Local grain growers facing dry start to the seeding season...

PRAYING FOR RAIN

By Deirdre Graham

Local grain growers are looking to the skies in the hope that the dry start to seeding will be over soon.

Woodchester farmer Neil Harvey typically crops canola, beans, wheat, barley and oats, and would dearly love 20 to 25mm of rain as soon as possible.

"Unfortunately, we had lots of rain during harvest in December and January, and since then the tap has really been turned off," Mr Harvey said.

"As farmers we have tried to conserve as much moisture as we could while summer weed spraying and keeping minimum weeds on the land.

"(However), the last couple of months has been exceptionally dry... we traditionally start seeding just after Anzac Day.

Tony and Linda Heller warmly reflect on the legacy of their recently passed father Jack who was the oldest member of the Goolwa RSL Sub-Branch. Photo: Tara Nash. INSET: The late Jack Heller is remembered for his dry sense of humour.

Tribute for oldest Goolwa RSL member

By Tara Nash

Goolwa RSL's oldest member, and one of the last local Korean veterans, the late Jack Heller, is being remembered for his warmth and sense of humour.

The 94-year-old was a member for about 15 years, and would attend the RSL most Friday evenings for dinner.

"They loved him at the club," his daughter, Linda, said.

"You'd walk in and everyone would just flock to him."

His son Tony found everyone would stop to say "g'day" to his dad.

"They had an appreciation for him as a veteran," he said.

"When we were in here for dinner and it was announced that he'd passed away, there was a collective 'oh' from the crowd – that was nice."

Before having his family, Jack served in the Navy from 1952-57, including a year off the Korean coast and a couple of trips to Japan.

He also spent a year around the Pacific, including New Guinea and Manus Island, as part of Australia's patrolling.

Being a shallow water diver meant he was often tasked with sweeping the hull to check for booby traps.

On one occasion, two ships were arranging a transfer when a cable got tangled with a propeller, so, in the middle of winter surrounded by icicles, Jack dressed in a canvas wetsuit and jumped in.

He went on to be married to his now late wife of 62 years, Helen. The pair were "two peas in a pod" and "never went anywhere without the other".

The couple had three children, and the family have a long-line of veterans who served in almost every conflict since World War I, starting with Tony's great-grandfather, grandfather and great-uncle, his dad Jack, himself, and three of his four children, due to an "inherit awareness of service".

As a boilermaker by trade, Jack moved into a senior supervisor role in charge of quality control from a young age.

He worked on a number of large hydro projects, and was qualified in high-pressure fabrication, where his work took him around

Australia and sometimes overseas, bringing a sense of adventure to his children.

The couple settled in Goolwa during retirement for about 35 years and were involved in various community groups including RSL, Lions, a community craft group, learning computer, and thai chi.

Jack is widely remembered for having a cheeky grin and dry sense of humour, who loved engaging with others.

"It wouldn't matter how his morning had started – he would switch back on," Tony said.

"He would give (others) cheek and enjoyed poking fun at people.

"One of his favourite moments during any given day was if he could catch someone out."

His passing was felt by the community, with many stories and condolences from others, signifying the impact that he had on people.

Linda believes he will be "hugely missed", while Tony reflected on him as a "gentleman".

"But more than anything else, he was such a good example of how to lead a really good life," he said.

"We couldn't have asked for a better lived example."

Federal Budget considers cost-of-living crisis

The Albanese Government’s third Federal Budget was handed down on Tuesday night, with a greater focus on the nation’s crippling cost-of-living crisis and fighting inflation.

Labor is expecting inflation to reach 3.5 per cent this year and 2.75 per cent in 2025-26, while the budget is predicted to deliver a $13 billion surplus but tip into larger deficits over the next four years.

Ahead of the budget, one of the top priorities for Member for Mayo Rebekha Sharkie and Member for Kavel Dan Cregan last week was to see vital Adelaide Hills road infrastructure funding included in the budget.

More details in next week’s Argus.

Hall renovations continue

A crane assisted in the roof structure of the Strathalbyn Town Hall last week in preparation for an air conditioning system and new stage lighting equipment.

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, the opening was delayed for months as issues arose during renovations.

Previously it was earmarked to open late 2023, but now the plan is to open in the second quarter of this year.

Some of the works include extension of the stage and new stage lighting, refurbishment of toilets, a modification to the balcony floor layout and accessible features.

Local family ‘flip’n and dip’n’ Strath’s former chicken shop

By Giorgina McKay

New owners of the former Strathalbyn chicken shop are busy preparing the building for its grand re-opening next week as a takeaway store that caters to all members of the community.

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, the Strath Chicken Shop was forced to close its doors the day before the Adelaide Cup long weekend last year due to financial stress.

The building has remained unoccupied since then, but will finally have new life breathed into it by a local family who were handed the keys last Wednesday.

It started out as a joke, but the idea to open a takeaway store soon grew legs for new owners, the Graetz family.

“It just started out as a joke when we were sitting around the table one night, (saying) ‘let’s open the chicken shop’ and it eventuated into ‘let’s call it Strath Flip’n and Dip’n,’” Fiona said.

“Oskar had the food truck, so we have done catering before, it’s just a matter of now we’ve got a shop rather than a food truck.”

Strath Chick’n Flip’n and Dip’n will have a predominant takeaway menu, including chicken and fresh rolls, and potentially sweets and cakes.

Its opening hours to start with will be 5.30am to 10pm seven days a week to fill a gap for those needing meals in the early hours of the morning and late at night.

“(We’ll) open early in the morning for the truckies to go through and get their breakfast, and closing later at nights because when you come up from the city it’s like a ghost town – nothing is open past 7.15pm and the pubs stop serving around 8pm,” Fiona said.

“There are some takeaways, but the location for us is what made us pick this space because it’s on the main (street).”

The family has spent about $70,000 to get the building up and going for its anticipated grand opening next Friday mid-morning.

In the future, the Graetz plan to put in outdoor seating and hire some local employees, and potentially look at turning the building into a café/restaurant.

For now, they are focused on getting it started in order to give back to the community.

“We will employ some eventually, but to get started, it will be six of us – family and close friends in food – that can help jump it and get it started,” Orleans said.

“We want to make sure we know exactly what we’re doing first, so when it comes to training them, it’s easier.

“(It’s about) giving back to the community a bit.

“We’re quite immersed in the community, but we just want to get in there a bit more.”

STRATHALBYN 185 YEARS – TIMELINE

1920^s

- Memorials and monuments erected included the Strathalbyn Monument on the neck of Peninsula, which was unveiled 1921, while local community halls created honour rolls and the Soldiers Memorial Gardens was established.
- In 1922 the library adjacent to the Institute was built.
- The racing club started in 1922.
- In 1923 A.K Barr’s Car and Passenger Service started transporting to Adelaide.
- In 1924 the Commercial Bank was built.
- Boy Scouts began 1924 and Girl Guides and Brownies in 1926.
- The Strathalbyn Hockey Club was formed in 1926.
- In 1927 Strathalbyn High School began.
- In 1929 Star Theatre was built.
- Returned soldiers formed a Returned Soldiers League (RSL).

1930^s

- In 1930 the Savings Bank of SA was built.
- Sir Lancelot Stirling of ‘The Lodge’ died in 1932, and the townspeople built the Church of England Tower as a memorial.
- In 1933 a corporation organised a ‘Back to Strathalbyn Carnival’ – a jam-packed event over several days, with the profits used to build the swimming pool in 1934.
- The first Flower Show was held in 1934.
- The reservoir opened in 1935.
- In 1935, it was decided to revive the RSA sub branch and later, as the RSL, it has had full use and ownership of the building ever since.
- The netball club was formed in 1937.
- In 1938 the third St. Andrew’s Bridge was built four feet wider (present bridge).
- In 1938 a corporation chose Harold J. Stowe to be Secretary and the Power Station became a corporation office.
- In 1938 the first meeting of Trotting Milnes Road was held, and the course on land was donated by George Jones.
- AC Power was connected to the town in 1939.
- The Institute was newly remodelled from 1939 and was called the Town Hall.
- 1939 centenary celebrations included a grand ball, with proceeds going to Town Hall.
- In 1939 January had two days of terrible bushfires, and it was a huge fight to save Strathalbyn.
- In September 1939 World War II started, and some men enlisted immediately, especially in the Air Force while others were ‘called up’.
- In farming families some sons trained for war and others remained to grow food. Women were about to be called to form Women’s Land Army, working on the land in industries, and munitions and factories making planes and all sorts of equipment for the war effort.
- The Institute Committee handed the Town Hall deeds and responsibility to the Corporation, and a large porch was built as a memorial.
- The Angas Flour Mill changed hands to the Laucke family.
- Major reconstruction occurred on Commercial Road.
- Mill Bridge was raised and moved.
- The curved road from Commercial Road to Albyn Terrace was eliminated.
- The Great Depression dominated, with wages cut, wheat and wool prices reduced, and people waiting at end of day to take home bakery goods left unsold.

Mount Barker Mayor David Leach, Member for Kavel Dan Cregan and Member for Mayo Rebekha Sharkie discussing potential youth opportunities, including a youth hub, in Mount Barker.

Push for youth opportunities in Mt Barker

A local MP is calling for the community to have its say on Mount Barker District Council's proposed Child and Youth Action Plan 2024-2028, which will hopefully open more opportunities for young people in the region.

As of 2020, the Mount Barker council region's child and youth population stood at 12,547 – a number projected to grow to 17,415 by 2035.

In recognition of this growth and the evolving needs of this demographic, the four-year action plan outlines key actions and ongoing services council commits to implementing that are aimed at supporting the needs and aspirations of children and young people in the area.

It is the result of extensive consultation, incorporating insights and ideas shared by children, young people, community members, and stakeholders alike.

Some of the plan's actions include the feasibility of a programmed youth space, the establishment of a youth advisory group, appointment of a community development officer for children and youth, township play spaces, promotion of local activities and opportunities, and funding avenues.

Member for Mayo Rebekha Sharkie recently met with Member for Kavel Dan Cregan and Mount Barker Mayor David Leach to discuss the establishment of a youth hub, which is one of the plan's key priorities.

"The wellbeing of young people in Mayo is a priority of mine," Ms Sharkie said.

"I have met with Dan Cregan and Mayor David Leach to discuss my goal of establishing a youth hub in Mount Barker, offering young people a purpose-built space where they feel welcome and safe.

"Public consultation for Mount Barker District Council Child and Youth Action Plan is now open, and I encourage young people and families to put in a submission to ensure they are part of the change we need to see in our community."

Residents can provide their feedback by filling out an online form at (<https://yoursay.mountbarker.sa.gov.au/draft-child-youth-action-plan>) or emailing (eloh@mountbarker.sa.gov.au) before Wednesday, June 5.

Following community consultation, the draft plan will be edited as required based on the feedback, before being presented to council for endorsement.

Strathalbyn raises money to take on bullying

By Deirdre Graham

The anti-bullying and mental health awareness organisation Dolly's Dream was front and centre at two fundraisers in Strathalbyn last week.

EFS students and Strathalbyn business Nutrien Ag both staged a Do It For Dolly fundraiser on Friday.

Dolly's Dream was created by Kate and Tick Everett who lost their 14-year-old daughter Dolly to suicide after ongoing bullying.

The Everetts want to change the culture of bullying by addressing the impact of bullying, anxiety, depression and youth suicide, through education and direct support to young people and families.

At Eastern Fleurieu School (EFS) year 12 students Georgia Llewellyn and Ranii Dewhurst organised a barbecue and baked goods lunch for students, who were encouraged to wear blue for the day.

"I guess it was (inspired) by losing someone that everyone in our year level was close to through mental health, so we have always wanted to back a good cause and this has a story behind it," Georgia said.

Nutrien employees Chris Eastham, Richard Cooper and Angus Slack were raising money for the Do it For Dolly cause at the business premises on Friday.

"(Preparation) was kind of late notice.

"I think last Wednesday we just came up with it after we saw it, and so we emailed the principal and he said 'yes'.

"So, we got in contact with Ranii's cousin at Pik a Pie bakery, and Woollies donated 300 sausages, which was good."

Georgia said last week's fundraiser went "really well".

"We just wanted to raise as much as we could, as anything put towards this cause can make a difference," she said.

"It is very important to speak up (against bullying)."

Meanwhile, Nutrien Ag Solutions also staged a fundraiser out the front of its premises through a sausage sizzle.

Amanda Ratcliff at Nutrien Ag said Dolly's Dream was supported nationwide by the firm.

"Nutrien Ag Solutions has a strong affiliation with Do It For Dolly Day and the Dolly's Dream Foundation since its early inception, with Kate and Tick Everett's long time affiliation with our Katherine branch," she said.

"It's a day where we stand together as one in saying bullying is not okay, to be kind to one another, and to stand behind Dolly's motto – 'speak even if your voice shakes'.

"The staff at Nutrien Ag Solutions Strathalbyn support the day every year as many of us have school-aged children and have seen first-hand the effect that bullying can have on children, and to remind them that it is okay to speak up and be heard if something isn't right."

Dolly's Dream provides help via programs such as a support line, a beacon cyber safety app, school workshops, mental health first aid training, and a parent hub.

Motorcyclists gather for service

By Tara Nash

About 85 people gathered at the Kenny Blake Memorial Statue on Saturday to remember riders who lost their lives on the roads.

Departing from Aldgate, motorcyclists arrived at Strathalbyn to bagpiper Caitlin Fry who did an “excellent job” performing which set the tone for the proceedings.

The music drew the attention of shopkeepers and others on the street, who came out to watch.

Forty names of loved ones were read aloud by four people before the crowd stopped to reflect, and a Lutheran Pastor from Mount Barker gave a Christian-based message.

The event was organised by Longriders Christian Motorcycle Club, whose Life Member Aaron Hogg read the poem The Dash by Linda Ellis, which reflects on the meaning behind dash between your birthdate and day of passing.

“Our whole life is that dash; it’s quite a nice poem,” Mr Hogg said.

“It was very heartfelt at the site.”

The neighbouring Robin Hood Hotel received some patronage, and the fleet continued to Meadows for lunch.

“The weather was good, and the traffic was light for a Saturday morning because everyone’s at sport,” Mr Hogg said.

“It was a really, really good day.”

About 85 people attended the service in memory of riders who lost their lives on the roads.

Macclesfield couple join worthy walk

By Georgina McKay

A Macclesfield couple are giving back to a worthy cause after going through their own health battles by participating in a fundraising walk in Adelaide on Sunday.

Motor Neurone Disease (MND) is a terminal illness that results in rapidly increasing disability, as messages to the muscles from the brain fail, and the muscles wither and waste while the mind remains active.

Currently, the illness has no effective treatment or cure, and average life expectancy is only 27 months from diagnosis.

The Walk to Defeat MND is a major annual fundraising event that enables MNDSA to provide qualified, experienced and passionate staff to provide care and comfort, and supportive client services, including occupational therapy, augmentative and alternative communication, and assistive equipment to aid independence and the caring role.

Held at Adelaide’s Pinky Flat, opposite Adelaide Oval, the 4.5km walk on the banks of the Torrens River attracts hundreds of people, who individually attempt to raise money for the cause through participation.

Macclesfield couple Chris and Lesley Attrill will be among those lacing up their sneakers in support of MND.

The pair heard about the walk through their daughter Stacie who is on the MNDSA board.

“(Stacie) put a Facebook notice up saying MND walk is on May 19,” Chris said.

“I didn’t know about it, but I knew a little bit about MND from Neale Daniher from Melbourne.

“He used to play for Essendon and I’ve followed Essendon since I was a boy, so I thought ‘why don’t we join?’ as a family because Stacie, her husband and three grandkids are down in Mitcham, so we’ll all get down there at the park, have a good time, and raise a bit of money for the cause.”

The couple wanted to give back to a cause after having gone through their own health battles.

Chris is a lung cancer survivor while Lesley is a bowel cancer survivor, and Macclesfield couple Lesley and Chris Attrill are participating in the Walk to Defeat MND on Sunday to raise money for a worthy cause.

each hoped to raise as much as they can through the walk to help people in similar situations.

“We do know what it’s like to live through a debilitating disease and we’ve been lucky to come out the other end,” Lesley said.

“Some of these people aren’t so lucky because the research hasn’t gotten to that same stage as cancer and some of the other diseases, so it’s an opportunity to help one of those diseases still relatively unknown and give it publicity.

“If you’ve got a disability, it makes it that much tougher to get out and make your way in the world, and live a so-called normal life, so I think these sorts of causes help people in those predicaments to fulfil what they can with their life.

“So, I think that’s always a good side of it – to see the people that have the support not just from their families, but organisations in the state and throughout the country that provide the supports they need in their day-to-day life.

“Hopefully, we come closer to a cure or at least make people more aware of it if nothing else.”

The pair encouraged people, particularly those in Macclesfield, to support the cause by either joining the walk, donating to participants or going down to Pinky Flat to cheer on those taking a stand.

To participate, visit (<https://my.mnlsa.org.au/event/donate/85/walk-to-defeat-2024>), or donate directly to the Attrills by visiting (<https://my.mnlsa.org.au/my-fundraising/2156/chris-attrill>).

Burn-off gets out of control at Langhorne Creek

A burn-off at Langhorne Creek last Wednesday prompted a safety reminder from local Country Fire Service (CFS) crews.

Just before 11.30am on May 8, Strathalbyn and Langhorne Creek CFS crews were called to Step Road after a burn-off got out of control.

The fire was brought back under control quickly by three trucks, but it served as a gentle reminder for people to be careful, as it has been more than 90 days since the region has had any significant rainfall, making it easy for a small pile burn to get out of hand.

Explosion causes fire at Hindmarsh Island home

By Georgina McKay

An explosion caused a carport fire at a Hindmarsh Island home last Wednesday.

At about 9.30am on May 8, Country Fire Service (CFS) crews with two trucks were called to Excelsior Parade after an explosion below the roller door off the shed of a property.

Fortunately, passers-by quickly controlled and extinguished the fire with an appliance before crews arrived on scene.

The cause is currently under investigation by SA Police.

Headstone stolen from Strathalbyn cemetery

By Georgina McKay

Police are investigating the theft of a recently installed headstone from the Strathalbyn cemetery within the last month.

The Southern Argus understands a woman who tends to her husband's grave in the Parker Avenue cemetery had the headstone stolen recently.

A SAPOL spokesperson said the theft was reported to local police on April 6, but the incident is believed to have occurred sometime since March 30.

Anyone with information on the whereabouts of the headstone or the theft is asked to contact Crime Stoppers on 1800 333 000 or online at (www.crimestopperssa.com.au).

Fatal crash at Port Elliot

A Chiton man passed away after his motorcycle collided with a car at Port Elliot on Saturday.

At about 2.45pm, police and emergency services were called to North Terrace following reports a car and motorbike had collided.

The motorbike rider, a 30-year-old Chiton man, sadly died at the scene.

The driver, a 50-year-old Second Valley woman, and her passenger, a man aged in his '90s, were taken to hospital for treatment of non-life-threatening injuries.

Major Crash Investigators attended the scene.

Anyone with information about the crash or dashcam footage is asked to contact Crime Stoppers on 1800 333 000 or at (www.crimestopperssa.com.au).

Operation Safe Hills concludes

Police are warning motorists that officers will still be out in full force, paying attention to safety on the roads, despite Operation Safe Hills concluding this week.

The annual operation ran from September 2023 to April 2024 with a focus on speeding to try to reduce the impact of road trauma.

Sadly, during the operation, six lives were lost, including one motorcyclist, and 66 serious injuries occurred in crashes in the Hills Fleurieu local service area and its surrounds.

Additional officers and cameras were deployed to monitor roads in the region throughout the operation.

A total of 12,848 speeding offences were detected throughout the operation, and of the 29 motorists who immediately lost their licence as a result of driving at high speeds, 12 were motorcyclists.

Although the operation has officially concluded, with the fine weather continuing through autumn, Superintendent Darren Fielke warned drivers not to risk their lives or others by engaging in dangerous road user behaviour.

"Police will still continue to pay attention to speeding and other dangerous driving behaviours on Adelaide Hills roads," he said.

"While the weather is still warm and the roads may be dry, it is very easy to come unstuck on these windy roads.

"Treat them with respect and obey the speed limit."

Murray Bridge woman reported for driving while disqualified

A Murray Bridge woman will front court after being caught driving while disqualified on Saturday.

Murray Bridge police stopped a red Toyota Corolla on Gail Crescent, where checks of the motorist revealed she was disqualified from driving.

The driver, a 54-year-old Murray Bridge woman, was reported for driving while disqualified and her vehicle was impounded.

She will be summonsed to attend court at a later date.

Drugs located at Murray Bridge home

A search of a Murray Bridge home last Tuesday uncovered a quantity of cannabis and prescription drugs, resulting in the arrest of a local man.

Following an investigation, Murray Bridge Police and Dog Operations searched a Janice Street home on May 7, where they found 2.6 kilograms of a buttery substance believed to contain cannabis.

Loose cannabis and prescriptions drugs unprescribed to the owner were also located.

A 44-year-old man from the address was arrested for traffic a commercial quantity of a controlled drug and possess prescription drug.

His bail was refused and he appeared in Murray Bridge Magistrates Court, where he was bailed to appear in the District Court on December 24.

Loose cannabis and prescriptions drugs were found at a Murray Bridge home last Tuesday.

Road safety education programs vital for SA action plan

A new road safety report is highlighting how vital education programs are reaching more young South Australians to help them make safe decisions when on the road.

The first annual report of South Australia's Road Safety Action Plan 2023-2025, released during National Road Safety Week, presents a 12-month snapshot of achievements and progress against the Action Plan's ten priority areas, including schools and local places, regional areas and road user behaviour.

The Action Plan, released in February

2023, identifies measures that will contribute to a target of at least a 50 per cent reduction in lives lost and a 30 per cent reduction in serious injuries on South Australian roads by 2031.

Targeting dangerous behaviour through road safety education is a key focus, with the Department for Infrastructure and Transport's THINK! Road Safety Partnerships Program at the forefront of driving cultural change among young people.

Minister for Emergency Services Dan Cregan said the programs help those starting out behind the wheel make informed decisions.

"Education remains a key pillar – delivering programs that hit home and positively influence driver behaviour for the next generation on our roads," he said.

"We know there's much more to be done, but the first annual report of the Road Safety Action Plan 2023-25 marks an important step for the government to assess progress on its targets and inform future measures to help save lives."

Celebrating 50 years of preserving history

By Deirdre Graham

The Strathalbyn Museum celebrated turning 50 last Wednesday, hosting a morning tea for its past and present volunteers, and welcoming the Chief Executive Officer of the National Trust of SA Simon Ambrose.

Mr Ambrose was on hand for the cake cutting alongside current Strathalbyn Museum Chairman Warren Doman.

The history of planning for the museum goes back to 1939 when the then town clerk Harold Stowe started collecting historical items.

Concerned about what would happen to his collection, he called a public meeting and from that, the National Trust of Strathalbyn was formed.

When news the town's police station was going to be moved to Commercial Road, the members lobbied to use it as a museum, and in 1973 they gained approval, with the official opening staged in July 1974.

Mr Doman said since then, more than 100 to 150 volunteers had helped out at the buildings on Rankine Street.

"We have a History Month event this May, which involves being open for Tuesday, Wednesday, and Thursday afternoons, and on Saturday and Sunday, with a display about our 50 years," he said.

"On Wednesday, we had a morning tea for about 30 past and present volunteers to help celebrate the 50 years, and recognise the volunteers who have made the place what it is today."

Part of last week's celebrations was an exhibition of photographs showing how the museum has progressed.

"Over the past 10 years, there has been some major displays, (for example), there is a room set aside which shows the war room and gives an indication of what Strathalbyn people contributed during World War I and World War II," Mr Doman said.

"We have got an industry display in the stable that shows the different industries over the period of time, right back to the 1850s.

"There are about 12 to 14 different industries and we have an agricultural display that shows how agriculture changed in the Strathalbyn district over that time.

"They went from a quite prosperous start to a period of time when the soil started to deplete, and then after the advent of fertiliser, everything was restored again, and they came into another prosperous time after that."

Among those attending the volunteers' morning tea was Founding Secretary Janet Rankine.

While more than 100 volunteers have helped out at the museum, Mr Doman is always hoping more will assist.

About 30 past and present volunteers of the Strathalbyn Museum celebrated its 50th birthday last week.

Clayton Bay resident and 2023 Eastern Fleurieu graduate April Rigney was recently among eight art and design students from metropolitan and country South Australia to have received top honours in the SACE 2024 Art Show.

April's acrylic on canvas painting Kondoli Dreaming, which was recognised with an award, is a sacred Ngarrindjeri dreaming story based in Port Elliot and Victor Harbor of how fire was given to First Nations people and how it must be protected.

April was inspired to paint the Kondoli Dreaming after an excursion with renowned Ngarrindjeri artist Cedric Varcoe, where students visited Basham's Beach.

As a Ngarrindjeri Mimini (woman), she loved learning about her culture and the dreaming stories, and chose to connect with that culture through art, using Ngarrindjeri art-style to paint the Kondoli dreaming story.

Letters to the Editor

Thank you all-around

Dear Darren and Deirdre,
Thank you both, and your staff, including Tara Nash and Giorgina McKay, for such a good supplement the other week 'Strathalbyn Celebrating 185 Years'.

Helen and I particularly appreciated the double page on Gwenda and Ken Knights, the history of St Andrew's Church, Deirdre's interview with us both on the Theatrical-historical tours and the 'Words of Blessing' from Strathalbyn Churches, the two pages on Aboriginal history, the column on the Rankines, and that you were able to squeeze in Helen's late suggestion of the Arts and Entertainment.

But the entire range of articles form a most valuable record to keep for years to come.

We are most grateful and congratulate you all.

Another view on domestic violence

That a woman is murdered every four days by a partner or ex is tragic.
This is 0.3 women per 100,000p/a.
In 1990 the figure was 1.3 per 100,000 (Aust. Bureau of Criminology).

A more accurate headline should be 'triumphant decline in domestic violence (DV) deaths'.

The current figure for men murdered in domestic violence incidents is 0.2 per 100,000.

The current storm has been caused by an increase of eight female deaths in 120 days – this is likely to end up as being a tiny or non-existent increase when measured over the year.

Albeit, desperately tragic individually.

Please look at the website of men's DV advocacy group oneinthree for more information.

We are not men's rights activists and do not seek to diminish the reality of male violence to women and children.

The ABS personal safety survey figures show about 1/3 of domestic violence victims are men.

There are very few services which will assist these men and their children.

If abuse/murder of children and the elderly were accurately factored into domestic violence data, women become a much more significant proportion of the perpetrators of domestic violence.

One-billion-dollars more for women's DV services, which will turn men away... how about $1 billion to help the seven men a day taking their own lives in Australia?

Shock diagnosis

I have recently been diagnosed with breast cancer.

While this news came as a shock, cancer affects many in our community and I am grateful for all the work undertaken in this field which provides us with the best chance of beating this disease.

I am lucky that my cancer has been detected early, and I am in the care of an excellent specialist.

Early detection provides the best chance of living beyond cancer, so I want to remind women to have a regular breast screen, and if they notice any breast changes, to see their GP as soon as possible.

More than 1400 people are diagnosed with breast cancer in South Australia every year, and having a regular screening can help find breast cancer early and when it is easier to treat.

While focusing on my health and treatment is my first priority, I will continue my work in the Shadow Ministry and I'm not anticipating that I will need to take leave immediately.

Double delay for
independent inquiry

After a lengthy delay to the announcement of the Greyhound Industry Reform Inspector (GIRI), the Opposition welcomes Sal Perna AM as the appointment, but not the Labor Government's double delay.

The start date for Sal Perna has been flagged as in the "coming months", forcing a second delay to the crucial inquiry.

When he eventually begins, Sal Perna has 86 recommendations to initiate.

We need this process to be efficient.

The Liberal Party supports the greyhound industry, and we can all agree that live baiting is a disgusting and illegal practice.

Those who live bait must be caught and banned to protect the racing industry and animal welfare.

We know Sal Perna is still a few months away from beginning in the GIRI role, so we hope there's no negative impact on the roll-out of the recommendations and that they are implemented as quickly as possible.

Valuing volunteering

Sunday will kick off the important week that pays tribute to all those people who volunteer.

National Volunteer Week is Australia's largest annual celebration of volunteering in all its forms.

This special week, overseen by Volunteering Australia, provides an opportunity to highlight the important role of volunteers in our community, while reaching out to people to give it a go.

The theme for National Volunteer Week this year is 'something for everyone'.

As the organisation says, whether you are drawn to environmental causes, community outreach, education, or more, there's a place for everyone – where skills and interests can flourish.

Finding volunteers in recent times is an ongoing concern for so many of our organisations – from sporting clubs to Meals on Wheels to Garden Clubs, the list goes on.

People are seemingly busier than ever, with changing priorities in their lives.

What makes a volunteer?

For many, volunteering in some role has been part of growing up in Australia, forged by seeing family and friends that volunteered while they were young.

And starting young themselves in organisations such as the Scouts or Guides.

Being a volunteer connects you to the community around you.

It enables you to meet and make new friends, while giving a sense of purpose.

Basically, it feels good to volunteer.

Giving can often be more rewarding than receiving.

Strathalbyn residents David and Jenny Thomas have clocked up more than 50 years together as volunteers.

Now reaching a time when they want to scale back their volunteering commitments, they are passionate about the way being volunteers has enriched their lives over so many years.

As they say, 'Give it a go' – what have you got to lose?

Embroidery group's fundraiser

By Tara Nash

A southern Fleurieu embroidery group's recent biggest fundraising event for two years was deemed a success by organisers. Embroiderers' Guild of SA's South Coast branch members exhibited 125 embroidery and textile pieces in Stitching by the Sea at Goolwa Anglican Church Hall on April 27 and 28. The biennial exhibition showcased many of the techniques learned during the group's workshops and regular sessions as well as personal projects, including knitting, lacemaking, quilting, weaving and felting. Some pieces had backstories allowing visitors to understand the process of how it was made. "It was very successful – we had a lot of people come through," President, Lynette Cobb, said. "Everybody was very appreciative of the work that was involved." The branch was formed in 1991 and attracts creatives from Strathalbyn, Clayton Bay, Goolwa, Port Elliot and Victor Harbor, who meet on the second and third Thursdays of the month at the Port Elliot Showgrounds. Ms Cobb finds as well as regular workshops to learn new skills, members "always bounce" ideas off each other, and pick up tips from others.

Have your say on engagement charter

Alexandrina residents interested in housing growth in the council region's coastal areas, particularly Goolwa and Hindmarsh Island, are encouraged to share their input on proposed changes to the State Government's Community Engagement Charter. The charter is a crucial strategic document that aims to provide opportunities for South Australians to influence how people live, work and move in urban and rural areas, and streamline delivering planning rules such as rezoning land by introducing a new engagement process. One significant change being considered is the possibility of 'streamlined' rezoning processes, which could see rezoning fast-tracked with minimal community engagement, potentially limiting residents' chance to have a say in the matter. For example, if the Minister for Planning Nick Champion deems prior community engagement sufficient then consultation on proponent-led rezoning proposals of land within a township boundary may be as short as 14 days, with limited opportunities for feedback. To have your say, either fill out the survey at (<https://yoursay.sa.gov.au/community-engagement-charter>), email a submission to (PlanSASubmissions@sa.gov.au), or post a submission to Submission – Community Engagement Charter, Department for Trade and Investment, GPO Box 1815, Adelaide SA, 5001, before 5pm on Thursday, June 6. All feedback will be presented to the minister for consideration.

Bulbs and other delights at Strath Garden Club

A wealth of knowledge and information was on offer to members at the Strathalbyn Garden Club's April meeting.

Guest speaker Alan O'Leary from the Lilium and Bulb Society showed just what a wide variety of bulbs can be grown, including some who produce 'tumbleweeds' about three feet in diameter from a bulb in a pot.

He was ably assisted by club members Pat Simpson giving the lowdown on Hellebores, and Marg Jenkins who knows all about Cyclamens.

The question remains though – is it 'cyc' as in quick or bike?

Chris Pappin won the lucky door prize and had first pick at the overloaded raffle table, while the club's and the Bulb Society's trading tables both did good business.

The club's next meeting is on Friday, May 24 at 9.30am for a 10am start at the Strath Neighbourhood Centre.

New members and visitors are warmly welcomed.

Guest speakers will be John and Julie Barrie from Pangarinda Botanic Garden at Wellington, which many members visited on an excursion a year or three ago.

Probus hears from first female detective

The Ladies' Probus Club of Strathalbyn met on April 15, welcoming local identity Anne Woolford, the first female police detective in South Australia, as guest speaker.

Mrs Woolford began her working life as a typist but found it boring, so she joined the 1967 police intake.

She was required to undertake a typing test at 20 words per minute (wpm), achieving the rate of 150 wpm for the test.

As one of only two females to graduate from the Fort Largs Police Academy at Taperoo, Mrs Woolford was assigned to the Adelaide Women's Police Office.

Transfers to Elizabeth, Mount Gambier, and Whyalla followed until, in 1972, she joined the Business Agents' Squad based in Adelaide. A stint in the Homicide Squad was her next move.

Mrs Woolford undertook the Detective Training Course in 1976, graduating as the first female police detective appointed in the state.

She went on to work in the Crime Prevention area until her retirement in 1990 - the recipient of several citations and commendations

In retirement, she served three terms (nine years) as a Councillor with Alexandrina Council, and was Deputy Mayor when Kym McHugh was appointed Mayor.

A vote of thanks, and a gift that included fresh rosebuds, was conveyed by Phyl Agnew.

Storyteller of the Day was Betty Tugwell who told a story about why a girl was late for her date.

New member Johanna Jenkins delivered the Member's Chat.

Celebrating their birthdays in April were Betty Tugwell, Carole Carter, and Gwen McNicol.

a successful Swap Table was trialled.

On April 17, a few members shared afternoon tea with members Edith O'Brien and Yvonne Tischer (a patient from the Strathalbyn Hospital), and another resident Helen Oatley, at Strathalbyn Aged Care.

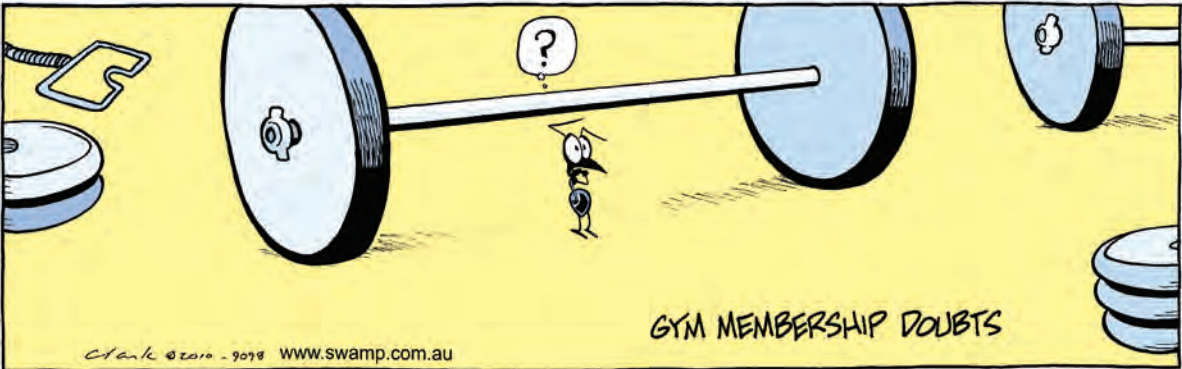

A morning tea outing to Angas Plains Estate at Langhorne Creek, took place on April 22, and was hosted by Phil and Judy Cross.

Long-time member Joan Dawson departed Strathalbyn for retirement in Goolwa on April 25. Joan was thanked for her friendship, and contribution to the club, including a term as President in 2011.

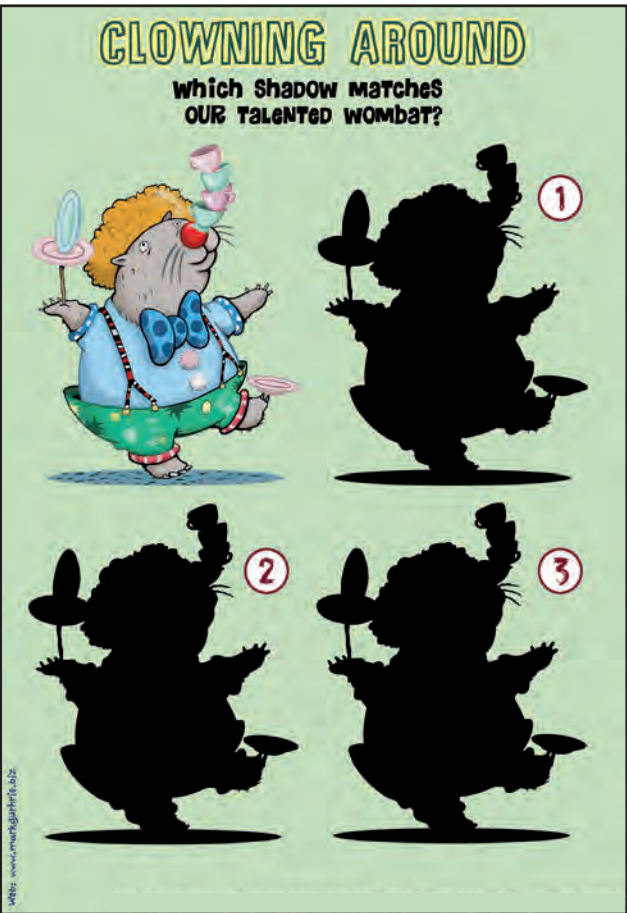

Mavis Cowley, Jeanette Leonard, Mary Lindon, and Judy Salt participated in a Probus Information Day on April 30 at the Strathalbyn Football Club, networking with members of other Probus clubs.

All aboard the teddy bear train

By Tara Nash

Due to high demand, SteamRanger added an extra carriage to the Teddy Bear's Picnic on Saturday to accommodate 252 passengers. The special returning journey from Mount Barker to Strathalbyn boomed since it started last year, inspired by similar ideas run by British railways. On Saturday, children brought their stuffed toys for a day out, spending a few hours in Strathalbyn, with a picnic, face painting and a petting zoo, as well as receiving a badge and activity pack. Due to its popularity, a waitlist has already started for next year with plans for an expanded petting zoo, more face painters, and possibly a second trip during the year. "It went very well," Customer Services Manager, Steve Richardson, said. "We had very positive feedback – that's always very encouraging." The response also spurred on the efforts from labourers who are undertaking work on the track over the coming weeks. SteamRanger has more upcoming events over the coming weeks and months, including the new timetable, The Highlander, which operates between Mount Barker and Strathalbyn on the first, third and fifth Sundays of the month between June and November. Also, to celebrate the 40th anniversary of the railway between Mount Barker and Strathalbyn, SteamRanger is planning a special event on September 14 and 15.

The Bartlett family – some who met for the first time – at the recent family reunion in Strathalbyn.

Bartlett family reunites in Strathalbyn

By Deirdre Graham

Descendants of Edward and Susan Bartlett – who immigrated from England to Australia in 1849 and went on to settle locally – gathered in Strathalbyn for a family reunion recently.

About 40 family members enjoyed meeting new faces, and swapping stories and photos, with the aim to leave a record for future generations.

Edward Bartlett and his wife Susan embarked on the ‘Harry Lorrequer’ with seven of their 12 children on September 21, 1849.

The 12 children were John (1828-1906, who remained in England until 1853), William (1829, who remained in England), Edith (1831-1918), Mary Ann (1833-1911), Edwin (1834), Elizabeth (1836-1866), Susan (1837-1903), Albion Edward (1840-1926), Thomas (1840 – died at birth) and triplets Jane (1844-1846), John (1844-1846) and Thomas Henry (1844-1933).

After a three month journey, the ship docked at Port Adelaide on December 26, 1849, and the immigrants settled in the Macclesfield area.

The family settled on a property owned by Ferdinand Mueller – a well-known botanist – known as German Paddock and produced orchard fruit stock.

Edward later built a cottage on the property in 1850, which is now under the care of the National Trust and its current owner.

All the timber appears to have been soaked with coal tar and perhaps arsenic as it is well-preserved and termite free, even after 150 years.

Edward and Susan worked for Von Mueller for many years as farm labourers.

As the family grew up they purchased land in the Bugle Ranges, Doctors Creek, Paris Creek, Macclesfield and Strathalbyn.

Descendants of three of the children that migrated to Australia attended the recent reunion.

Edwin Bartlett married Sarah Hamp in Macclesfield in 1858.

The couple settled in Bugle Ranges until 1871, living at German Paddock before moving to Bungaree and then Watervale.

They had 12 children – William, Henry,

June and Jim Bartlett, both 90, at the recent Bartlett family reunion. Photo: Deirdre Graham

Susan, John, Edwin, Ellen, Sarah, Isaac, Arthur, Robert, and Sydney.

Two of Edwin’s children married Bartlett cousins in Strathalbyn, and Edwin returned to Strathalbyn when Sarah died.

He passed away in 1921, aged 86.

Albion Bartlett married Margaret Taylor at Meadows in 1871, had four children – Samuel, Albion, Ernest, and Leslie – and settled in Paris Creek.

They worked taking wagons and drays loaded with goods to Adelaide, and to the Bugle Ranges Railway Station when the line was built.

Albion died in 1926 and is buried at Macclesfield.

Thomas Henry Bartlett married twice and settled in Strathalbyn until his death in 1933.

With first wife Susannah Coleman, he had four children – Sarah, Edward, and William, and one child that died at birth – and with his second wife Agnes Patten he had three children – Francis, Stephen and Walter.

Thomas built a limestone and mortar home in Strathalbyn, growing all the food necessary for the family, selling any surplus.

By 1885 he was prosperous enough to own 24 allotments, a total of 61.5 acres in Strathalbyn, and possibly a farm in Macclesfield.

Thomas’s first home was built at 4 Anderson Street and has withstood the test of time, having been restored by its present owners.

In later life, he was caretaker of the Soldiers Memorial Gardens in the centre of the town.

Thomas died in 1933 at the age of 88 and is buried in the Strathalbyn cemetery.

Reunion organiser Jeanette Bartlett said the day was planned “very quickly”.

“We did it in the last three months after we finalised one section of one of our families, and we decided everyone was getting older and it was time to get together and meet some new faces and learn a bit more about the family,” she said.

“Everyone came with photos and were reminiscing.

“That was the lovely part – that it just brought everyone together and they realised we came from one very big family.

“We had name tags and people had to introduce themselves, asking which part of the family do you come from, and they were all trying to work out if they were second or third cousins.

“That was part of what made it so special – to be able to leave a record for future generations.”

Alexandrina scores major grant for Milang heritage preservation

By Giorgina McKay

More of Alexandrina’s history will be protected and promoted with the help of one of the State Government’s Heritage Code Amendment grants, which has been offered to council to predominantly help preserve Milang’s substantial heritage.

In recognition of their proactive work, Heritage Code Amendment grants of up to $75,000 are being offered to eight councils across the state to improve planning rules that strength protections for approximately 93 local heritage places, 458 representative buildings and 15 historic areas.

These councils are the first to act on the State Planning Commission’s three-prong approach to boost character and heritage protections, through elevating Character Areas to Historic Areas, and updating Character Area Statements and tougher demolition controls in Character Areas.

“As a government we have a focus to protect local heritage to ensure we retain our state’s history for the enjoyment of future generations,” Minister for Planning, Nick Champion, said.

“To reward these councils for being proactive in this important space, the South Australian Government is committed to offering funding to help deliver these stronger heritage protections.

“Funding offers have already been made to five councils, and the remaining three councils will be given this opportunity once the code amendments have been initiated.”

Of the fortunate councils is Alexandrina which received funding of up to $75,000 for works supporting the preparation of Heritage Code Amendments.

Council will work with the Office for Design and Architecture SA on the grant criteria and how it can assist its Code Amendment work.

“Protecting and promoting Alexandrina’s unique history is a priority for council, so we welcome this recognition by the Minister for Planning for the important work council is undertaking via Code Amendments,” Chief Executive Officer, Nigel Morris, said.

“Next month, we kick off the public consultation stage of our Milang Local Heritage Code Amendment.

“Many of the residential and civic buildings constructed between the 1850s and 1900s remain intact in Milang and contribute to the character of this lakeside town today.

“Whilst Milang has a small number of State Heritage-listed buildings, no Local Heritage buildings or places have ever been listed.

“Our Code Amendment seeks to list several buildings, places and items, and establish an Historic Area Overlay in order to protect the substantial heritage in this special town.”

Council is currently working on 16 Code Amendments, with three initiated by council, eight by private landowners, and a further five that affect SA being led by the state.

Potential Code Amendment for Langhorne Creek region

By Giorgina McKay

A scoping study has been initiated by Alexandrina Council to inform a potential Code Amendment that would look to increase more accommodation opportunities for the Langhorne Creek region.

A large portion of the town and its surrounds is affected by flooding on a relatively regular basis, which has restricted any expansion and meant that as the population has increased to support the growing wine industry, the local community has had to seek accommodation in nearby townships rather than in Langhorne Creek.

This has in turn had an impact on services, shops, industry and schools in town.

An initial desktop review has found ways the Alexandrina Council Development Plan and current Planning and Design Code could be amended to enable flexibility for housing and accommodation in the Langhorne Creek region while maintain protection for valuable horticultural and primary production land.

It comes off the back of enquiries over several years regarding current zoning restrictions, and how the guidelines could be changed to enable more dwellings and other forms of accommodation around the town.

Given the ‘clear messaging’ from the community that it supports a proposed review of housing and accommodation policy, council proposed commencing investigations into a potential Code Amendment.

It proposed to do this through the commencement of a scoping study, which was approved by councillors in April, with a further report to be brought back upon its completion to endorse the preparation of a proposal to initiate a Code Amendment.

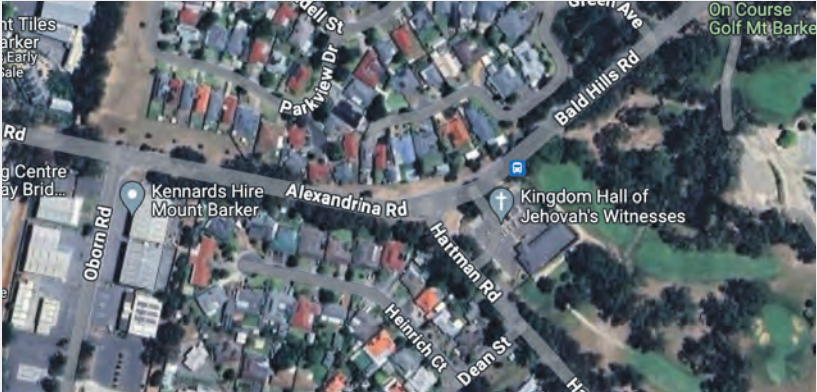

Council will apply for a Federal Housing Support Program grant for $50,000 to enable a review of flood mapping, and an accommodation analysis and review for the Langhorne Creek region as part of the scoping study.

“There’s no harm at all that can come from this,” North Ward councillor, Sue Miller, said.

“It will be a robust and fair process, and it will allow everyone to participate.

“It’s community-led and I love the way it’s been presented as how it will be progressed.”

If after that, council endorse the preparation of a code amendment, administration will prepare and present a document for consideration and endorsement, which if approved, will be formally lodged with Minister for Planning Nick Champion.

Mount Barker District Council will install traffic lights at Hartmann, Alexandrina and Bald Hills Roads.

First council-owned intersection traffic lights planned for Mt Barker

Traffic lights are coming to Hartmann, Alexandrina and Bald Hills Roads after Mount Barker District Council made the significant decision at recent meeting in an aim to improve traffic management and safety.

Traffic data collected by council revealed the intersection is currently operating at near-full capacity at peak times, necessitating an upgrade to accommodate present and future traffic volumes effectively.

Three potential solutions were considered, including either a 20-metre diameter dual lane or 12-metre diameter single lane roundabout, before a recommendation was put to council to install traffic lights to ease congestion at the busy junction.

While a 20-meter diameter dual lane roundabout would achieve results similar to traffic lights, it posed significant challenges, including impacts on surrounding native vegetation and the necessity for land acquisition.

Similarly, a 12-meter diameter roundabout was found to be less effective and non-compliant for the B-double truck route along Alexandrina and Bald Hills Road.

“A thorough comparison of the upgrade options for this intersection was made against multiple criteria such as functionality, safety, impact on trees and private properties, and cost,” Mount Barker Mayor, David Leach, said.

“A signalised intersection emerged as the best solution, offering a high level of effectiveness whilst having minimal impact on the surrounding native vegetation and not likely requiring any land acquisition.”

Monitoring and maintenance of traffic signals will be outsourced to an external party, following the model established for existing school crossings and pedestrian activated signals.

Early cost estimates for the construction of traffic lights range between $2 and $4 million, and has been factored into the council’s draft Long-Term Financial Plan.

Funding for the project will be sourced from developer contributions to the Transport Infrastructure Separate Rate, with the project proceeding to detailed design in 2024-25 and then construction in subsequent years.

Couple clocks up more than 50 years as volunteers

By Deirdre Graham

Strathalbyn residents David and Jenny Thomas have always had a firm sense that volunteering is an important way to give back to the community.

The couple have clocked up more than 50 years as volunteers for various organisations, including Meals on Wheels, Strathalbyn Garden Club, Strathalbyn Bowling Club, the Strathalbyn Visitor's Information Centre, and U3A.

"My first volunteering (role) was probably Bob a Job Week with the Boy Scouts, and it is something we have just done," Mr Thomas said.

"It seems to have been part of our way of life forever and a day – ever since we were kids – and it probably goes back to family doing things – it is how we are."

Now at 82 and nearly 80 respectively, the couple have begun stepping back from some of their volunteer roles.

At Meals on Wheels, Mrs Thomas has just called time on 20 years with the organisation, and Mr Thomas for six or seven years.

In recent years they have delivered meals, but when Mrs Thomas began, she would interview new clients to learn what each person wanted – a task now done by the head office in Adelaide.

"The Bowling Club I joined probably in 1998/1999, and after three or four years I joined the committee, and then I became President for a couple of years," Mr Thomas said.

"Then the men's club and the women's club amalgamated to form one club, and I was Secretary for a while, and then President again of the combined club for quite a few years, and have continued in either secretarial or tournament roles or looking after the garden.

"I am still involved, but because we are both getting a bit older, we are winding down.

"I have always felt there is no point in joining a club or society, or an organisation if you are not going to get involved.

"It is a bit of a cliché but really, the more you put in, the more you get out.

"By being involved you definitely do get more benefit from belonging to something."

The couple have also been keen members of the Garden Club.

"Two years ago, Norma Keily resigned as President after 11 years, and nobody was putting their hand up," Mr Thomas said.

"I thought I could put my hand up and do it for a year as a bit of a caretaker to make sure it kept going.

"Well, I had been doing it for a month or two, and I realised I was quite enjoying what I was doing, so I stopped being a caretaker and started being more involved.

"Jenny has been Secretary of the Garden Club for 13 years, and we are both looking to step down in the next year or so.

"We are getting older, and you need refreshment, and you need new people to get new ideas and keep things moving along."

Mr Thomas said volunteering has brought much satisfaction.

"I think my best experience volunteering was with the Bowling Club when we celebrated our centenary, and I wrote the history of the first 100 years," he said.

"Brian Simpson gave me a few tips and I did it, and I found I really enjoyed doing it.

"It was quite something and we had the centenary, and we had a super day – it was really very good."

The couple encouraged others to volunteer.

They enjoy the feeling of being useful and helping others in the community, with most of their friends also avid volunteers.

"Give it a go, don't be afraid," Mr Thomas said.

"You will make mistakes, but people will forgive you.

"You do get more out of life by doing it, without a doubt."

Goolwa Band with Sharon Harding singing the theme to James Bond Goldfinger on the weekend.

An important note for Goolwa youth

By Tara Nash

Goolwa Band put on a "fantastic" afternoon of live music at Victor Harbor Town Hall on the weekend to fundraise for an important cause.

The Rotary Club of Goolwa organised the fundraiser to help support 10 Goolwa Secondary College students in participating in Operation Flinders, which aims to transform the lives of young people.

Held in the northern Flinders Ranges, young people trek up to 100km over the eight-day program and overcome various challenges, and are self-sufficient by carrying everything on their backs, cooking their meals, and are separated from electronic devices.

"The kids get exposed to things they've probably never been exposed to before – they have to problem-solve and they have to work together as a team," Goolwa Rotary President, Jan Lawrence, said.

"They learn leadership skills... (and) learn to respect the fact that somebody is going to take charge and be the leader.

"They see the sunrise and they see the sunset... and some of them get homesick and they have to work through that."

During last weekend's fundraiser, the 25-piece swing/rock band – including two vocalists and led by Allan Blackledge – performed a range of Beatles, Stones, Glen Miller, and Burt Bacharach, and a "brilliant" performance of Goldfinger by vocalist Sharon Harding.

"The band is fantastic – the music is first-class," Ms Lawrence said.

"Everybody had a good time and we enjoyed ourselves.

"The band said 'whoever turns up, we're going to put on a full show' – and they did.

"A few of us were at the back dancing away."

Rotary and Goolwa Band will be joining forces again during a cabaret show at Centenary Hall next month.

Goolwa history room celebrates major May birthday

Goolwa Library’s local and family history room celebrates its 20th anniversary on May 26.

The South Coast community’s comprehensive local history collection can trace its origins to Walter Pretty who donated a significant number of research papers to the Goolwa Library.

The Walter Pretty collection is now held in the local and family history compactus, which houses thousands of files on well-known people, places and paddlesteamers in Goolwa and its surrounding regions.

Other research material has been developed by the room’s volunteers or acquired to make the room the highly valued asset it is today.

“Alexandrina Libraries would like to acknowledge all the volunteers who have contributed, including Peter Barclay, Dawn Juers, Helen Halm, Margie Anderson and Bill Cox,” Alexandrina Council Chief Executive Officer, Nigel Morris, said.

– Nigel Morris

“Many volunteers through the years have contributed their valuable time and research skills to add local and family history resources to the room’s collection, as well as help countless members of the public with their local and family history research enquiries.

“Our current volunteer team provide a fantastic service to the community, helping locals as well as those interstate or overseas with their local or family history research.

“Family history assistance sessions have proved very successful, with Jennifer and Anne providing one-on-one help to community members to navigate the numerous genealogy research tools on offer, while the local knowledge of Anthony, Luke and Frodo is invaluable to those seeking the history of local buildings and places.”

Anyone who wants to volunteer in the local and family history rooms at either the Goolwa or Strathalbyn Library, or has a local or family history enquiry, contact Alexandrina Libraries on 8555 7000 or via email at (alex@alexandrina.sa.gov.au).

Volunteers Needed!

The Strathalbyn Show has been bringing our community together for 152 years. We have a proud show history and amazing support from our major sponsor Ray White Strathalbyn and our exclusive media partner The Southern Argus.

We are again seeking volunteers to assist on the day and in the week leading up to the show. Last year, our volunteers were invaluable, they helped erect security fencing, ran the volunteers catering tent, and supported our convenors. Could you spare some time to join us this year?

Volunteering is a fantastic way of meeting new people, having fun with a local group and making a genuine difference to the local community - it really is a rewarding experience

Milking agricultural industry into the future

By Tara Nash

Sustainability is a major focus for the dairy industry over the next five years, as outlined in the SA Dairy Industry Action Plan 2024-2029 which was recently launched during an industry event at a Mount Compass dairy farm.

The initiative by South Australian Dairyfarmers' Association (SADA) gives a roadmap for government to invest in policies into the future, and was launched by Premier Peter Malinauskas and Minister Clare Scriven.

The plan took five years of planning and about 15 months to create, including revising the feasibility study twice due to interest rate rises and inflation.

The Dairy Industry Action Plan 2024-2029 builds on the notion that premium will mean more than the quality of the product into the future.

Customers will come to expect that products are not only high in quality, but premium in terms of verifiably sustainable, integral and reputable.

Mia Brokenshire, Hayden Byrne, Arlo Brokenshire and Harry Byrne, represent the next generation of the dairy industry. Photos: Tara Nash Sustainable practices will take into consideration emissions, biosecurity, animal care and environmental footprint.

In terms of environmental footprint, SADA President Robert Brokenshire – who hosted the event on his Mount Compass farm – stated that the plan avoids “mistakes that have happened” in countries such as New Zealand, Canada, and Ireland, which are now “shrinking their industry” because of “knee jerk reactions” to certain calls.

Rather, he believes the dairy industry has “led the way” for plans to reduce emissions by 2030, and on track by 2050 to be zero emissions as a dairy industry, and that South Australia “could capitalise” on that global market by exporting more into the future.

Standing shoulder to shoulder with Australian farmers for more than 180 years.

Farming industry keeps improving

While inflation and interest rates hit the industry, Mr Brokenshire was optimistic about the mid and long-term plans for the industry.

At the recent launch, Premier Peter Malinauskas – who admitted he consumes a “truckload” of milk, with his household buying 16-litres of milk at a time – told more than 200 guests that industry numbers have shifted in the past 70 years.

In 1950, there was an estimated 175,000 dairy cows in the state, which yielded a nation-leading 406 million litres of milk every year, which was considered a highly-productive industry.

Fast forward to the beginning of this decade, over 3000 dairy farms have been consolidated to less than 200.

In 2021, stock had reduced by two thirds since 1950 to 67,650 cattle, but despite that, the production per cow had tripled to just under 500 million litres of milk, which he credited to the “ongoing commitment” from producers and processors to “keep growing and improving the industry”.

South Australia has the largest production of milk in the country, and part of the plan is to increase production from 500 million litres to 700 million.

“South Australian dairy products are globally recognised and exported around the world, and the plan laid out by industry will aim to build on that reputation and ensure we also (produce) the greenest and more premium products on the market,” Mr Malinauskas said.

The average age in the industry is 56 in South Australia, and the successive industry action plans aim to work with government to address workforce issues.

Member for Mayo Rebekha Sharkie said after the dairy sector had experienced its share of “ups and downs”, it was “heartening” to see it in “such a mature phase of development”.

“The Australian Government has earmarked $15 billion in its National Construction Fund,” she said.

“The Government must ensure viable industries, such as the food manufacturing sector, be given appropriate access to grow the dairy opportunity, especially given the natural competitive advantages Australia has in the area.”

The event was also the opening of the Amdena Dairy’s new state-of-the-art rotary milking system, that will boost productivity, improve environmental outcomes, and support the health of their 400 Jersey cows.

The dairy has been operated by the Brokenshire family for more than 40 years, and provides to Fleurieu Milk Company.

On another note, a recent study found that the recommended 3.5 serves of dairy consumption a day reduces risks of hip fractures by 46 per cent, reduction in all fractures by 33 per cent, and a reduction in falls by 11 per cent.

Premier Peter Malinauskas officially launching the plan.

Woodchester farmers Neil and Jack Harvey are hoping for rain soon, as the dry start to the season drags on. Photo: Deirdre Graham

Local farmers dealing with dry spell

By Deirdre Graham

Local grain growers are looking to the skies in the hope that the dry start to seeding will be over soon.

Woodchester farmer Neil Harvey typically crops canola, beans, wheat, barley and oats, and would dearly love 20 to 25mm of rain as soon as possible.

“Unfortunately, we had lots of rain during harvest in December and January, and since then the tap has really been turned off,” Mr Harvey said.

“As farmers we have tried to conserve as much moisture as we could while summer weed spraying and keeping minimum weeds on the land.

“(However), the last couple of months has been exceptionally dry... we traditionally start seeding just after Anzac Day.

“This time last year we were seeding with no dust – we didn’t have any dust from start to finish – (but) this year we have started in dust and we are still in (it).

“And unfortunately, it looks like (for the) next week to 10 days there won’t be too much rain about.”

Mr Harvey has begun dry seeding, but the later it rains, the potential for less yield becomes more likely.

“By all means, it is not too late yet,” he said.

“Traditionally, the break doesn’t come until the middle of May, so it is just unfortunate that the forecast (is) a bit further than that, and we can’t see substantial rain in sight at the minute.

“They keep telling us once it starts raining we are going to have a good Spring, so you have to be an optimist.

“The subsoil moisture we have is down a bit deep, and the stuff we are planting now is still dry seeding, but that subsoil moisture will reward us later on.

“As soon as we get that 15 to 25mm of rain, with the potential of it catching up to each other, then the season really kicks off.”

While the start has failed to be ideal, technology and agricultural science means the outcome is better than what it would have been decades ago with the same factors.

“Twenty-five years ago we couldn’t do what we are doing now – dry seeding – because the equipment we had back then wouldn’t penetrate,” Mr Harvey said.

“With technology and better chemicals you can still put the seed in the ground with some confidence as long as the rain comes at the right time.

“We have been blessed the past three years with early starts, but I can remember years ago, when we only started seeding in the first week of June, and that year turned out really well.

“So, it is not abnormal, but at the same time, we like to have an early break to give us our full potential – about 20 to 25mm would be ideal.

“Obviously the night time temperatures have got cooler – it is a lot dewier and there is moisture in the air at night – so we are just looking to the skies to get something at the minute.”

Mr Harvey remains hopeful.

“Like the old fellas say, it doesn’t grow in the bin, it has to be in the ground to grow,” he said.

“These days, once it does rain, if it is in the ground, it will be out of the ground in no time, and you are away.”

Milang Agricultural Bureau welcomes new trailer delivery

The Milang Agricultural Bureau received the ‘delightful’ delivery of a new barbecue trailer at its April meeting, which was held at Strathalbyn’s Inverbrackie Border Leicester Stud.

The trailer will be used for meetings and field trips as a centrepiece for post-meeting gatherings where members foster friendships and learn informally from discussing common experiences.

Funding was provided by Community Bank Fleurieu and supported by Rural Bank, and the trailer is a great example of the Community Bank model in action – to share in profit and support local farmers through the Rural Bank Agribusiness specialists who live and work locally, and work with farming customers on financial products to support agricultural enterprises.

At the meeting, Landscapes SA Hills and Fleurieu Sustainable Agriculture Officer John Butler also presented members with an important and challenging topic – what is happening in the carbon space and how it is likely to influence agricultural production.

Members expressed concern that traditional family farms – as represented in the Bureau – may be disadvantaged within decarbonisation strategies negotiated between government and corporate farming interests.

For example, a small grape producer recently completed a government survey intended to measure carbon emissions.

The trailer will be used for meetings and field trips as a centrepiece for post-meeting gatherings.

All fuel-intensive operations – pruning, harvesting, weed control, etcetera – are completed by family members.

By contrast, neighbouring vineyards owned by corporates use contractors to perform equivalent work.

If the relevant survey fails to rigorously track contractors’ carbon emissions, the small family operation may be counted as a relatively heavy user of fossil fuels per unit of production.

It is hoped that Australia can devise processes that will accurately trace carbon emissions and protect family farms from any distortions of how they use fuels and fertilisers.

If you've got the ideas, herein lies the oasis on 2.6-acres at 112 Coombe Road, Langhorne Creek.

It'll excite the driven entrepreneur and all who visit for its liveability, commerciality and sustainability on one very rural hectare, whether you're here for the lifestyle or a farm-fresh new venture.

Once the productive heartland of Small World Bakery, it could motion the rise of your own paddock-to-plate-philosophy born from the architecturally extended and restored four-bedroom homestead and its invaluable infrastructure.

Gather eggs, forage from the kitchen gardens, ferment dough in the purpose-built cool rooms and shipping container, create culinary genius in pristine food prep areas and cook in the covered courtyard alfresco wood oven - outdoor dining that's fit for friends, or for bigger more commercial catering pursuits.

Evoking minimalist European design, the freestone homestead leads with four robed double bedrooms - the master with walk-in robes a chic ensuite - while the gourmet industrial-style kitchen joins the dining, family, and living spaces across sublime timber floors and beneath raked architectural ceilings.

There's a second sparkling modern bathroom, a timber-clad rear office, and a utility/mudroom, plus the priceless inclusions of 43.4kW of solar, prolific storage, and vehicle/workshop shedding.

The replacement cost of this set-up alone would be eye-watering.

Nestled amongst prized, Langhorne Creek vineyards and broadacre farming land, it's private, discreet, yet readily accessible should you choose to open the doors to a wider audience - like city folk hungry for something sustainably grown to be washed down with an award-winning local red.

South Australia keeps proving it has the taste, talent and tourism for bespoke event venues, artisan bakeries, breweries and/or gin distilleries, or perhaps you'll explore chocolate-making like the Swiss, just much, much further south.

Revive a baker's HQ or diversify with its designer homestead & versatile acreage.

Sustainable, versatile and chic it includes:

- Impeccable, architecturally extended 4-bedroom Freestone homestead
- 15m x 9m workshop/vehicle shed with power and concrete floors
- 12m x 8.8m high clearance implement shed with power and concrete floors
- Refrigerated 11.5m x 2.5m shipping container with lighting and a freeze/cool function
- As new, temperature-controlled food production areas, plus milling rooms and two cool rooms

- Commercial grease trap and septic system
- Three phase power plus some 43.4kW of solar power assistance (approx.)
- Attached office with external entry and external loo
- Sublime interconnecting living zones
- Combustion fire and split system comfort
- Industrial-style open plan kitchen beside a storeroom-sized butler's pantry
- Crowd-ready outdoor dining with a wood fire pizza oven

Ray White Strathalbyn is proud to present this four-bedroom, two-bathroom, 2018-built home situated on a spacious 924sqm allotment at 15 Aurora Circuit, Meadows.

Welcome to a realm of spacious living! Step into this magnificent abode featuring four generously proportioned bedrooms.

The Master bedroom boasts a sprawling walk-in robe, ensuring ample space to stow away all your essentials, complemented by a lavishly sized ensuite. Bedrooms two and three are thoughtfully equipped with built-in robes, providing convenient storage solutions for the entire family, while bedroom four doubles as a versatile study, offering abundant space for your personal or professional endeavours.

Embracing the concept of spaciousness, this residence unfolds with not one, but two inviting living areas.

The first, situated at the front of the property, offers a serene sanctuary for parents to unwind after a long day's work.

Meanwhile, the second lounge, nestled towards the rear, beckons children to indulge in their favourite PlayStation adventures or invites the entire family to gather for memorable movie nights.

The kitchen, designed with families in mind, exudes both style and functionality. Featuring ample cupboard space, sleek stainless steel appliances, and a convenient walk-in pantry, it provides an organized haven for all your culinary essentials.

Ensuring year-round comfort for you and your guests, the heart of this home boasts a cosy combustion heater, banishing chilly winter nights, complemented by ceiling fans and a split-system air conditioner to keep you cool during balmy summer evenings.

Stepping outside, you're enveloped by lush, established gardens and expansive green lawns - an idyllic playground for both children and furry companions alike. With rear access, you can effortlessly navigate to the shed nestled at the back of the yard, ideal for accommodating a caravan, boat, or serving as a spacious workshop for the craftsman in your family.

Complete with an undercover veranda and a charming in-built fire pit, it provides the perfect setting to unwind and create lasting memories with family and friends.

Strathalbyn and Victor Harbor lawyer Nicole Kelly advises of major changes to family law which came into effect this month.

NEW FAMILY LAW:

Shining spotlight on legal sector

Across Australia, Law Week is recognised as an annual opportunity to shine a spotlight on the important work delivered across the legal assistance sector while increasing public knowledge of the law and how to access legal help.

This year, from May 20 to May 26, Legal Services Commission South Australia will be undertaking a period of consolidated activity to highlight the work it does.

It also encourages other organisations in the South Australian legal assistance sector and broader legal profession to do likewise.

A number of events and activities will be taking place in South Australia and online, including:

- May 20 to 24 – ‘Parliament House Has A Library, Who Knew?’ – Book a free tour online.
- May 20 – Parliament House General Tour.
- May 21 – Walk for Justice – JusticeNet SA’s major annual fundraiser (www.walkforjustice.com.au).
- May 21 – Themed Tour of Parliament House – Women’s Suffrage – Book for free online.
- May 22 – Law Week Webinar – Legal Help for all South Australians. Register at eventbrite.
- May 22 and 23 – Positive Ageing Expo – Olympic Hall, Adelaide.
- May 23 – Legal Services activation at Adelaide Railway Station.
- May 26 – Parliament House Open Day.

What you need to know

On May 6, 2024, major changes to how the Family Law Courts determine parenting matters came into effect.

The primary purpose of the changes are to protect victims of family violence, particularly children.

The impact of the amendments will become clearer as judgements become available which will interpret and apply the changes to real life cases.

The main amendments are:

- There is no longer a presumption of equal shared parental responsibility. The presumption related to the joint making of major long-term decisions, but was commonly misunderstood to create a right to equal time arrangements.

- The Court is no longer required to consider ordering significant and substantial time. That provision required the court to consider making an order that the child spend equal time, or substantial and significant time, with each parent, if an order for equal shared parental responsibility was made.

It remains open to the court to consider equal time arrangements, or arrangements that give substantial or significant time with each parent, in accordance with the child’s best interests.

In considering a parenting arrangement that is in the best interest of a child, the Court has streamlined its approach to six considerations rather than the previous 13.

They are:

- (a) what arrangements would promote the safety of the child and each person who has care of the child;

- (b) any views expressed by the child;
- (c) the developmental, psychological, emotional and cultural needs of the child;

- (d) the capacity of each person who has or is proposed to have parental responsibility for the child to provide for the child’s developmental, psychological, emotional and cultural needs;

- (e) the benefit to the child of being able to have a relationship with the child’s parents, and other people who are significant to the child, where it is safe to do so; and

- (f) anything else that is relevant to the particular circumstances of the child.

- Further provisions have been introduced which apply to indigenous children to support their connections to family and culture;

- There are now “harmful proceedings orders” that consider the impact of court proceedings on a party.

Harm may include psychological harm or oppression, major mental distress, behaviour which causes a detrimental effect on the other party’s capacity to care for a child, or financial harm.

- The Independent Children’s Lawyer is required to meet with the children whose interests they represent if that child is over the age of five years (with some exceptions);

- Strongly urge anyone who is currently involved in a parenting dispute or considering pursuing an application to the court to obtain legal advice regarding the amendments and the likely impact of them on their particular case.

Langford sets sight on World Uni Games

By Deirdre Graham

Mount Compass race walker Nellie Langford has her eyes set on the World University Games after a mid-field result at the World Teams Race Walking Championships last month.

Langford placed 32 in a field of 50 at the 10km event in Turkey, which she was happy with.

"It was probably about where I expected," she said.

"It wasn't necessarily a really, really big time, or a really terrible time, it was just around what I have been doing all season.

"I walked a road PB technically, but I was still like 40 seconds off the time I have done on the track, but technically it was a 10 second PB on the road."

Langford said she and the two other Australian women's competitors were excited to take part, especially after learning under 20 boy's walker Isaac Beacroft, from NSW, had just won his race.

"We have never had a medallist in that race before, and we were so excited to race when we heard over the speakers that Isaac had just won," she said.

"It was such a new experience, and it was so interesting just to be around all these people warming up.

"You are used to seeing SA, or NSW, not Japan and China all around you - seeing the girls up the front that will probably be at the next Olympics, it was pretty cool.

"We were almost crying, it was so exciting to do the race."

Langford said the race was held in near perfect conditions, with a nice wide flat course.

"I have never had a course where all the turns were so nice and wide, so it was a really quick course," Langford said.

"The other two Australian girls were ahead of me, so I was really happy for them, one posted a personal best and one finished 16th, which is massive.

"Top 20 is always amazing, and the other girl was 22nd, it was so good."

She said she is now inspired to train hard for the next big event - the World University Games early next year.

"I have just come off having a couple of weeks break after battling all my injuries, to make sure everything is all right," she said.

"It has inspired me to want to get back into it, I didn't want to have a break at all, but I kind of had to.

"Now I am motivated to do all the right things, do more stuff in the gym, and I definitely want to do (the Turkey event) again.

"The World Uni Games... that will be a 20km race, and open age, so it will be quite hard to get into, so I just want to have a long season of consistent training up until then, and probably race my first 20km race late this year."

Langford thanked her coach, doctors, local club, community supporters and her parents for making it possible for her to compete in Turkey.

Roosters out classed by Mudlarks

By Perry Jones

A fairly inexperienced Rooster side on Saturday was outclassed by one of the league's premiership hopes in the Mudlarks, as they helped themselves to a thumping 122 point win at Strathalbyn.

Signs of a big Mudlark win were on the cards when they dominated the first term as Whitford and Butcher made sure that they were on top in ruck so that they could once again expose the weakness in the Roosters ability to take the ball away from the stoppages.

Lang, Jake Spinks and Ben Kennedy were having a field day in sending the Mudlarks forward, as coach Shillabeer had the first goal on the board when Heinze delivered the ball to the goal square.

Then it was a spilled mark by the Roosters that let Proude in for the Mudlarks next goal, followed by Kain Spinks picking up a twenty five metre free to set Shillabeer up for another full pointer.

While the Mudlark players were peeling off or side stepping the Rooster players, who were then travelling in the wrong direction, the goal glut continued as Cock squared the ball up for Lang to take possession and goal.

Shillabeer was also left unattended near goal to mark a Cock delivery and bring up the two white flags again.

The Roosters were trying to resist through Kelsh and Pegler, while Wright, Elliott and Keding picked up kicks around the ground but they were going nowhere, as Ogilvie and Cooper stood in their way in defence for the Mudlarks, with just one behind for the term to Simounds.

The Mudlarks continued on their merry way when a snap by Lang went through the middle followed by Butcher set up by Heinze for another.

Still the goals went on the board for the Mudlarks when the Roosters, trying to stop Shillabeer from finishing off his teams moves, forgot about covering Butcher who was on the loose to pop through another Mudlark goal.

Jake Spinks, falling over, picked up a free for his effort, to bring up the two white flags again and a quarter time lead of fifty five points.

Rooster coach Munn must have said a few words of wisdom in the huddle as it looked a completely different Rooster side at the start of the second term.

They showed the Mudlarks a clean pair of heels with Welk doing a bit better in ruck, while senior colt Fergusson, on from the bench, showed more skill than a lot of his older team mates, backed up by Crawford-Sanderson and Wright.

The Roosters streamed into attack from the first bounce for Elliott to set Godfrey up for the teams first goal and then Fergusson, with a clever mark, got his pass to Monopoli for another full pointer.

The Mudlark defence for a change were scrambling to contain the Roosters surge through Ogilvie, Kain Spinks and Kennedy, as with Simounds and his two opponents falling to the ground in a marking contest.

Godfrey was in for the crumbs to bang on another goal, before the Roosters saw Simounds miss from a free and another behind rushed through.

The round was "Appreciation Day" for the umpires, the players no doubt grateful they were there but they didn't seem to appreciate some of their decisions as the game went on.

The Mudlarks started again to see their handballs hit their targets so they could get their running game going through Ben Kennedy and Drury, as Whitford was back winning taps.

After twelve minutes the Mudlarks had their first goal of the term on the board as Anthony Kempster worked hard to get the ball and then kick accurately.

Pegler and Edwards were giving rebound for the Roosters but the Mudlarks were again putting the pressure on as their opponents kicking was not too accurate, seeing the Mudlarks cause turn overs and goal through Shillabeer.

Drury, thanks to a free and twenty five metres, followed up by Mudlark coach Shillabeer getting a full pointer after the siren, for a half time lead of fifty nine points.

It was a very ordinary effort by the Roosters in the third term with not much going for them, Wright was about the only one to find a fair bit of the ball, as Hodgson went off with an ankle injury.

The Mudlarks just about did as they liked in the midfield with Kennedy, Proude, Sampson and Lang pumping the ball forward a lot of times, finding team mates unattended.

While the Roosters did have one shot at goal for a behind to Hopkins from a free, the Mudlarks' defence through Kain Spinks, and Sam Kennedy had few problems clearing the ball, as a clearance from the first centre bounce saw a snap by Kelly go through the big sticks.

As the Mudlarks continually attacked, the Roosters were lucky that they were off target, a defensive clearance from Kain Spinks the Mudlarks with their next goal on the board from Schillabeer.

A more physically stronger Mudlark then saw Shillabeer miss from a free kick, then hitting the post with his next shot, while Butcher having cut off a clearing kick by Godfrey, lived up to his reputation of not being accurate at times.

A free to Ben Kennedy was another behind followed by Shillabeer missing an easy shot, being another behind before a handball to no one by the Roosters, was gobbled up by Mudlark Heinze to kick the ball through the big sticks.

This started the goals rolling again with Butcher converting a Ben Kennedy pass, Shillabeer from a free and on a tight angle making no mistake, while Butcher was back on the scene to easily push his opponent out of the way and bring up the two white flags.

After slipping in another quick goal before the siren to Sampson, the Mudlarks found themselves almost eighteen goals up with a quarter to go.

The Roosters at least stopped a blood bath in the final term with players like Elliott, Wright and Fergusson sending the ball forward to give their rebound players Pegler, Crawford-Sandison and Durak some recovery time.

The Mudlarks however were still able to get players loose, as it was hard for the Roosters to make their tackles stick and with some poor decisions made too many turnovers for the Mudlarks to pounce on.

The Mudlarks virtually had nineteen men on the field with runner Shaun Hutchinson still on the ground most of the time, as they brought up the first goal of the term through Jake Spinks as Rooster Pegler spilt the mark.

Strathalbyn were doing a fair bit of attacking and after misses by Elliott, hitting the post, Godfrey and Elliott again, Keding pulling in the mark and quickly taking off split the middle of the goal posts.

The Mudlarks still had Wilkins, Sam Kennedy and Kain Spinks turning the Roosters inside out as Sampson, breaking the tackle, saw his long dob go through the goals, followed by a Jake Spinks' handball from the boundary line finding Butcher for another goal.

Kempster kicked the final goal for the Mudlarks before they finished off with five behinds, the Roosters with just one more shot for the term made it a goal to Fergusson as his kick went over the pack and rolled through, all too late.

Victor Harbor v Mt Compass

Compass, kicking to the southern end, were the first to go forward. A failed tackle saw M Corbett in a position to score the first goal of the game. Victor, straight out of centre, was unlucky not to reply in seconds, but it wasn't long before Basham, from the quick hands of Heaslip brought up the reply. Hard work by McKinnon, who was able to feed off to Vincent with a tidy pass to Ross, caused their second goal. Victor gained the upper hand around the packs, thanks to a taller more dominant ruck brigade. Basham, leading to an open space, marked and goaled due to down the ground speedy work by Weise. Victor were now hammering the goals and causing good reason for celebration. Gibbs, intercepting a wayward Compass kick out from goals, brought up their sixth goal for the quarter. Weise was busy all over the ground and, Vincent, with speedy clearances around the packs along with Heaslip, created an early ascendancy for Victor. Zimmerman and T Vitkunas, worked overtime in defence for Compass for little reward. Quarter time scores were Victor 6-3 to Compass 1-1. Victor were straight out of the blocks to the ever-dangerous Basham, who goaled at the 31st second, bringing up Victor's first goal for the quarter. Working overtime to stay in touch, Compass worked the ball off the half back to Boots who was able to snap a much-needed goal. Despite Compass' efforts, Victor was able to reply, getting the ball quickly to Elmes marking with strength and goaling from 30 metres out. Victor were continuing to win in all departments. Adding to Compass' woes, Corbett limped off the ground with an aggravated knee injury. Basham added to the mounting tally, having marked a centering kick because of clumsy fumbles and second grabs by Compass players. Victor's anticipation and aggression on the ball was winning out all over the ground. Stock, working the ball from deep on the half forward flank, directed the ball to Basham who, marking in the teeth of goals, brought up another major for Victor. A good 10 minutes went by in which Compass battled at every stage but, alas, the ball arrived in Basham's hands only to be delivered to Heaslip for another goal from deep in the forward line. Basham, awarded a 50-metre penalty for not receiving ball on the full, helped himself to a goal and further rubbing salt into the hapless Compass' wounds. The siren sounded with the ball deep in Compass' forward line but, unfortunately, it was all too late. Heaslip, Weise and Treloar all contributed to the Victor momentum while Camac time on end provided drive around the packs for Compass. Half time scores were Victor 12-6 to Compass 2-4. Victor, keeping the upper hand, worked the ball forward to score the first goal of the half off the boot of Gibbs. Having said that, Compass had their chances to clear the ball past centre but, due to poor ball handling, let Victor back in all too easily. While Compass were now exerting more pressure with greater determination, Victor was able to hold off their forward moves relatively easily. With the ball now spending more time in their forward lines, the Compass supporters would have been looking for a greater return. However, Victor, through Basham and Weise, saw the ball forward to McKinnon who was all alone and able to score an easy running goal. Basham, strong in the mark goal, likewise goaled. Once again, Compass was in attack only for the ball to be turned over through poor execution of skills. The cost for this was for Elmes, via Gibbs, goaling from a tightish angle. Vincent continued to supply run for Victor but, in all of this, they had winners all over the ground. Simons provided some grunt around the packs for Compass, as did Camac, but clearly Compass was not able to capitalise on their efforts. Third quarter scores were Victor 16-6 to Compass, managing just four points for the quarter, 2-8. The last quarter started in much the same fashion as the other three, with Victor straight out of the blocks off Treloar's hands. Weise, fouled after disposal wide on the half forward flank, again saw the ball into Basham's hands at 40 metres out to score the first goal of the quarter. In the meantime, Compass had chances as their backline repelled Victor attacks time and again. Now, fully in control, Victor piled on goals through Elmes and Gibbs with one each, and Basham with three. Through sheer hard work, Simons and Endersby combining midfield, worked the ball in towards Weetman crumpling for a face-saving snapped goal. A second goal came from Pinyon, tapping down to Oster, who goaled from desperate work by Connor and Turner down the ground. While, for much of the second half, Compass had its fair number of chances, Victor, dominant all over the ground for the whole afternoon, ran out clear winners. Turner, Camac and Zimmerman were dour in their work around the ground and in defence for Compass, while Weise and Overall provided plenty of drive to see Victor go forward time and time again. Final scores were Victor 22-11 to Compass 4-10.

Hawks Outlast Demons

Willunga were hoping to have their first win of the season against Langhorne Creek at Willunga Oval, but fell short.

The loss of two players to South's reserves on Thursday night, and an injury to Haskett in the first quarter, worked against them.

Kellock opened the scoring with a behind one minute into the first quarter.

Dawson and Dominish worked hard for the Creeks, while Hutchens and Bass were in everything for Willunga.

It wasn't until the 10-minute mark that Henry Bruce and Derham combined to set up Uebergang, who then kicked the opening goal.

Two minutes later, Dalitz kicked another.

Willunga forced the ball forward to give Hams the opportunity to kick Willunga's first major, but he missed.

Then Bass took two strong marks, but he also failed to convert from close quarters.

Late goals to Sherry (2) and Altus gave Willunga a narrow lead at quarter time.

Both sides had four scoring shots in the second quarter.

Langhorne kicked straighter and went into half time with a narrow two-point lead.

Bass gave Willunga a centre-square advantage, which allowed Hutchens to get his hands on the ball and run forward.

Howell, Paech and Dominish provided plenty of drive for the visitors, and eventually it was Dominish with his dash from the backlines who got into a position to goal on the run.

A minute later, McDougall's hard work placed the ball in Adam Towk's reliable hands.

His kick put the Hawks in front just before the halftime siren sounded.

Willunga had the slight breeze in the third quarter, and won the quarter five goals to three.

Willunga's Seb Hoak kicked the opening goal after a 25-metre penalty was awarded to him, but brilliant linking play by the Hawks, from the centre square, saw them equalise through Caleb Howell.

Uebergang always looked threatening up front, and he and Mills had a cracker of a battle with honours even over the day.

Willunga kept the ball in their forward lines for several minutes, and their best chance to goal was marked in the square by an unopposed Langhorne defender who cleared down the middle.

After a series of slick handballs, they got the ball to an unopposed teammate in their attacking goal square, and he dribbled the ball across the line.

Willunga had another surge, when Hutchens' and Altus' hard work through the middle was rewarded when their combined efforts found McDonald on the lead, who was freed and then kicked accurately from 50-metres.

Two minutes later, Willunga again surged the ball forward and, despite desperate defence by the Hawks, Amos kicked a long goal from the outside of his boot.

Seb Hoak won another 25-metre penalty and passed to Altus, who marked and goaled.

Then Daniell kicked another when he got his boot to a loose ball in a crowded goal square.

A late goal to Langhorne Creek proved the difference by the end of the game.

A cross-ground pass by Willunga fell short of the intended player, and a cruel bounce saw the ball land perfectly in the hands of the Willunga player's trailing opponent, who did not have to break stride.

He passed the ball to a teammate who ran into an open goal, and Willunga led by 11 points going into the last quarter.

Langhorne's had the slight breeze in the last quarter, and soon reduced the three-quarter time deficit into a one-point lead.

Caleb Howell and Uebergang both scored majors within the opening two minutes.

Willunga's Sherry's shot hit the post and, from the kick-in, the visitors through Derham and Kellock, ran the ball the length of the ground and scored a major without Willunga getting a touch.

Bass goaled for Willunga, but the Creek got it straight back through Uebergang.

Paech and Dominish added two more and the game appeared over, but goals to Willunga after a strong Bass mark and an Altus free kick, reduced the margin to five-points at the 25-minute mark of the last quarter.

The Hawks kicked a behind thorough Caleb Howell to make the margin six points at the final siren.

Magpie leaves the birds nest

It's back to the drawing board for the Goolwa/Port Elliot Football Club (GPEFC) after its A Grade Men Coach Trevor Jenkins resigned five weeks into the season.

As previously reported in The Southern Argus, Jenkin came from the Hills Fleurieu Football League towards the end of last year with a wealth of a coaching experience.

He told The Argus at the time his plans were to build the club culture and players' enjoyment of the game while hopefully, finding some success along the way.

However, last Tuesday night, the GPEFC Committee announced with "heavy hearts" Jenkin had resigned effectively immediately.

The news comes after the A Grade Men suffered a 328-point loss at its home deck to Victor Harbor last weekend.

"After careful consideration and deliberation, it has become evident the current circumstances have rendered the position untenable for Trevor," the committee wrote.

"While this decision was not made lightly, we believe it is in the best interest of all parties involved.

"We understand this news may be a disappointment to many of you as Trevor has been an integral part of our club's planning in building, however, we assure you we are taking necessary steps to ensure stability and continuity moving forward.

"We want to express our gratitude to Trevor for his dedication, hard work, and contributions to the club.

"His efforts have not gone unnoticed and we wish him all the best in his future endeavours."

In the interim, Reserves Coach Josh Koop will step up to the A Grade position alongside Life Member Dale Cuthbert.

Fellow Life Member Trent Griffin will assist Koop with coaching the B Grade.

The club asked for members' continued support, loyalty and understanding during the transition period.

"The main focus now is to support and encourage the lads, set some short-term goals and match day targets on field to keep players focused on playing footy and building towards the future," the committee continued.

"Together, we will overcome this challenge and emerge stronger than ever."

11&U (1)

Strathalbyn 11 v Myponga 12

This week's game unfortunately wasn't the best, as the girls came into the game after having two byes over the last couple of weeks.

The team were in front up until half time. With coach Lily making some positional changes for the third quarter it meant the girls had an opportunity to step up in to a different role on the court.

Settling back into our own game plan for the fourth quarter, but it was a little too late for a comeback.

Lots of things to work on this week at training and we look forward to playing Myponga again in the second half of the season to show them what we really have as a great little team!

11&U (2)

Strathalbyn 11 v Myponga 7

The game started evenly, before Strath managed to gain a small lead at half time.

Myponga won the last quarter but not enough to get the win, Strath won by four.

13&U (2)

Strathalbyn 48 v Myponga 7

Strathalbyn came out with a strong start.

Myponga put up a good fight but Strath were way too strong coming away with a 41-goal win - well done, Strath girls.

9&U Green

A home game against Myponga was a wonderful match to watch.

Some new skills that we trained hard for were showcased during the game.

The girls team work and understanding of the game itself are really coming together.

Inter 1

Strathalbyn 65 v Myponga 16

Great defence by Daisy and Marley in the ring keeping them to 16 goals.

Our mid courters brought the ball down the court seamlessly and connected with the goalies that scored at a high percentage.

Inter 3

Strathalbyn 39 v Myponga 30

Strath started well with a five-goal lead at the first break.

Myponga made a change in their defence and were able to produce an even second quarter and gain one goal back in the third, however Strath were too strong and finished with an eight-goal lead in the last.

Inter 4

Strathalbyn 38 v Myponga 25

The first three quarters were goal for goal, Strath girls hit top gear in the final quarter and walked away with a solid win, putting them on top of the ladder.

League

Strathalbyn 39 v Myponga 31

Myponga were able to settle first and capitalised on some early turno-vers from Strath.

The second half of the quarter saw the Strath girls convert on the score-board more consistently, a very low scoring quarter with 6 all!

It was pretty much goal for go in the second with Myponga going into the second half with a one goal lead.

The second half saw a lot more ball won in the Centre court and defensive end for Strath which they were able to convert on.

The final quarter was a bit more free-flowing for the home team.

In a very low scoring game with strong defence across the court, Strath came out winners by eight.

Senior 2

Strathalbyn 51 v Myponga 42

Myponga are always tough to play and Saturday was no exception.

The game was goal for goal with Myponga getting a couple of crucial turnovers in the first quarter to manage a three-goal lead at the first break.

The second quarter was even, Myponga holding the three-goal buffer at halftime.

Strath made some positional changes which paid dividends pulling to a two-goal lead at three quarter time and eventual winners by nine.

Well done goes to Strath for fighting out a tight game and coming away with the win.

Senior 3

Strathalbyn 37 v Myponga 49

It was a mostly even half for the teams with strong attacking and defensive pressure at both ends, Myponga had a lead of three at halftime.

In the second half Myponga created a lead and built on it in the third quarter, and they proved to be stronger in the last quarter with Strathalbyn being defeated by 12.

Senior 4

Strathalbyn 24 v Myponga 66

Strath knew that Myponga were going to be a tough opponent coming into the game.

The game started out pretty even, goal for goal.

However, a couple of turnovers started going Myponga's way and an injury to Strath and the lead at the first break was in Myponga's favour.

Myponga continued to build and Strath struggled to respond.

Myponga are a very experienced and strong team, proving to be too good.

Senior 5

Strathalbyn 62 v Myponga 33

Amazing game by all players.

The intensity and effort by every player on the court for four quarters was impeccable.

The confidence and flair in goals with Catherine and Britt shooting well.

Consistent effort in defence meant lots of turn overs that we capitalised on.

It was a real team game.

Senior 6

Strathalbyn 27 v Myponga 48

Myponga got an early lead.

Strath made some changes in the second, but Myponga still extended their lead.

Strath were able to have a fairly even last quarter by Myponga had already put a lead on the board that Strath couldn't catch.

Senior 7

Strathalbyn 29 v Myponga 58

What a lovely and pleasant game of netball, Myponga were competitive but wonderful to play as always!

Strath played well and the stuff we've been working on at training is starting to pay off.

Keep up the hard work and it can only improve more.

Thanks again to Zara Heath for filling in again!

Unfortunately for Strath, Myponga were just too good on the day, clearly their years together making them a well-oiled machine.

Look forward to catching up at your place and the sausage rolls after our game!

9 & Under Gold

A very impressive display by all the girls and the game could have gone either way. Strong defence in the last quarter stopped Langhorne Creek from scoring. Matilda couldn't miss a goal and Scarlett's quick movements from the centre made for an awesome display of attacking netball from Willunga. Well done both teams.

9 & Under Green

All the girls played a great game. Some wonderful shooting from Willunga's goalies as well as strong defence down the court. Excellent passing and good movement saw Daisy shoot strongly and Penelope had great intercepts at goalkeeper. Overall a great team effort.

11 & Under Div 2

Willunga 14 v Langhorne Creek 1

Willunga played a very strong game. Langhorne Creek tried to bring the ball to their goalies but Willunga's defence was strong. Langhorne Creek never gave up and everyone enjoyed the game. Well done to both teams.

13 & Under Div 1

Willunga 39 v Langhorne Creek 17

Langhorne Creek travel to Willunga for a second versus fourth clash. Willunga came out strong and ended the 1st quarter with a seven goal lead. With accurate shooting from Willunga's goalies the lead extended to 16. Langhorne Creek's defenders worked really hard to keep Willunga to 8 goals in the third quarter but Willunga kept their heads up to secure a 39 to 17 win.

13 & Under Div 3

Willunga 9 v Langhorne Creek 19

A great competitive game of netball. Willunga had strong defensive pressure and Langhorne Creek were very strong in the mid court. Well done to all players.

Inter 1

Willunga 33 v Langhorne Creek 53

Willunga came out strong against a quality side. Langhorne Creek applied pressure all the way down the court and Willunga made some simple mistakes. At half time Willunga were only four down however Langhorne Creek powered home with great defence and won by 20.

Inter 2

Willunga 51 v Langhorne Creek 52

A strong game by both teams. First quarter saw Willunga up by six goals with strength shown in defence. The second quarter saw Langhorne Creek hold well and was strong in attack with Willunga up by three at half time. Langhorne Creek had a strong third quarter with the midcourt working well which saw them only down by one at three quarter time. A tight last quarter by both teams saw Langhorne Creek fight back and Willunga miss a few goals. Langhorne Creek eventually won by 1.

Inter 3

Willunga 51 v Langhorne Creek 18

The game started goal for goal however Willunga settled quickly taking command of the game with a strong play through the mid court. Langhorne Creek girls continued to work hard but couldn't stem the flow as Willunga continued to feed their shooters well. Halftime changes unsettled Willunga and Creek made the most of it. Willunga found their rhythm again finishing the game strongly. Langhorne Creek worked hard throughout the game but they were out matched by Willunga.

League

Willunga 44 v Langhorne Creek 48

League game was played at a frantic pace with impressive defensive pressure by both teams. Langhorne Creek's goal attack Charlee Gilford had to bring some creative flair to lead the attack line and keep the visitors just ahead. Kayla Howes as goal shooter for Willunga stood up under some tight marking but it wasn't quite enough to get Willunga over the line.

Senior 2

Willunga 52 v Langhorne Creek 52

Senior 2 started the game strong and trailed by only 2 in the first quarter. Langhorne Creek started to pull away with a strong midcourt showing.

After being down 8 at three quarter time the task was set to finish the game eight or less down (win the last quarter). The team switched on and won the last quarter 18 to 10 therefore drawing the match with Langhorne Creek 52 all. Super proud of the girls who are starting to gain some traction.

Willunga 29 v Langhorne Creek 65

Langhorne Creek started strongly controlling the midcourt and accurate shooting. Willunga worked hard in defence but were unable to capitalise in attack. A strong game from Creek although Willunga gave it their best.

Senior 4

Willunga 33 v Langhorne Creek 44

A strong and decisive start from Creek produced a lead that was difficult to reduce. The game was well contested across the whole court with lovely clean passages of play from both teams. Willunga's defence worked hard on both sides started hard and fast but the warm conditions quickly took their toll. Willunga kept a healthy gap for the first two quarters and continued to increase the lead every quarter to win by 20 goals. The senior 7 team remain positive and continue to give their all - special mention to Azalea who shot extremely well and then moved to defence without hesitation. A strong attacking presence and circle work by Delilah Gregory from Willunga built team confidence and worked well in combination with the shooters. Congratulations Creek on your win.

Senior 5

Willunga 31 v Langhorne Creek 53

Both teams came out strongly with a very even first quarter. Langhorne Creek stepped up the pressure in the second quarter and went into halftime with a handy lead. Willunga fought back in the second half with some good passages of play, but Creek were too strong and came away with the win.

Senior 6

Willunga 72 v Langhorne Creek 23

The game was played in good spirits. Willunga's defence was strong across all of the court which made it difficult for Creek goalies to get the ball into the goal ring. Willunga goalies were very accurate with minimal opportunities for Creek to rebound. Willunga was too strong on the day.

Senior 7

Willunga 41 v Langhorne Creek 21

We headed into round five with a full complement of players (except for Iwona – long term injury). Ladies on both sides started hard and fast but the warm conditions quickly took their toll. Willunga kept a healthy gap for the first two quarters and continued to increase the lead every quarter to win by 20 goals. The senior 7 team remain positive and continue to give their all - special mention to Azalea who shot extremely well and then moved to defence without hesitation.

Strathalbyn Golf

Bertholini and Naylor team up to win

By Perry Jones

It was a Foursomes competition at the Strathalbyn Golf Course last Saturday with the combination of Graeme Bertholini and Sean Naylor the winners.

It was only a small field of twenty two players for the day which sees partners having to fix up one and others mistakes, normally playing from places not that familiar most times on the course.

The field could have been bigger with a few turning up not knowing what the competition was for on the day and others thinking that they could not last twenty seven holes, particularly if things were not going well.

A grade players Graeme Bertholini and Sean Naylor with just 120 off the stick for a nett 112, had enough to win the day and the stroke and nett prizes in that grade.

The B grade saw Alan Haberfield, gaining nearest the pin on the fifteenth and Kym Nelson have 132 off the stick to win that prize, finishing with a nett 119.

Kym said that they didn't get into much trouble having nines of 45, 44 and 43, mentioning that they were improving with age like a good wine and the extra holes didn't worry them as they hired Gillies' cart to go around in, one of the best investments that they made on the day.

The competition run over twenty seven holes saw players get plenty of exercise walking the course.

James Beney saying his counter indicated he had taken 18,000 steps to get around the course which is about 14 kilometres, which was about 8000 more than partner Stewart Glatz, so one could guess that James wasn't on the fairway much during the round, at times probably thanks to Stewart.

James and Stewart still managed to be the nett winners of the day in B grade with their 135 shots giving them a nett 114.5, Stewart being nearest the pin on the seventeenth.

Ian Furniss, who managed nearest the pin on the fifteenth, played with son Adam who was quite pleased to see Ian putt in off the green several times and when he missed putts came out with a few words of wisdom.

Adam with good driving and chipping set up Ian to be able to finish most holes off at times, while other times his drives left Ian sorting out problems in the trees.

John Owen and Darryl Holt said that they didn't do anything exciting in not going into the dam or the creek, not losing any balls and staying on fairways, a bit like their score, not that exciting with 163 off the stick.

The former pair were unlucky that they just missed out on the Naga award as Matthew Gniel and Ken Lester took that honour with 164 off the stick, Ken not far off that prize the Saturday before.

Matthew, who did have the longest drive (19+) for the day and Ken, found themselves lots of times having to play shots from the base of trees and their putting left a bit to be desired, many times needing four putts on the green to get the ball in the hole.

Putting, particularly short ones, had Graeme Noble scratching his head over partner Geoff Hall's game on the day, the pair on the six par five holes having just one par, the rest bogies or double bogies.

Nobby also had to try and resurrect a couple of holes when Geoff on the second, playing the pairs second shot hit the ball out of bounds, saying he was normally not that close to the green in playing his second shot on that hole.

Then on the third hole, Geoff playing their second shot left the ball against the boundary fence for Nobby to deal with.

Troy Williams and Kim Wittwer could have shown the previous pair mentioned on how to play the par five holes picking up two pars and a birdie on three of them.

Derek Keane, having caused partner Randall Pitt a few problems to deal with, particularly around the dam hole by neatly placing the ball in the water and on another occasion hitting the ball out of bounds, tried to make amends in the third time playing the par three over the creek.

It was a great tee shot by Derek to land on the green and set Randall up for a birdie but it was three putts later that Randall was able to get the ball in the hole.

Results Foursomes Saturday May 11th.

Murray Bridge Rifle Club

Fair autumn weather prevailed on Saturday as the Murray Bridge Rifle Club shot from 1000 yards in the 29th stage of its annual championship.

The wind was from the right all afternoon with enough variation early to make it extra challenging for shooters, but generally settling later in the day.

It was a very close race in F-Class Open, with only centres deciding the winner.

John Cranwell earned the top off-rifle award with 113.07, including a 59.04 in his second round, ahead of Adrian Conlon on 113.05.

Ian Elston was not far behind on 111.08.

John was also the handicap winner for the day in F-Class, finishing only half a point ahead of Ian.

F-Standard and TR each only had one competitor on the day, with Gordon Harrison shooting 107.05 and Robert Paech scoring 94.07.

The unlucky Magpie winners were Frank Marshall with two birds and Robert Paech with one.

Strathalbyn Ladies Golf

Carol Pelle and Jo Pickhaver are Club Foursomes winners

On Wednesday, May 8, in fabulous golfing weather and hopeful of enjoying a fun day, 16 ladies played a club foursomes competition where alternate hits were the order of the day.

Jenny Drury played a stableford competition as there were 17 ladies in all.

The winners of the day were Carol Pelle and Jo Pickhaver with 75 nett who were followed by Sue Phillips and Mandy Vardon on 75.5.

Next came Cara Eastwood and Di Krutli on 76, with Penny Geue and Marie Kingsbury finishing on 77. Pauline Walkom and Kerrie Edwards scored 78.5, and Maureen Need and Mel Johnson had 81.

Jo Cullen and Ann Semple finished with 81.5, and Tonya Merritt and Charmaine Aplin scored 82.5.

Carol scored the nearest the pin on the ninth with a great drive, while both Jenny and Jo P had gobblers (chip ins) on the first and fifth, respectively.

The dam and the creek both came into play, and the ladies were rueing the near misses on the greens.

After play, the ladies went to the Victoria Hotel, and there they were joined by others to celebrate their very enjoyable and successful pennant season.

During this last week, three Strathalbyn ladies, Jenny, Di, and Jo P competed in South Lakes May Week with varying success.

The weather and company were great and the golf hopefully will improve next time.

Hills Central Table Tennis season kicks off

The 2024 Winter Hills Central Table Tennis Competition kicked off on Wednesday, 8 May, with a number of close four and five set matches played at Meadows, Flaxley and Macclesfield.

The 2024 season sees the introduction of two new teams from Currency Creek and Strathalbyn, with a second team fielded by Flaxley, as the association looks to expand the game into surrounding districts.

Round 1 saw Currency Creek pitted against Flaxley Blue at Meadows, while Flaxley Gold hosted Strathalbyn, Currency Creek and Macclesfield Black hosted Meadows.

Macclesfield Red had the bye, with the competition being fought out by seven teams.

"The competition has increased from five teams in 2023, so we're all excited about the future of table tennis in the Central Hills area, Association President Greg Marlu said.

"Next year we're hoping to add at least another team, but hopefully more so as to continue our promotion of this fabulous sport."

Round 1 had Currency Creek capitalising on four of the closely fought matches to come out on top against Flaxley Blue, 8 rubbers to 4, with a similar scenario also catapulting Strathalbyn Currency Creek to an 8-4 victory against Flaxley Gold.

In the third of the Round 1 tussles, Meadows just didn't have the firepower against Macclesfield Black, which won all of the four 4 and 5 setters to run away with a season opening 10-2 win.

Round two on Wednesday, May 15, has Currency Creek taking on Macclesfield Black at Currency Creek Hall, Flaxley Gold versus Flaxley Blue in a local showdown at Flaxley Memorial Hall and Macclesfield Red up against Strathalbyn Currency Creek at the Macclesfield Primary School Gym, while Meadows takes the bye.

"Games commence at 7:30pm, and are open to the public", Mr Marlu said.

Live local. Love local. Read local.

Did you know The Southern Argus has been servicing the Hills and Fleurieu communities since 1866?

Today, your local newspaper has a fresh new team who are helping to achieve a better-connected community through the delivery of quality local news.

This helps to foster a stronger sense of identity and is essential in maintaining a healthy democracy.

This valuable service requires ongoing investment and support. If you have a story idea, you can reach our editorial team on news@southernargus.com.au

If you would like to take advantage of our rapidly increasing readership, you can reach our advertising team on sales@southernargus.com.au
