening, making it ideal for any outdoor adventure even after dinner? Yeah, me too.

The lack of sunshine at this time of year impacts almost half of the population’s health.

According to the Australian Bureau of Statistics, 42 per cent of South Australians are Vitamin D deficient in winter – up from 15 per cent in summer.

The main source of Vitamin D is through sunlight, and is essential for the body to absorb calcium effectively, which is important for bone health and muscle function and preventing conditions such as osteoporosis.

The dark and dreary days can have an impact on mental health for some people, by having the type of depression known as seasonal affective disorder, which can show up as low mood, oversleeping and lack of energy.

As an outdoor person who charges from the sun like a solar panel, I am trying to embrace winter this year instead of resisting the lack of sunshine.

So, if you too feel like a vampire, pop a Vitamin D supplement and follow these reminders of why we should love winter:

- First and foremost, every time we receive much-needed rain, we are smiling alongside farmers.

- Just like how plants become dormant, we too need to rest.

- Spicy food – it’s time to look up some of the hottest, chilli-packed dishes and delicious curries.

- Cosying up to roaring campfires underneath the stars.

- Time to work on that home project or arts and crafts.

- Whisical heavy fog that sits in valleys.

- High-intensity outdoor exercise such as hikes or bike riding.

- Op-shopped winter jackets.

Before we know it, the sweltering weather and sunshine will return, so we may as well embrace the short days now.

The cup that stops the nation tours Strathalbyn

By Georgina McKay

The Melbourne Cup showed it's worth its weight in gold while on a tour around Strathalbyn last Wednesday.

Since 2003, the Lexus Melbourne Cup Tour has clocked more than a million kilometres, visited 680-plus towns, and helped raise vital funds along the way.

The Strathalbyn Racing Club was selected to take part in the prestigious tour for the first time in its history, giving people the opportunity to get up-close with the 18-carat gold cup worth $850,000 which will be delivered to the winner of the 'race that stops the nation'.

The cup first made its way to Eastern Fleurieu 7-12 campus, where Victoria Racing Club Representative Trent Luckhurst, former Champion Australian Jockey Claire Lindop, and legendary race caller Greg Miles spoke with some of the students, before heading to the racecourse, where a lucky few were able to take photos with it.

It then headed to the Strathalbyn Aged Care Facility for the last leg.

As part of being selected for the tour, Strathalbyn gets entered into the Lexus Melbourne Cup Tour National Sweep, which, if won, will see $50,000 donated to the Royal Flying Doctor Service.

Maidment's Meat Service's major renovation

Strathalbyn's Maidment's Meat Service has recently undergone the first major renovation since the shop was built in 1936, renewing the owners' passion for offering high-quality meat to the community.

The complete revamp of the Dawson Street site has changed the layout of the shopfront and the processing areas, making a more effective and efficient space.

Co-owner Melissa Maidment – who runs the shop with her brother Mark – found the renovation honoured the shop's history while modernising the space.

It also put their stamp on the shop as third-generation owners of the family-owned business.

"The renovation has also helped to (reignite) our love for the industry," Melissa said.

"The change has refreshed our love and passion for the work."

The space was originally built as a butcher shop and has been lovingly developed by the Maidment family over three generations, starting with Geoffrey purchasing the shop from the Blackwells in 1977.

His sons Craig and Steven then owned the shop from the mid-1990s, before Craig's children Melissa and Mark took over in 2017, and since then, have continued to show deep commitment and enthusiasm for the business.

In recent cold months over winter, many community members have been visiting Maidment's Meat Service before cranking up their slow cookers and enjoying tender, juicy meat in comfort meals.

While cosying up at home, community members have revamped classic favourites, such as grandma's stews, lamb shanks and mash dishes and pasta bolognese.

Popular winter cuts include legs of lamb, chuck steaks, lamb shanks and slow-cooked roasts such as blades and rolled beef.

The butcher stocks a range of cuts, buying high-quality carcasses direct from South Australian farmers with three major suppliers for beef, lamb and pork, as well as two chicken suppliers.

"I love the work for having quality control over what food I put into my body and that I sell to my community," Melissa said.

"I am all about health and wellbeing of animals as well.

"Through my work, I see a lot of love put into our land and animals, and a lot of love that we put into our community through the food that we produce in our shop."

Maidment's Meat Service is located at 15 Dawson Street, Strathalbyn, and is open Tuesday to Friday from 7am to 5.30pm, Saturday 8am to noon, and closed Sunday and Monday.

For further information, call 8536 2618.

Maidment's Meat Service owners Mark and Melissa Maidment recently left their mark on the historic Strathalbyn shop by undergoing a major renovation.

Logie nominee flies Goolwa flag

By Tara Nash

Gold Logie nominee Lisa Millar – who has won over the hearts of TV viewers around Australia – has thrown herself into the “joys” of the Goolwa and Hindmarsh Island communities after becoming somewhat of a local herself.

The warm and affable ABC presenter is known for promoting small towns and farming life through Back Roads and Muster Dogs and was previously on News Breakfast, and has been dating local Simon Carless for the past 19 months.

“I’m basically taking whatever opportunity I can to get to Goolwa,” she told The Southern Argus.

“I do love to throw myself into communities – I wanted to feel like I was part of the community even though I’m not there all the time.

“With any small town around Australia, I just like knowing who’s making your bread in the morning, or who’s serving you your beer at the pub or who’s making your meal at Thai Days, where I’ve eaten many a meal.”

Simon’s family is well-known in the local sailing community, with him learning to sail in Goolwa as a teenager, and his father Rob previously being Commodore of the Goolwa Regatta Yacht Club.

Rob was instrumental in the creation of the marina which is now named in his honour.

The couple are old friends, and now spend time a lot of time travelling, with Simon being an international pilot and Lisa travelling around the country during production.

They try to sync their schedules so their downtime can be spent between Goolwa and Lisa’s permanent home in Melbourne.

And Lisa has thrown herself into Goolwa’s way of life in every facet possible – swimming, spending time at the beach, bike riding, walks and visiting the recent SA Wooden Boat Festival.

As a “really enthusiastic” Parkrun ambassador, the 5km route in Goolwa on Saturday mornings has won her over on several occasions, finding it “fantastic” for physical and mental health and community-building.

She has also been dragon boat training from Hindmarsh Island and found it “way more intense” than she anticipated.

After acquiring her boat licence at Victor Harbor, the couple now take out the 1960s Caribbean boat that Simon fixed up, which originally belonged to Rob.

One of her favourite spots is Currency Creek.

“I just think (Goolwa is) a great little spot and it’s really friendly,” she said.

“I’ve really loved exploring the Murray River – our hope is to go further up the Murray and enjoy a bit more.

“I’m a country girl... so for me to be in Goolwa and to see the stars at night... that’s the kind of stuff that I love that makes it really special.”

Sometimes locals recognise her on the street and ask for selfies, including at Woolworths when Lisa was wearing a Muster Dogs t-shirt.

“This woman came up to me and said ‘do you love the show as much as I do?’” Lisa said.

“I said, ‘yes, I narrate it,’ and she nearly dropped her eggs – that was pretty funny.”

She relishes when people approach her to say “g’day.”

“I know with News Breakfast, you’re in peoples’ homes at a really intimate time of their day – they look on me as a friend,” Lisa said.

“I am absolutely so comfortable with people wanting to come up and have a yarn with me because I think it’s a credit to the programs and a credit to the teams.”

Lisa left News Breakfast in August last year, expecting life would slow down and she could spend more time in Goolwa, but between Muster Dogs and Back Roads and the recent Gold Logie nomination, her schedule has gone “crazy”.

Muster Dogs is documentary-style reality series that follows working dog trainers from across regional Australia as they raise and train puppies, while Back Roads spotlights regional and remote towns and communities across Australia.

It’s something Lisa has particular passionate for after spending the first decade of her life in Kilkivan, Queensland, which had a population of 700 people.

After hearing about her Gold Logie nomination, she is still pinching herself, and received the call while filming with a dozen eight-week-old kelpie puppies in the Victorian town of Kaniva near the border of South Australia.

“It could not be more surreal to think of the most glamorous night for TV in Australia, and here I was being jumped on by these gorgeous little puppies, covered with dirt and everything else,” she laughed.

“I’m excited about it – I’m just going to lean in and enjoy every moment of it.”

She is the only ABC nominee for the TV Awards Gold Logies, up against A Current Affair host Ally Langdon, comedian Hamish Blake, I’m a Celebrity... Get Me Out of Here! Australia host Julia Morris, Home and Away actor Lynne McGranger, presenter Sonia Kruger, and chef and presenter Poh Ling Yeow.

Votes are now open through the TV Week website and the winner will be announced on August 3, with Lisa describing her contenders as all “terrific”.

“I would love to do it for regional Australia,” she said.

“When did we have a Gold Logie winner who came from a town of 700 people, (and) who works on programs that are all about the awesome people in regional Australia?”

“Wouldn’t it be cool if I could do it for them?”

“That’s what drives me at the moment.”

Goolwa Rotary celebrates 40 years of service

By Deirdre Graham and Tara Nash

The Rotary Club of Goolwa is celebrating four decades of service – which is more than 1600 meetings and countless hours dedicated to local, national and international causes.

Founded in 1985 by the Encounter Bay club, with Charter President being Maurie Perry, the local club has championed Rotary's motto of 'service above self' – making a difference through environmental projects, with youth, disaster relief and community support.

The club has a particular environmental focus, with volunteers planting more than 5000 trees in conjunction with other organisations since the 1990s, including the long-term project of Rotary Centenary Park.

The park, located off Sweetman Road in Goolwa South, launched in 2021 to commemorate 100 years of Rotary in Australia.

Over the following years, members have worked to revegetate and beautify the space, planting and watering many species, and plan to further fundraise and apply for grants in the future.

The club has also delivered educational campaigns, including a multi-media display aimed at reducing plastic use, highlighting the impact it has to animals, environment and the ocean, which was presented on various occasions to schools, council, and a Rotary conference.

"We've had a very strong environment focus, and done various environmental projects over the years," Director of Environment, Di Keach, said.

"(And) probably the most outstanding thing that the club has done in its history is the (regular) art exhibition."

Hosted at Signal Point, the regular exhibition had typically 700 to 800 paintings, and was described as a "great success" in terms of fundraising and showcasing artists.

The club plans to revive the exhibition on a smaller scale at a different venue.

Support has been given to local Surf Life Saving SA, donating a boat to the Port Elliot club in the 1990s, and later helping fund a boat, trailer and vehicle for the Goolwa club.

They also supported a $30,000 fit-out of the new Goolwa Surf Life Saving Club.

Community donations have largely gone towards organisations that help people experiencing homelessness or disadvantaged community members.

The club is also increasingly working with local youth groups, and in the town's primary and high schools, such as with the Rotary Congratulations to the Goolwa Rotary Club on reaching the incredible milestone of 40 years. Thank you for your dedication to the community, ongoing support and positive impact.

Youth Driver Awareness initiative that is credited to reducing accidents in the region.

The club has also supported farmers, including backing hay runs to Kangaroo Island after bushfires, and to Hawker in the Flinders Ranges for drought relief.

On an international level, the club has supported the emergency disaster relief initiative ShelterBox as well as Wheelchairs for the Asia Pacific.

Looking ahead, members have some noteworthy events on the calendar, such as the inaugural Carpathon, which will be a fishing competition at Goolwa in October, when many will line the wharf, on boats and along the shore, vying for the prizes up for grabs.

Members will also join a walk against domestic violence at Moana Beach in November.

The recent special milestone of the 40th anniversary of the Charter was recently marked during the annual changeover of President and board at the Goolwa Hotel with 140 guests.

Outgoing President Jan Lawrence gave a heartfelt speech reflecting on the club's achievements and the dedication of members, and inducted the new President Debbie Buckingham and board.

Current members include President Debbie Buckingham, Vice President Noeline Biermann, Secretary Tamara McRobbie, Treasurer Lyn Crouch, Community Director Jan Lawrence, Youth Director Shannon Welk, Environment Director Di Keach, Club Service Director Sue Porter and Image and Membership Director Sonia Laucke.

"It's a great organisation - I love it," President, Debbie Buckingham, said.

"I just love getting involved with the people and the community - everything about it is good.

"(Our aim) is to have an inclusive club, that commits to their ideas and projects for the community, and that we work together as a team."

Ms Keach echoed a similar sentiment, encouraging other community members to join the "family" that is local, national and global.

"There's something for everybody with a desire to make a difference in all sorts of fields," she said.

"If you have a desire to make the world a better place, there's no better way than with Rotary to make it happen."

Major upgrade for Langhorne Creek sporting complex

By Giorgina McKay

Langhorne Creek’s sporting complex is about to get a major makeover.

As part of the State Government’s $15 million Thriving Regions Fund, its Enabling Infrastructure Program offers grants from $50,000 up to $1 million for infrastructure projects that strengthen and build strong regional communities, can start within six months and be completed within two years of receiving funding.

More than $3.57 million worth of regional community projects will be brought to life with this year’s grants, including Langhorne Creek Memorial Park Committee’s complex upgrade.

The committee received a $400,000 grant, which will pave the way for major upgrades and long-term improvements to the football club.

“We are very pleased to be able to offer funding to nine community projects from across South Australia’s regions and see their vision become reality,” Minister for Primary Industries and Regional Development, Clare Scriven, said.

“These projects help support a strong local economy by attracting and retaining people, businesses and service providers in our regions, which helps maintain and grow strong, vibrant regional communities.

“The Enabling Infrastructure Program has been extremely successful in supporting infrastructure projects that improve the quality of life in our regions, and the State Government is pleased to continue to support South Australia’s regional communities.”

The planned improvements include an upgrade to the 40-year-old clubrooms, new accessible toilets and a dedicated unisex parents room, improved amenities, accessibility improvements, additional undercover area, and an improved bar, storage and refrigeration.

For the committee, which has been trying for several years to obtain funding for the project, the grant represents a “major milestone in the park’s history”.

Willunga overcome their demons

Willunga played McLaren Vale on a sunny Willunga afternoon.

The visitors were the only team to beat the home side in the first round of matches, so Willunga were determined to turn the tables and establish themselves in second spot.

The McLaren Eagles kicked with the slight breeze, but it was the slick running handballs of the Demons that brought up the first goal.

Hams kicked it, but he was on the end of a chain of handballs through the centre of the ground that sliced open the Eagles' defence.

Draper kicked his team's second with a soccer off the ground a minute later.

McLaren steadied.

Stokes was strong overhead in defence and rebounded the ball into McLaren's forward lines, where Marr marked and goaled at the 18-minute mark.

Stark and Brown were courageous in defence for the Demons.

Their attack from defence enabled Nobes to mark and goal to give the Demons a narrow lead at quarter time.

The second term was the Liam Nye show.

He was everywhere as usual but had a purple patch near goals, kicking three majors and nearly adding two more.

A one-handed mark was a stunner.

The first goal of the quarter came after a strong mark by Haskett, who boomed the ball high and long. Nobes marked and goaled.

Ellison was playing well for the Eagles, but it was some Mitton magic that created a goal.

He dropped a mark a minute later, which allowed a turnover.

Draper swooped and Nye kicked his first.

Matthews got one back for the visitors, then Daniels kicked another to give the Eagles the momentum.

But after Nye kicked two in a minute, the momentum swung back Willunga's way.

Willunga began the premiership quarter with a three-goal lead and increased it to four by three-quarter time.

Nobes kicked the first of the half after a stunning half-volley pick up and slick handball by Jake Renney.

McLaren got it straight back following a strong mark and booming kick by Ellison.

Hutchens came into the game for Willunga and created several opportunities for his forwards.

Hams kicked his second, but then he and Sam Renney missed opportunities to put the opposition away.

A Vandeleur smother and Smith's defensive efforts helped keep the Willunga forwards under pressure and their team in the contest.

Ellis and Fenoughty battled hard and moved the ball quickly into their forward lines, where Raitt and Matthews were able to snaffle important goals.

Shirvington and Stark then combined to find Hams in space.

He kicked with precision into the pocket, where Nobes marked and goaled.

Stark hammered a ball forward from the centre square, and H Saunders marked and goaled.

Saunders then sent a sky-high 'screwie' towards goals.

Nobes outreached his opponent and marked.

When Marr scored a late six-pointer for McLaren, the game was in the balance as the three-quarter time siren sounded.

The last quarter went Willunga's way.

They extended their lead through relentless pressure and their ability to find targets up forward.

Stark was in everything in the middle of the ground. He won the hard balls and belted the ball quickly forward.

He and Hutchens combined to allow Nobes to mark and kick his seventh.

Willunga had the ball in their forward lines for the next seven or eight minutes but failed to add scoreboard pressure.

The Eagles then made a rare foray forward.

Raitt and Marr found space to add a goal for McLaren against the flow.

From the resulting centre bounce, Shirvington and Sam Renney combined to get the ball into Carnevale's hands.

He delivered to Nobes, who goaled.

Nobes kicked a point, then Hams and Draper combined twice in two minutes to add match-sealing goals off Draper's boot.

McLaren continued to fight.

They drove the ball to the pocket, where they outnumbered the Willunga defenders.

Fitt took the ball off-hands and goaled, then Mitton used strong bodywork to hold his ground, take a mark, and kick another.

In between times, big Nobes took a mark and was lining up for goal when the umpire sent him from the ground under the blood rule.

Lee grabbed the ball with glee, took the free, and kicked his first for the day to give his team a six-goal winning margin at the final siren.

Victor hold off the Bays

Conditions were perfect for football once again last Saturday, with Bays having first use of the northerly breeze.

Tonkin and Treloar were duelling in ruck, while the heat was really on at ground level.

Marshall appeared to have the job on Heaslip, and Eagles' Lippett, Woitdt and Crispin battled through the midfield against Kappler, Hartshorne and Wiese for Victor in a high-pressure match from start to finish.

Fletcher chipped cleverly to find the running Wiese, who, in turn, found a leading Heaslip to kick the first goal of the day five minutes in.

Pearsons showed plenty of dash through the middle to open things up before Kreuger slotted the reply for Bays from inside 50.

It was not long before they had their second when Davis roved cleverly and snapped truly from 20m out.

The arm wrestle continued, with tackles, spoils and smothers racking up before Kappler used his pace to find space and mark on the far boundary to level the scores just before quarter-time.

The intensity never waned after the first break, and goals became very precious as Johnson kicked his first into the breeze for the Bays.

A series of five misses from each team followed as players either squandered set shots or rushed attempts under pressure.

Elmes made his presence known when he set up Ross for his first late in the term, which Ross followed with another soon after, taking a contested mark 20m out.

The Roos now knew they were in for a tough local derby as they took a slender four-point lead into the long break.

The fight continued in the third as Overall for Victor and Spurling for Bays put on a real display of strong overhead marking, which was emulated by many of their teammates over the length of the ground.

Accurate field kicking and running play were the only ways to break the opposition defence at both ends, with Bartram and Kleinig leading the way for the home side, while the veteran Baldock and Walker provided rebound for the visitors.

Mesecke was the first to goal with a long snap to boost the lead, before it was immediately cut back by Johnson, with his second on the run and tight on the boundary, and then regained when Davis snapped another.

Heaslip's class again rose to the occasion when he kicked his second to take a two-point lead into the last change.

The feeling going into the final term was that the pressure would either remain to the end or one side would break away.

Gibbs seemed to always have time as he chipped around to players in space and combined well with Overall and Kappler.

Kleinig continued his good form down the spine, and the backline stopped everything to hold the opposition scoreless.

Jaid Cooper converted one of his many marks for the day to post the hosts' other goal, giving his side a five-goal victory on a rare day when Elmes, Overall and 250-gamer Basham remained goalless.

A very even contest for the first three quarters proved that Encounter Bay deserve their spot in this year's finals campaign.

Players from both sides will no doubt be grateful for the week off for the State Country Championships before the next round when Victor faces another top-four clash at McLaren, while Bays host Goolwa.

Southern Districts seeks Country Championships glory

By Giorgina McKay

Southern Districts Women are striving to bring bragging rights and “a little bit of pride” back with them when they return from the THINK! Road Safety SA Country Football Championships this weekend.

Around 250 of South Australia's best male and female country players from six zones will gather at Port Pirie from tomorrow to Sunday to represent their regions in the state competition.

The Southern Districts Women, comprising of the Great Southern Football League (GSFL), Southern Football League and Kangaroo Island League, will be coached by McLaren Districts’ Sally Fuller, who recently coached the GSFL side to victory in the Zone Championship.

She was nervous about taking on this new responsibility, but knew the talent of her team.

“We didn’t really do that well last year, so there’s a bit on the line to get back to where we were the previous times we’ve played,” Fuller said.

“The girls that we had for the association game were very good, so it was an easy task to lead them.

“I think the majority of those guys will roll into this one.

“Hopefully, we’ve got a bit of a rapport now that can drive forward into these tournaments.”

The last time the Southern Districts Women won the championships was in 2022.

Fuller wants to get the ball rolling from the first whistle, and have the girls working together and to each other’s strengths.

This could be the recipe for the team’s success.

“You can’t work into these tournaments, you have to be winning from the start, so if everyone can gel together really quickly, then we’re in with a really good chance of winning,” she said.

“The skill level is there – we all know that – because they are the best of the best, so it’s a matter of what combinations work really well and how adaptable each player is to working with our game plan.

“But just working together is the biggest key, so we’ll do a lot of decision-making training and see how they go putting it into game play.”

The games will be spread across the Memorial Oval and Pirie West Oval over the three days, with the Round 13 Hostplus SANFL League regional match between North Adelaide and South Adelaide on Saturday afternoon set to be the highlight of the championships.

Port Pirie is a far cry from the southern suburbs but Fuller believed it could be of benefit.

“It will be interesting,” she said.

“I think it probably helps being away from home in that you have to get used to working together and you build a bit of a comradery just staying together.”

Meanwhile, the South Districts Men will be coached by Happy Valley’s Andrew Cook.

The last time the men won the championships was in 2021, so there will be a lot to prove.

“(A win would bring) bit of a pride is brought back to the Southern Districts,” Fuller said.

“I think we were good for so long and we know we’ve got a good comp, so it’s about making sure that we get the best out of ourselves to showcase what we can do and how good we can be.”

Roosters take home the Cooney Cup

Strathalbyn’s Senior Colts defeated Langhorne Creek on Saturday to take home the ‘Cooney Cup’ for another consecutive year as part of the two clubs’ annual memorial game.

The Strathalbyn and Langhorne Creek Football Clubs come together each year to celebrate the memory of Jarrad Cooney – a Hawks player whose sudden passing 14 years ago rocked the community and continues to have an impact to this day.

His legacy and love for the game shines through the Cooney Cup with the support of his family and acts as a reminder to “check in with your mates, be kind to one another and be kind to yourself”.

This was amplified in the second ‘Tackle Your Feelings’ workshop the Langhorne Creek Football Club hosted last Wednesday prior to the game.

The Hawks fought hard but it was the Roosters who came away with the win on the weekend with 69 points to 14.

Major upgrade for Langhorne Creek Oval

By Giorgina McKay

Langhorne Creek’s sporting complex is about to get a major makeover.

As part of the State Government’s $15 million Thriving Regions Fund, its Enabling Infrastructure Program offers grants from $50,000 up to $1 million for infrastructure projects that strengthen and build strong regional communities, can start within six months and be completed within two years of receiving funding.

More than $3.57 million worth of regional community projects will be brought to life with this year’s grants, including Langhorne Creek Memorial Park Committee’s complex upgrade.

The committee received a $400,000 grant, which will pave the way for major upgrades and long-term improvements to the football club.

“We are very pleased to be able to offer funding to nine community projects from across South Australia’s regions and see their vision become reality,” Minister for Primary Industries and Regional Development, Clare Scriven, said.

“These projects help support a strong local economy by attracting and retaining people, businesses and service providers in our regions, which helps maintain and grow strong, vibrant regional communities.

“The Enabling Infrastructure Program has been extremely successful in supporting infrastructure projects that improve the quality of life in our regions, and the State Government is pleased to continue to support South Australia’s regional communities.”

The planned improvements include an upgrade to the 40-year-old clubrooms, new accessible toilets and a dedicated unisex parents room, improved amenities, accessibility improvements, additional undercover area, and an improved bar, storage and refrigeration.

For the committee, which has been trying for several years to obtain funding for the project, the grant represents a “major milestone in the park’s history”.

“The clubrooms at Memorial Park are the lifeblood of this community, and this grant will enable our club to grow and thrive for the foreseeable future, and enable us to focus on supporting families, individuals, and businesses within the district,” the club said.

“This community complex upgrade will help improve inclusivity and the family friendly environment that we pride ourselves on at Hawk Park.

“Not only will this transform our community facilities, it will supercharge our growth, and create an environment worthy of the passion, pride, and potential that defines our club and region.

“We must thank the State Government and PIRSA for their belief in our vision and their continued support of improving regional communities, and a huge thanks must also go to Greg Follett for his enormous dedication in getting this grant application off the ground.”

The club already has initial development plans in place with Alexandrina Council and has enlisted the expertise of local architect John Eckert from Jabba Design.

It is understood no games will be impacted on the oval during the works.

“We are optimistic and hopeful to see some progress with the project over the coming football ‘off season’,” Langhorne Creek Football Club President, Jess Chandler, said.

“Maintaining access to the community facilities and minimising disruption has and will be a key consideration throughout the planning and construction phases.

“The cricket season may see minor disruption with parking and restricted access to the community complex during the construction phase.

“We will continue to work closely with stakeholders to ensure careful planning and delivery of this project in the required timeframe.”

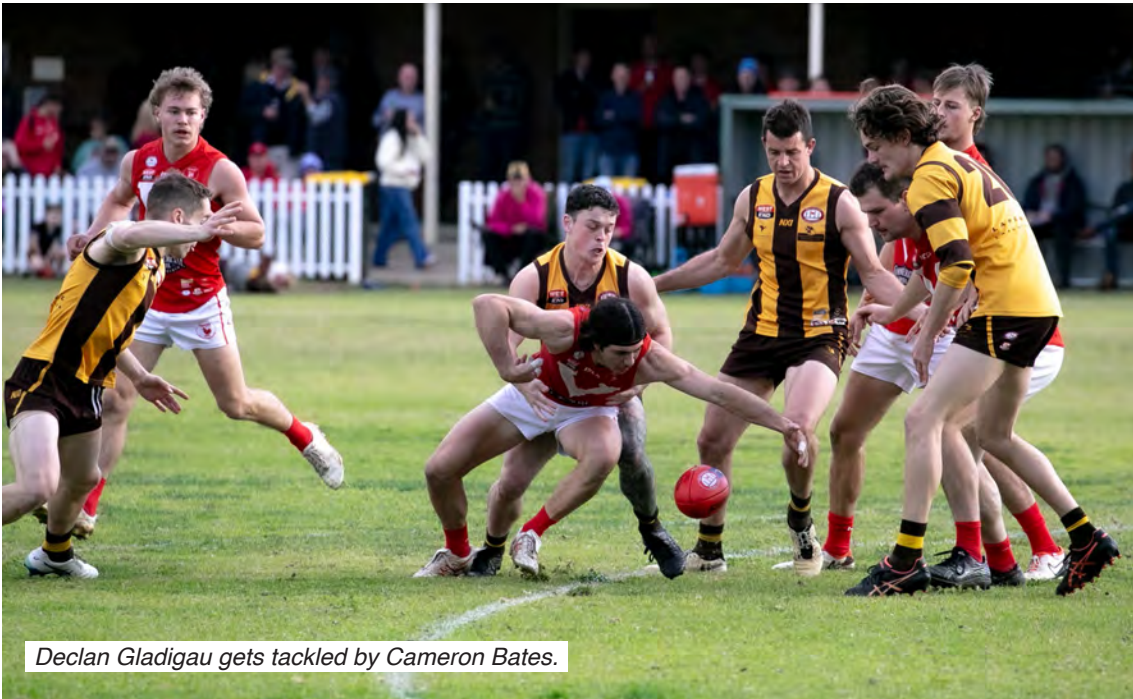

Langhorne Creek vs Strathalbyn

Reuben Stutley and Max Barnes share a 200-game milestone.

Declan Gladigau gets tackled by Cameron Bates.

Strathalbyn's Declan Grant attempts a mark, only to be spoiled by Tom Derham.

9&U Green

The girls continue to improve every week, making two goals today, which doubles our score for the whole season.

Great to see them having some fun.

9&U Gold

We headed out to Langhorne Creek this week.

We were down in numbers but not in spirit.

The girls put on a great game with quick skills on display.

All the hard work from an intense training session proved beneficial.

Thanks for an excellent game, Langhorne Creek.

11&U (1)

Strathalbyn 12 def Langhorne Ck 7

The girls delivered a strong and consistent performance across all four quarters to secure a well-deserved win.

From the first whistle, they showed great determination, teamwork and skill, maintaining intensity both in attack and defence.

Their communication on court and ability to adapt under pressure were key to holding their lead throughout the game.

It was a fantastic team effort, and the girls should be proud of their win!

11&U (3)

Strathalbyn 12 def Langhorne Ck 1

Congratulations to the Under 9 players on both teams playing up.

The first quarter saw strong passages of play and intercepts by both teams.

Strathalbyn were first to find their feet and led by eight at the main break.

In the second half Creek rallied, keeping Strathalbyn to only four more goals.

Congratulations to everyone.

13&U (2)

Strathalbyn 30 def Langhorne Ck 25

We travelled down the road to play Creek and, due to a scheduling conflict, had to find a fill-in coach!

The girls started a bit flat and Creek capitalised with some good shooting to get out to a small lead at the first break.

I implored the girls to show some energy and apply more pressure to force mistakes, but we were still looking a bit out of sorts.

However, we were still in it at the main break.

I pulled some changes and asked the girls to play with pride and do it for their coach, and they came out as if a different team had taken to the court.

Their pressure was awesome and they created turnovers that the goalies capitalised on to close the gap to within a couple at the last change.

I encouraged them to keep playing like that, and they went on a streak to get their noses in front and never looked back.

They ran away winners, and we couldn't be prouder of their fighting spirit.

Go Strath!

Strathalbyn 20 def by Langhorne Ck 21

Thirteen Division 3 had a strong start to their weekend game, showing impressive defensive pressure that kept the opposition on the back foot early on.

The team's shooting was consistent throughout most of the match, helping maintain a competitive edge.

However, momentum shifted in the final quarter as intensity dropped slightly, allowing Creek to close the gap.

Despite the solid efforts, Strathalbyn couldn't hold on and unfortunately didn't come away with the win.

Creek started strong and took an early lead.

Strathalbyn had to make changes to their usual style of play, which the team executed with great success.

Their ability to adjust to Creek's defensive pressure was crucial and led to Strathalbyn taking home a convincing win.

Strathalbyn 47 def Langhorne Ck 15

Strathalbyn claimed a strong win over Langhorne Creek on the weekend, finishing with a decisive 47–15 victory.

Both teams showed great sportsmanship and determination throughout the match.

Strathalbyn came out firing from the first whistle, setting a fast pace and taking control early.

Their intensity and quick ball movement gave them an edge, although at times they needed to steady and slow the game down to maintain composure.

Langhorne Creek fought hard despite missing their key goal shooter due to injury, which made it difficult to convert opportunities in the goal circle.

They continued to push and defend well, but Strathalbyn's consistent pressure across the court proved too strong.

It was a solid performance from Strathalbyn, who will look to carry this momentum into their next game.

Strathalbyn 48 def Langhorne Ck 43

The highly anticipated cross-town rivalry between Strathalbyn and Creek lived up to expectations.

A game of two halves, Strathalbyn gained the ascendancy in the first half with high-volume scoring off the back of crisp ball movement and smothering defence.

Creek came back hard in the second half, outscoring Strathalbyn in both the third and final quarters before time ran out and Strathalbyn were able to hold on to a five-goal margin and claim the win.

Strathalbyn 48 def Langhorne Ck 47

It was a rough, scrappy and physical game, with Creek just staying ahead for most of the match.

Strathalbyn made a last-quarter push, lifted their intensity and execution, and were able to scrape ahead for the win.

Creek were consistent the whole game.

Strathalbyn battled hard but couldn't make headway.

The first and last quarters were even, however Creek were able to make numerous turnovers in the middle of the game.

Heads up, Strathalbyn, and on to next week.

Senior 4

Strathalbyn 21 def by Langhorne Ck 51

Creek were a well-drilled team who worked together seamlessly, gaining many turnovers and converting with ease and high accuracy to take a huge lead in the first quarter.

Strathalbyn made some changes at the first break and were able to produce some more even gameplay.

However, Creek continued to make gains each quarter.

Strathalbyn kept their heads up and had some fun with positions in the last.

Strathalbyn 31 def by Langhorne Ck 56

Competition was fierce on Saturday as Strathalbyn faced off against long-time rivals Langhorne Creek in what was billed as the clash of the round.

Resolute in their preparation and full of spirit, Strathalbyn entered the match with confidence and a clear game plan.

Early turnovers, however, saw Langhorne Creek seize momentum and capitalise with quick, clean attacking drives.

Even so, Strathalbyn's defence stood strong, with captain Britt delivering an inspired performance that frustrated Creek's goalers on multiple occasions.

Keeping composure through the centre, Milly remained a pillar of consistency, linking defence to attack with poise and precision.

Strathalbyn, though outscored, never dropped their heads and continued to battle fiercely across all four quarters.

Ultimately, Langhorne Creek's accuracy in the ring and fast transitional play saw them run away with a convincing 56–31 win.

Coach and supporters alike praised the determination of the young Strathalbyn side, noting signs of growth despite the loss.

Kudos must go to Britt and Milly, whose leadership and work ethic set the tone for the team's effort on the day.

Showing flashes of brilliance and resilience, Strathalbyn will no doubt take valuable lessons into next week's fixture.

A thrilling contest between Strathalbyn and Langhorne Creek Senior 6.

From the first whistle, it was clear both teams had come to play hard.

The intensity was high, with each side applying pressure across the court and making it tough for either team to build a significant lead.

The margin never stretched beyond a few goals.

The competitive game ended in a 43–43 draw.

Congratulations to Chelsea Blair on playing her 100th senior game for Strathalbyn.

Senior 7

Strathalbyn 26 def by Langhorne Ck 49

Strathalbyn came out strong, displaying impressive movement and accurate goal shooting early in the game.

Defensively, they worked incredibly hard, applying pressure across the court and securing numerous interceptions.

Despite their efforts, Creek's experience and cohesion as a well-oiled unit proved too strong.

However, the final score didn't truly reflect how tightly contested the match was.

Strathalbyn pushed hard right to the final whistle, making Creek earn every goal in what was a competitive and spirited game.

Strikers score first win of the season

The Strathalbyn Strikers hosted Brothers United on Saturday, hoping to secure their first win of the season after a tough start to the year. Coach Dan Moore had a fully fit squad to choose from for the first time, opting for a pacy front four of Brodie Kaltenbrunner, Ciaran Shouksmith, Ryan Nethercott and Kalan Brooks. Captain Ben Clayton led the midfield alongside the strong-bodied TK Mashinge, while Sam Witt and veteran Rob Jeffries anchored the backline, with Joshua Denny and Peter Ewailefoh patrolling the flanks. As always, Jakin Williams took his rightful place in goal. The game started on the hosts' terms, with their pace causing plenty of trouble for the away side. Brooks was heavily involved in just his fourth appearance of the season, doing well to present to the midfield and lay the ball back into Shouksmith in the centre. The Strikers' forward pressure was forcing Brothers into sloppy errors, and they opened the scoring in the 20th minute when a short goal kick was pressured into a turnover.

Shouksmith was threaded through on goal, blasting the ball past the keeper into the left side of the net to give the Strikers a rare lead. Brothers attempted to get back into the match, but they were unable to get past the defensive prowess of Witt and Jeffries – the latter laying some impressive slide tackles to stop potentially dangerous attacks. A second goal came for the home side just ten minutes later when a corner from Clayton found the back of Shouksmith's head and tumbled into the net. Kaltenbrunner had a chance to make it three not long after, but his volley was blocked by a desperate defender. The Strikers went into half-time 2-0 up but were wary of the away side's potential comeback, as they had done before in Round 4. As predicted, United started the second half strongly and were unlucky not to get a goal back when some good play down the left saw a cutback across the face of Williams' goal, only for the striker to put it wide. The Strikers regained the ascendancy after Ewailefoh and Denny began helping the defence hold possession with some tidy foot skills, while Mashinge held the ball up in the middle of the park to great effect. Brooks almost netted his first goal of the season after a free kick was taken quickly by Clayton, threading him through on the right, but his shot was well saved. Nethercott nearly scored one of the goals of the year when he volleyed from 18 yards out, but his attempt was straight at the goalkeeper. He was then replaced by Tom Lancaster in an attempt to regain some possession in the attacking half. The away side did manage to get a goal back after a miscommunication at the back ended with Williams' clearance rebounding off Ewailefoh and into the Strikers' net, turning the last 20 minutes from comfortable to stressful. Lancaster's inclusion proved a good move, with his strength and composure enabling the home side to hold the ball for longer periods. He almost got an assist when he laid the ball off to Clayton, whose shot was well saved.

Shouksmith almost secured his hat-trick not a minute later when Mashinge's gut-busting run through the middle ended with a layoff ten yards out, but the keeper made a fantastic save to deny his third goal. The final whistle blew not long after, and a massive cheer was heard around the ground as the Strikers finally earned their first win of the season. Earlier in the day, the B Grade bounced back to form, dismantling Brothers' reserves with a comfortable 2-0 victory. James Lee netted both goals in his first game as striker, marking his first goals for the club. Natthawut Supho was again a stand-out performer, as was defender Hamish Wilson. The side will look to take third spot next week when they play top-of-the-table Stirling. The C Grade unfortunately went down 1-0 to long-time foes Old Ignatians but had plenty of chances, with Sam Mugford playing his best game for the club and Brad Giffen outstanding on the left side of the field.

Meadows back in the hunt

Meadows racked up its second win in its Round 9 encounter with the Wanderers, putting it back in the finals hunt. Meadows is now only one point behind Macclesfield Red and two points behind Currency Creek. The Wanderers failed to fire, again going down seven (26) to five (24) in yet another of its string of tight tussles, but retains the third spot with nine points, behind ladder-leaders Ashbourne and Macclesfield Black. The Ashbourne machine proved far too strong for Macclesfield Red, taking another emphatic nine (30) to three (15) win. Meanwhile, down at Currency Creek where the smaller venue requires play closer to the table, limiting a range of shots, Macclesfield Black found the competition too strong. Currency Creek, with its significant home table advantage, pulled out another ace, bringing in top order Tony Crosby to fill-in with the absence of Helen Taylor. Crosby's inclusion facilitated moving top order Kym Trebilcock to the third position to upset Macclesfield's bottom order and the team's Doubles chances. The tactic proved the deciding factor in Currency Creek's nine (28) to three (16) win. Round 10 next Wednesday, July 9, has the larger venues at Macclesfield and Meadows hosting the last of the Series 2 clashes, with the resurgent Meadows hosting Currency Creek, while at Macclesfield the double-header has the Wanderers taking on Macclesfield Red and Macclesfield Black up against Ashbourne. Details of the program can be obtained from the HCTTA Facebook site or by contacting the Association Secretary by email at (hcttaexec@gmail.com).

Southern Fleurieu Sapsasa Term 2

What a big term of sport. Term two is the busiest term for SA School Sport Carnivals and Championships, with Boys AFL, Cross Country and Boys and Girls Netball. Added to the own Southern Fleurieu Cross Country Athletics and Netball Carnivals and it is easy to see there are so many opportunities for students to get involved in sport, which they did, with the data showing more than 500 students from 12 schools attending carnivals and state team trials in this term alone. This wouldn't occur without the great support of the Sapsasa representatives at each school and fantastic parental support.

Cross Country

A big thank you to Encounter Lutheran College who again hosted the Cross Country early this term in perfect conditions. Students pushed themselves to the limit, achieving some impressive times. At the end of the day, it was a very close result, with the Investigator College runners just coming out on top as the Champion School. In the Small School/Handicap Competition, it was Myponga. This also was the selection trial for the State Cross Country Day, with the top six runners earning an invitation to the State Cross Country

Day at Oakbank. State Cross Country On June 5, the Cross-Country top six finishers headed to Oakbank Racecourse for the State Cross Country Championship. Rocco Kenyon from EFS followed up his amazing performance from last year to win the 11-year-old Boys 3km race. In a family affair, his brother Cody came second in the 10-year-old Boys 2km race. This gave them automatic selection in the SA State Cross Country Team. The 10-year-old Girls team were the most successful, finishing just off the podium in fifth place out of the 30 teams.

Boys AFL State Carnival

This team can hold their heads high after a competitive State Carnival in Division 1. Their endeavour, attitude and enjoyment of playing together was evident throughout the three-day carnival. The team had good wins against Lower Eyre Peninsula and Upper South East, and had narrow one point and two point losses to Barossa and East Adelaide, which resulted in coming ninth. Sam Smithson, Elijah Waller, Bohdi Lane, Jett Wray, Cooper Field and Rocco Kenyon were the most consistent players throughout the carnival, and Hudson Filsell was leading goal-scorer. Southern Fleurieu Athletics Carnival Thanks again to Victor Primary, especially their groundsman Grant and South Coast Little Athletics for enabling Southern Fleurieu to host the Carnival at Victor Primary again. Perfect conditions saw numerous records broken. Several were long-standing. Addison from Tyndale excelled breaking three records. In a very close competition, it was Encounter Lutheran College, who just nudged out Investigator, winning the Championship Shield. Mt Compass had a convincing win in the Handicap Shield. All first-placed Athletes and the first four 100m runners have been selected in our Southern Fleurieu Athletics teams to compete in the State Athletics Carnival in September. Netball We had another big turn-out for our Southern Fleurieu Carnival. It was Eastern Fleurieu's day, winning both divisions. SAPSASA Boys' Netball, which is now in its second year has taken off, with more than 70 boys trialling for the combined Southern Metro Zone. The Division 1 team had a great State Carnival, winning gold. Southern Fleurieu again demonstrated it's a powerhouse in netball. The Girls' Division 3 Southern Fleurieu team also won gold, and the Division 1 team almost won, but lost their deciding game by one goal.

Strathalbyn Ladies Golf

Kerrie Edwards wins the day

On Wednesday, July 2, 11 ladies played a stroke competition for the fourth qualifying round of the club championships.

The playing conditions started icy, but improved to finish with perfect golfing weather.

However, the fairways had less run than in previous weeks and remained quite damp for the whole round.

Kerrie Edwards liked the conditions the best, winning with a nett 75.

Not too far behind was Tonya Merritt with 78, followed by Helen Lyon on 81.

Cara Eastwood scored 82, Mel Johnson 83, and Di Krutli 85, while Jo

Pickhaver and Pauline Walkom both finished with 87.

Gill Keane had 88, while Sue Pryor carded 96.

Nearest the pin winner, with an excellent second shot finishing centimetres from the hole on the 17th, was Gill, while Cara scored a gobbler on the second hole.

Gill had had a golfing lesson during the week and word is that her drives were beautiful.

Sue Pryor found the creek, while Jo had tree trouble.

Kerrie had lots of one-putts, which definitely helped her score.

Winner Kerrie Edwards with runner-up Tonya Merritt.

David Wright plays the right shots

By Perry Jones

On Saturday the Strathalbyn Golf club held a Stoke round for 43 players, with David Wright being the overall winner.

David, playing in B Grade, certainly kept up his recent good form playing the right shots to have 87 off the stick for a nett 72, he being the only player to play to his handicap for the day.

In A Grade it was Kirk Richardson, also playing some steady golf of late, being the winner of that group with 82 off the stick for a nett 73, while in C Grade Sam Avramidis was the winner for the second week in a row with 99 off the stick for a nett 77.

Troy Williams in being off the scene for a few weeks didn't help his golf, coming last in A Grade with 94 off the stick for a nett 85, while Kim Wittwer was last in C Grade with 105 off the stick for a nett 83, and last in B Grade and last overall was Dave Bell with 112 off the stick and a nett 93.

Ben McLeod had a good day when playing with Henry Kelly, and Ben Clark when he finished second in A Grade with 87 off the stick and a nett 76, picking up a birdie on the eleventh and then putting for birdies on the next three holes but having to settle for pars.

Ben Clarke also had a reasonable round with one birdie in his 88 off the stick to also have a nett 76 to finish fourth on a count back in A Grade, Alan Haberfield third with 86 off the stick and also finishing with a nett 76.

Henry Kelly was going well also, picking up a birdie on the 11th but on the 16th ran into a fair bit of trouble after a nice drive with the green then in sight.

However Henry's second shot went out of bounds and so did his next four shots as he finished the hole with 15 off the stick, fortunately the scoring computer showed him a bit of mercy as it only allows for up to ten a hole.

Not done with yet Henry on the 18th had a poor drive in reaching a short distance to finish near the 17th green and then much to delight of an audience including Dave and Don Bell, Henry had two 'airies' to finish with nine for the last hole, Dave thinking that Henry's misfortune could save him from coming last for the day, Henry however finished third from last with a computer reading 102 off the stick and a nett 86.

Henry this Saturday will need to show a bit better effort as he takes on the in form A-Grader Kirk Richardson in the Captain's Cup.

Putting for the group saw Henry have 30 putts, Ben McLeod 31 and Ben Clark 32.

Another member of the Kelly gang in Des Kelly had an ordinary day, despite having a par on the first and tenth holes, finishing with 96 off the stick, with nines of 46 and 50 for a nett 81.

The 16th hole also brought Des undone when playing his third shot, being in the same position as the Saturday before when he needed a shot over the dam to reach the green which he did with his second shot after his first hit went in the water on that occasion.

Being egged on by partner Geoff Hall that he could do the same and get over again, Des was up for the challenge using his trusty three wood again, only to see his first hit go into the water and then his second shot hit the bank on the side of the dam to then roll into the water, Geoff saying he could then have a drop on his way to luckily having one putt for a nine.

Having mentioned Geoff Hall, he had the unusual problem with his chipping and putting on the day with 50 off the stick on the front nine and 43 on the back for a nett 84, at least he had few problems on the sixteenth as the other member his group Grant Ewins who after having been playing well must have been put off by Des' antics, as he had nine on the 16th as well, after having an unplayable lie and then also hitting the ball out of bounds, along with two putts.

At one stage Des was asked by Graeme Bertholini, who was nearby how he was going, Des replied pretty rough and asked how Graeme's partner Sean Walsh was going as Des meets Sean in the Captain's Cup this week, Berti replying Sean was playing well.

Well that wasn't quite true as Des after discovered that Sean had 94 off the stick for a nett 83, Des finishing with 96 off the stick for a nett 81, then saying he played a bit poorly in not wishing to lose anything of his handicap before he meets Sean.

Graeme is also involved in the Captain's Cup in playing Paul Coombe, and his effort on Saturday was below par with 90 off the stick for a nett 82.

There was plenty of entertainment in the group of Kingsley Handke, John Owen, Brian Simpson and Kevin Shepley, particularly by the last two when they tried to visit the Hobbit's in the hollow with their second shot, luckily not going in the front door.

Then Brian's third shot landed on the green but kept rolling across it and off it to be 10 metres down the path to the next tee off, Kevin playing a similar shot.

While Kevin played an excellent fourth shot to within two feet from the hole to take five for the par four hole, Brian saw his chip shot land on the edge of the green and then roll back to him, before hitting his next shot well past the hole to finish with an eight.

Kingsley's effort on this hole and the next time around, the 14th, wasn't much better as both times his chips on to the slick greens rolled off.

Brian on the sixth over the creek and playing with a new ball made sure he didn't lose it this time as he watched it all the way into the creek, then proceeded to have another tee off to finish with seven on the par three.

Kevin Shepley then said to Brian "I hope you keep the receipts from when you buy a new ball" to which Brian replied "I won this one and I normally only use second hand balls".

On the eighth, the par three money hole, Brian said he was looking forward to $2000 worth of Coopers beer.

Well there was no prize to be had as Brian's tee shot went left to finished near the ladies tee block on the ninth hole and he took three more shots to reach the green and then have four putts for an eight.

Back to Kingsley's effort on the day, on the 12th in trying to chip on the green with his fifth shot had a miss hit for the ball to roll off the green and into the side fence.

Then in trying to chip it out only managed to see the ball roll back to the fence again so he decided to climb the fence for a shot which turned out well placing it on the green but it still took three more putts to get the ball in the hole to have a 'Moose' (10), to add to his card which also contained three eights, one when his putt on the 16th managed to slowly run around the lip of the cup and out, saying you can't expect to win with those scores.

John Owen with his third shot on the 16th managed to keep his ball out of the dam water by six inches, so then he played a 'Dam Busters' shot in skipping the ball over the water to hit the sleepers on the other side before it bounced back to be a foot from the water's edge.

In extracting the ball from there with his next shot, landed the ball on the green being applauded by the group teeing off on the 14th, with John waving his club in the air thanking then for their support before going on to have four putts for a nine.

Ken Lester playing with Gordon Robson and Alan Haberfield on the eighth mentioned that at that stage none of them had three putted, so on that hole they then all recorded three putts.

Kym Nelson mentioned that he was looking for a step ladder on the 18th when his second shot got stuck up a tree, so he had to go back and play another shot.

Kim Wittwer at one stage was seen running up the 11th fairway after playing part of the 12th fairway as he had lost his 'Crow's Putter' on the 11th green and didn't want anyone to pick it up.

That wasn't all he lost on the day when he went into the dam twice on the 16th for a nine, the first time around (seventh) didn't go into the dam but had a ten, as he finished last in C Grade with 105 off the stick for a nett 83, Kingsley Handke just in front of him with 111 off the stick for a nett 83 as well.
